MOTORMAN INJURED

Rear-End Collision of Electric Cars in Tewksbury

Motorman Albert Taylor, residing at 35 Middlesex park, this city, suffered a slight injury to his knee about 9:20 o'clock this morning just beyond Chandler's turnout in Tewksbury on the Lowell and Boston line of the Boston & Northern Street Railway company, when the service car which he was driving crashed into the rear of the regular car which left Merrimack square at 8:15 o'clock.

The accident was caused by the failure of the brakes on the service car to work.

The regular "Med." car left the square at 8:15 o'clock, followed by the service car in charge of Motorman Taylor, and attached to the service car was an open car which was being hauled to the barn of the Boston & Northern in Chelsea.

The service car with its trailer kept at a respectable distance behind the regular car, but after the latter had left the turnout at what is known as Chandler's, it stopped to allow a passenger to alight.

The car stopped at a point on a down grade which was just around a curve and the motorman on the service car following did not realize that the regular car had stopped until he turned the curve and then despite the fact that he applied the brakes there was such a steep down grade and also owing to the fact that the open car rammed into the service car after the brakes had been applied, the service car crashed into the regular car.

The impact, however, was slight, though strong enough to smash in the front of the service car and Motorman Taylor was thrown to the platform and crushed between the front dashboard and body of the car.

He was taken to the state infirmary nearby and the regular car followed by the special went on its way.

IN POLICE COURT

Man Knocked Out in Fight Last Night

There was a lively scene in the vicinity of Tower's corner early last night when James Gaffney of this city and James Brooks of Lawrence got into a fight. Both men were under the influence of liquor at the time, but Brooks seemed to have the better of the argument, for his blows were so severe that Gaffney was sent down for the count and when it was found that he was unconscious the ambulance was called and he was taken to St. John's hospital and Brooks was placed under arrest.

During the progress of the fight Patrolmen J. A. Clark and E. J. Connors, put in an appearance and Brooks was sent to the police station, where complaints of drunkenness and assault and battery were preferred against him.

It seems that after Gaffney was taken to the hospital last night he raised such a disturbance that the authorities turned him out of the place. Despite the fact that he was unconscious when he reached the hospital he recovered very quickly and in his intoxicated condition he made such a racket that he was ordered to leave the hospital.

When Brooks was arraigned in court this morning he entered pleas of guilty to the charges of drunkenness and assault and battery, and at the request of Deputy Hugh Downey the case was continued till Tuesday morning, the defendant being held under $200 bonds.

Settled Out of Court

In the case of Vasilios Pena, charged with assault and battery on Eubangelos Quovangalis on Tuesday night at 372 Adams street, counsel agreed to make a settlement out of court and the case was placed on file.

Drunken Offenders

Michael McDonald was in court this morning on a complaint charging him with being drunk. He was also in court yesterday morning under the name of Michael Fogarty and when he was arrested yesterday he said that his name was Patrick Regan. Judge Hadley inquired of Probation Officer Slattery if he knew the defendant, and Mr. Slattery said that he did, but had no faith in the man. He was sentenced to two months in jail.

John J. Molloy, who was arrested for being drunk, was sentenced to three months in jail.

There were two first offenders, who were fined $2 each, and one simple drunk was released by the probation officer.

FUNERAL NOTICES

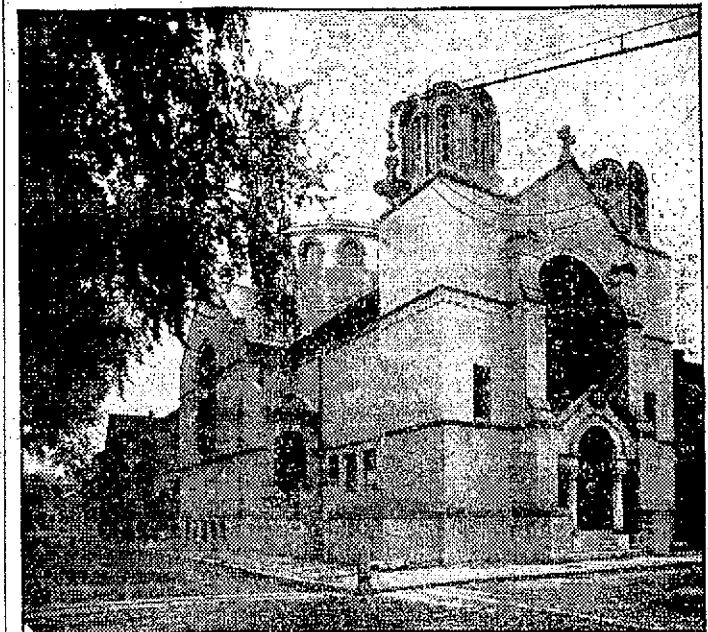

HORNBY—The funeral of the late James T. Hornby who died this morning at St. John's hospital will take place Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock from his home, 41 Madison street and the remains will be taken to St. Peter's church where solemn high mass of requiem will be sung at 9 o'clock. The funeral will be in charge of Undertaker John F. Rogers.

WIGGIN—Died, April 28th, at Westboro, Mass., John W. Wiggin, aged 55 years. Funeral services will be held at the rooms of Undertaker George W. Healey, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Friends are invited without further notice. Burial will take place Monday at Epping, N. H.

BRAZER—Died in this city April 28th, William P. Brazer in his ninetieth year. Funeral services from his late home, 460 East Merrimack street, Monday, May 2d, at 2:30. Friends are kindly asked not to send flowers.

THE GREEK CHURCH IN LEWIS STREET

Four Thousand Greeks Turned Out in Street Procession in Which Was Borne a Great Floral Catafalque — Arrangements for Easter Service

Tomorrow will be Easter Sunday in the Greek colony and will be solemnly observed at the Greek church and will be the occasion of feasting and entertainment in the houses. All Greeks on Easter morn exchange the kiss of peace, crying: "Christ is Risen."

The late pedestrian in the vicinity of the Greek colony last night must have been deeply impressed upon seeing about 11 o'clock a lengthy procession of men in uniform and in civilian attire all bearing lighted candles and escorting a large floral catafalque. The procession was a feature of the service of Epiphany, or Burial of Christ, a service incidental to the observance of Good Friday in the Greek church.

The Good Friday services took place in the church in Lewis street at 8 o'clock last evening. At the opening of the service the interior of the church was packed while the streets in the vicinity were thronged with men, women and children. Near the sanctuary, and before the altar was placed a huge floral catafalque, over which rose a floral cross, surmounted in turn by a floral cross and trimmed with candles. On the catafalque lay a sacred icon, the image of the dead Christ, and one of the most beautiful and precious of the many icons owned by the church.

At the altar, the pastor, Rev. Fr. Constantinos H. Demetriou, officiated, and at one end of the sanctuary acolytes chanted the hymns of the Greek church. On each side of the floral catafalque, and reaching from the sanctuary to the street door, two lines of soldiers stood, the Greek militia in their khaki uniforms, and bearing arms. There were 125 of them.

The services took over two hours, the congregation standing throughout. During the services the bells in the church steeple pealed continuously. At the close of the church service the street procession was formed and there were nearly 5000 Greeks in line. The line was led by George Couzoules, president of the Greek community. Then came the floral catafalque borne by four men there, then came the Lowell Military band escorting the guard of honor consisting of 125 members of the Greek militia followed also by the fourteen Greek fraternal organizations and the main body of the congregation. The sidewalks along the line of march were crowded with spectators while red fire was burned, candles illumined the windows of the houses and were carried by those in the parade. It would appear that every one of the 10,000 or more Greeks in Lowell were in the street during the progress of the procession. As the men marched they chanted: "Lord have mercy" in their native tongue. The procession passed through Lewis, Little, Dummer, Market, Adams and Suffolk streets and back into the church where the catafalque was deposited before the altar where it will remain until Easter morn.

JAMES T. HORNBY

Well Known Druggist Passed Away Today

The many friends of James T. Hornby, for many years druggist at Plunkett's drug store, but more recently connected with O'Brien's drug store in Broadway, will be deeply pained to learn of his death which occurred this morning at St. John's hospital after a brief illness with pneumonia. He was a native of Lowell and lived in St. Peter's parish nearly all his life. He is survived by two brothers, George of Providence, R. I. and William Hornby of this city and one nephew, Lester G. Hornby, the well known artist.

CITY HALL MAN

Appointed Smoke Inspector for Lowell

STAR THEATRE WILL NOT OPEN TOMORROW

Heavy Damages in Connection With Abolition of Grade Crossings—Third Car Sprinkler Will Start Tomorrow

John Downing, an engineer at city hall, has been appointed smoke inspector for Lowell. Mayor Meehan made the appointment today, and Mr. Downing will accept Mr. Downing looks after the boilers at city hall and is on the city messenger's pay roll. The smoke inspector will serve without pay as the law does not provide for any remuneration.

The Star Theatre

The Star theatre will not open tomorrow, Sunday. Complaints relative to the interruption to services by the concerts in the theatre were lodged with the mayor by members of the First Congregational church, and the mayor decided to allow the theatre to open on trial, last Sunday. The hours that the theatre was allowed to open did not conflict with the hours of church services, but it seems that they did disturb the pastor in his study during the afternoon. Mayor Meehan says he will not allow the theatre to open Sunday until such action is agreeable to Mr. Willmott and his congregation.

Grade Crossing Matter

It was stated today that there would be heavy damages as a result of the abolition of the grade crossings in Walker, School, Plain and Lincoln streets and the aldermen at their meeting Tuesday evening will appoint somebody to represent the city in the assessment of damages. City Engineer Bowers will be the man, as he has to do with the work and is familiar with it. The city will be called upon to pay ten per cent of the damage.

Sewer Work Started

Work on the East Merrimack street and Plummer avenue sewers was begun a few days ago and work has also been started on the Cumberland road sewer. The work of smooth paving will probably be begun about May 10, as Frank Mallory, the man who will supply the blocks, says he will have them on hand on or before that date. Prescott street will be the first to receive the attention of the smooth pavers.

The Third Sprinkler

The third car sprinkler will appear in the streets tomorrow. The contract reads that the third car shall start on May 1. The car arrived here several days ago.

SPEAKER CANNON

The Guest of Middlesex Club in Boston

BOSTON, April 30.—Speaker Joseph Cannon was the guest today of the Middlesex club, a republican organization, which celebrates Grant's birthday tonight at the Somerset hotel. The club will also hear from former Governor Black and Congressman McElroy of New York.

"Hello, Sam," shouted Uncle Joe as he made a youthful leap from the Washington train this morning, and was greeted by former Congressman Samuel E. Powers. The speaker was in a jolly mood and for a few minutes there was a sparkling interchange of repartee. Half a dozen of the club's officials breakfasted with the speaker after which there was a brief tour of the city following which the speaker met Governor Draper, several federal officials and a score of business men at a lunch at the Exchange club.

Congressman John W. Weeks, who is Mr. Powers' successor from the 11th district accompanied the speaker from Washington and one of the house stenographers, was also in the party.

U. S. SENATOR LORIMER

Accused of Securing His Election by Bribery

CHICAGO, April 20.—According to a statement says that he received $1000 copyrighted story printed in this morning's issue of a local newspaper, it has in its possession a sworn statement by Charles White, a member of the lower house of the Illinois legislature from the 43rd district, charging that William Lorimer was elected in the United States senate last May by bribery and corruption.

DEATHS

PARSONS—On April 29, Floris E. Parsons died at his home, 766 Broadway, this city after a brief illness of pneumonia. He was born in Manchester, N. H. May 21, 1848, the son of Joseph R. Parsons, a leading contractor of that city.

He came to Lowell when very young and has since resided here, having been an overseer for a number of years at the United States Bobbin & Shuttle company's plant in this city.

He served in the Civil war in Co. K, Sixth New Hampshire Volunteers, and Co. K, Ninth New Hampshire volunteers.

In 1871 he was married to Estella M. Smith, who now survives him. He was a member of Post 155, G. A. R., and Chevalier lodge, 2, Knights of Pythias.

He is survived by his wife, Estella; one daughter, Mrs. Emory H. Miller, and one son, Eben T. Parsons, also his mother, Mrs. Harriet E. Parsons, all residents of this city.

SIBLEY—Dr. Hartwell A. Sibley of Dorchester, former city physician of Chelsea, died at his home, 511 Washington street, Dorchester, Wednesday afternoon. He practised a year in Lowell.

FOR COLUMBUS DAY

The Bill Signed Making It a Legal Holiday

Gov. Draper yesterday afternoon signed the bill making Columbus day, Oct. 12, a legal holiday. Gov. Draper is the 13th governor to sign such a bill. This gives to Massachusetts eight holidays, as follows: Washington's birthday, February 22; Patriots day, May 30; Decoration day, May 30; Independence day, July 4; Labor day, first Monday in September; Columbus day, October 12; Thanksgiving, last Thursday in November; Christmas day, December 25.

The other states which keep Columbus day as a holiday are: California, Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Kentucky.

There is no national holiday, even independence day being a day set apart by the governments of the various states. The presidential proclamation designating a day of thanksgiving makes that day legal only in the District of Columbia.

There are 11 days in the year, however, which are widely observed as holidays, and in several states the date of their birth into the nation or the day of some special historical happening incidental to that state alone is added to its days of merrymaking. All Saints' day, Nov. 1, in Louisiana, and primary election day in three states are observed as legal holidays.

Holidays in Each State
Even with the addition of Columbus day, Massachusetts still lags behind many of the states in the number of legal holidays provided by the state government.

Following is a list of the states and territories with the number of holidays in each:

Florida, 13; Alabama, 12; Montana, 12; New Jersey, 12; Pennsylvania, 12; Texas, 12; California, 11; Colorado, 11; Georgia, 11; Louisiana, 11; Maryland, 11; North Carolina, 11; Wyoming, 11; Connecticut, 10; Delaware, 10; Michigan, 10; Minnesota, 10; Missouri, 10; Nevada, 10; New York, 10; South Carolina, 10; Tennessee, 10; Utah, 10; Wisconsin, 10; Arizona, 9; Arkansas, 9; Illinois, 9; Indiana, 9; Iowa, 9; Maine, 9; New Mexico, 9; North Dakota, 9; Oklahoma, 9; Rhode Island, 9; South Dakota, 9; Virginia, 9; Washington, 9; West Virginia, 9; Idaho, 8; Kentucky, 8; Massachusetts, 8; Mississippi, 8; Nebraska, 8; New Hampshire, 8; Oregon, 8; Vermont, 8; Alaska, 7; District of Columbia, 7; Ohio, 7; Kansas, 6.

Lonesome Position of Kansas
Kansas is the only state in the Union which has not made Christmas day a legal holiday.

In ten states Good Friday is a legal holiday and Arbor day in 21 states and territories. In some cities of large population Saturday afternoons throughout the year and in other cities Saturday afternoons for three months of the year are half-holidays.

Some of the governors who had already signed bills making Columbus day a holiday are:

Hon. Charles S. Deneen of Illinois, Hon. Frank B. Weeks of Connecticut, Hon. James N. Gillett of California, Hon. Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri, Hon. Henry A. DuChetel of Colorado, the first governor to approve the measure, Hon. Fred M. Warner of Michigan, Hon. Charles E. Hughes of New York, Hon. John F. Fort of New Jersey, Hon. Edwin S. Stuart of Pennsylvania.

In Massachusetts the Italian Columbus society has observed the Columbus day for 45 years, and at the hearing before the committee the largest committee room at the state house was crowded with Italian citizens and representatives for every organization of Italian in the state and every Knights of Columbus council, as well as by many leading labor men, who were anxious that the bill should be favorably reported.

Senator Teeling conducted the case for the petitioners and opened proceedings by depositing an enormous petition, making a pile more than a foot high, on the desk of the clerk of the committee.

It was said at the time that there were more than 15,000 signatures to this petition, and that in the room in which the hearing was held were representatives of over 120,000 people of the state who were desirous that the bill should become a law.

SERGT. MORLEY OF PITTSBURG DECLINED TO BE TAFT'S GUEST

PITTSBURG, April 30.—Why Police Sergeant Thomas J. Morley of the Pittsburgh police force declined to be the guest of President Taft at the banquet given here or attend the ball game with the president is best told in a signed statement. The fact that Sergeant Morley is known as the duplicate of the president in appearance at least is not causing the police officer any loss of sleep. Here is Morley's statement: "In refusing after careful thought the invitation of my friend to sit beside him at the ball game and banquet to be given in his honor May 2, I desire to inform my friends and the public in general of the motives which influence my decision. 'Tis not that I do not appreciate the good intentions of my friend in tendering the invitation or that I am not a great admirer of William H. Taft as president, as a man of high attainments and great judicial ability, nor is it because I do not appreciate the honor it would be to sit beside the president of a great nation at such auspicious occasions, but it is on account of my retiring disposition and the dislike of too much notoriety. I would deem it a great favor to meet the president under other circumstances, and I trust my refusal in this instance will not be misunderstood by the public in general and President Taft and my friend in particular."

WANT MORE PAY

Carpenters Demand an Increase

The demand of the carpenters' union of this city for a minimum wage of 40 cents per hour, instead of 35 cents per hour, as it is at the present time, was refused at a meeting of the master carpenters held last night, but the latter agreed to compromise by offering 37½ cents an hour as the minimum.

The meeting proved to be a rather lengthy one, and the matter was discussed from various points of view. The master carpenters will immediately notify the carpenters' union through the official channels.

A movement for an increase in wages was started by the carpenters

some time ago, and recently the master carpenters were sent a circular letter to the effect that the union would insist on the new wage scale going into effect on Monday, May 2.

Some eight master carpenters, employing large forces in their work, have already agreed to the terms of the union, but the rest, some 25 in number, had up till last night, taken no action in the matter.

The union officials state that they do not desire anything in the way of a strike, and it is probable that when the offer of the majority of master carpenters is made known to them a conference will be held on the matter.

The increase asked for by the union would mean an advance in day wages from $2.56 to $3.20.

The difference now awaiting settlement is not worth fighting over. The carpenters will probably decide the matter tomorrow afternoon at a meeting at their hall at 2:30 o'clock.

RUSSELL CASE WILD ANIMALS

Early Hearing by the Supreme Court Asked

The respondents in the case of Daniel Blake Russell, the Dakota claimant, against the estate of the late Daniel Russell of Melrose, represented by William C. Russell and Ferdinand B. Olney as executors, have determined to push the issue to a final result in the supreme court as quickly as possible, and have, therefore, met the appeal of the petitioner from the decision of the Middlesex court, by a motion to have the matter assigned for hearing at the end of the present list on the docket of the higher tribunal, now sitting at Cambridge for Middlesex county.

Robert W. Nason and Thomas W. Proctor, attorneys for the respondents, received on Thursday notice of the appeal filed by N. L. Sheldon and Lester A. Simpson, counsel for the petitioner, and at once decided upon action.

In the appeal four issues of grievance are at hand. Judge George F. Lawson is asked first, on objection to the decree the claimant is required to prove that the estate of Daniel Blake Russell and not a legatee under the will of Daniel Russell, second, that William C. Russell and Ferdinand B. Olney are not required to furnish bonds with sureties as executors; third, that they are not required to render an accounting as executors; fourth, that the respondents are not by the decree discharged as receivers of the estate of Daniel Blake Russell, absented.

The respondents, Messrs. Nason and Proctor are four in number, each referring to one of the issues raised by the appeal, and are in similar language as follows:

Fresno Dan at Hearing.
"And now come the appellants in the above entitled case, and move the honorable court to place said cause at the end of the court list for hearing at this term of the court."

The motions came up for hearing before Judge Henry L. Sheldon of the supreme court, sitting in equity at Cambridge, at the close of yesterday's session. There were present Messrs. Nason, Proctor and Eugene C. Upton, counsel for the appellants, and their clients, William C. Russell and Ferdinand B. Olney, and Nelson L. Sheldon, attorney for the respondent.

Close behind all these was the Daniel Blake Russell of Fresno, Cal., accompanied by his Boston lawyers, William Odlin and H. R. Stanley, all carefully watching the proceedings.

Mr. Simpson, who is sitting at the suburban home of a friend, while recovering from illness, was absent. As was also his client, Dakota Dan, the original claimant, with his bodyguard.

Mr. Nason called up the matter of his motion, and briefly stated the hope that a hearing might be granted at this term of the court, which will expire by limitation at the close of next week.

Judge Sheldon replied that the case had occupied so much time in the probate court that it was desirable to have it heard as soon as possible. If it would not take too long a period, he added, that the court's docket was very full already, that two jury cases had already been assigned, one of which would surely be tried, while after that there were several other matters to be heard by the court without a jury.

Hearing Monday by Agreement.
Mr. Nason assured the judge that in his opinion the hearing would be very brief, to which the court asked if it would occupy more than a day or two.

Atty. Sheldon responded that such time would be wholly inadequate, and that the hearing in the case must occupy at least several days, how many he could not estimate.

Mr. Nason replied that there were elements injected into the case by the probate court trial which would be eliminated at the hearings before the supreme court, mentioning the fact that expert testimony alone had used up 40 days.

Judge Sheldon seemed to indicate in his reply a doubt that the case could be reached at the present term—remarked that "after next week the justices of the supreme court would go into consultation."

He suggested that a hearing upon the motions of Messrs. Nason and Proctor be set down for hearing at 10 on Monday afternoon and in this counsel on both sides acquiesced.

WORTHEN ST. CHURCH.
An old fashioned sugar party was held in the vestry of the Worthen street church Thursday night. There was a large attendance and the program carried out showed that particular pains had been taken by the different participants.

The entertainment consisted of piano solos by Miss Little Dunn, Carl O'Malley and Henry Johnson, readings by Master Raymond Wilde and George Farley, and a sketch entitled "A Pair of Lunatics," by Henry Leavitt and Miss Blanche Kelly.

Refreshments were served by the following committee: Miss Priscilla Carey, chairman; Misses Mildred Brown, Mildred McQuacken, Little Corey, Little Dunn, Lulu Field and Carl O'Malley, Albert Gumb, George Allen and Albert McQuacken.

A Great Collection From Far East

BOSTON, April 30.—The most wonderful collection of wild animals ever brought to Boston from the far east arrived last evening on the Castle line steamer, Muncaster Castle, from Japan, China and Strait Settlements. The entire cargo deck was filled with cages and boxes containing the beasts.

Capt. Watson, the commander of the steamer, who owns the entire menagerie, was mourning the loss of a royal Bengal tiger when the reporter boarded the freighter on her way up the harbor. The animal, which the captain said was worth $750, died of blood poisoning yesterday morning as a result of cutting its foot on a rusty nail. The head and skin were stripped off and will be presented by Capt. Watson to Cambridge university.

The captain opened the cover of a wooden box and drew out a 36-foot python, weighing 200 pounds. With the aid of some of the Chinese sailors the reptile was stretched out. Then it began to get lively and the captain slammed it back in its box.

One of the most valuable animals in the collection is a black panther from the Malay archipelago. Two days ago the panther made a swipe at the Chinese cook who happened to be standing near his cage, and tore the orient's trousers and shirt off in a twinkling. It made another lunge at the deck.

A bird of paradise said to be the only one ever brought to the United States alive, is included in the collection.

Man-eating leopards, wild cats and other fierce beasts occupied one entire section of the hold. Most of the animals were bought from animal dealers at Singapore.

The collection includes two big cats: avaria and four bears from Formosa; three orang outangs from Sumatra; a strange looking bear cat, believed to be the only one in captivity; half a dozen leopards, including two of the species known as "cloudy leopards," and scores of apes and monkeys. There are 12 pythons and a great variety of birds of bright plumage.

The menagerie will be taken to New York when the steamer goes to that port next week.

The Muncaster Castle came from Shanghai, Karatsu, Hongkong, Singapore, Cebu, Calcutta, Tellicherry and Mangalore. Besides her valuable collection of animals she brought merchandise worth more than $1,000,000. Hundreds of tons of fireworks, great quantities of sandalwood, pepper, spices, rattans, human hair, tea, curios, Chinese groceries, tinware, etc., etc., filled the holds. More than 4000 tons will be landed here, and about the same amount will be taken around to New York.

Capt. Watson said the Muncaster Castle had to pay $500 toll passing through the Suez canal. He said the length of the canal is 86 miles, while the Panama canal will be 50 miles. He thought a vessel like the Muncaster Castle would have to pay about $500 to pass through the Panama canal and he believed that when completed the canal will be a great asset to this country.

GRAND WELCOME MAYOR GAYNOR

Was Extended to Ex-Pres. Roosevelt Replies to the Statement of William R. Hearst

THE HAGUE, April 30.—Theodore Roosevelt was welcomed here at midnight with astonishing demonstrations. The masses were waiting at the railway station and when he alighted from the train they swept him along toward his carriage. The police were powerless to check the violent rushes, in which numbers of persons were thrown to the ground.

Foreign Minister Swinderen, whose wife was Miss Bessie Glover, of Washington, D. C., received Col. Roosevelt on the platform in behalf of the government and drove with him in a court equipage through the decorated streets of the city to the Hotel Des Indes, near the American legation. In the party also were Kermit Roosevelt, Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Ethel left Amsterdam on an earlier train and already were here when Col. Roosevelt arrived.

The great, orderly assemblage of townspeople, cheering and waving the Stars and Stripes and handkerchiefs, remained outside long after Col. Roosevelt had entered the hotel. Frequently the crowd burst into song and called for the American ex-president to appear. Finally he came out upon the balcony and bowed to the multitude, then withdrew. The crowd, however, remained some time afterwards, singing patriotic songs, and then dispersed.

Col. Roosevelt and his wife and children will be received today by the Queen Mother. In the afternoon he and his party will visit Delft, where in 1672 the palace in which William of Orange was assassinated, but now used as a museum, and various other interesting places.

Altogether Col. Roosevelt's visit yesterday to the land of his forefathers was a notable one. From the time that his train reached Rotterdam, on the frontier, until he retired here last night, the cordiality of the people towards him was remarkable. The people everywhere cheered him and at Het Loo, Queen Wilhelmina and the Prince Consort and high personages in the realm welcomed him, and his majesty gave a luncheon in his honor. When Col. Roosevelt arrived at the summer home of the queen at Het Loo, the Prince Consort was standing on the front steps awaiting him. When the automobile containing the American party stopped, Prince Henry, without awaiting an introduction, warmly assisted him to alight from the royal automobile which had brought the party from Arnhem. After meeting Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Ethel and Kermit, the prince and then shown to their rooms where they changed their clothes and afterwards received by the queen in her small drawing room. Queen Wilhelmina took Col. Roosevelt's arm when luncheon was announced and the Prince Consort escorted Mrs. Roosevelt. After the luncheon the queen remarked that she was sorry she could not show the little baby princess to the Americans, but that the baby and her husband had been vaccinated in the morning.

Col. Roosevelt and his party spent about two hours at Het Loo and would have lingered longer had they not been compelled to catch an early train for Amsterdam. To do this the party was conveyed in royal equipages to Apeldoorn.

The private saloon car which had been provided for the Americans by royal command, in some manner got lost so that the Roosevelts and Mr. and Mrs. Beaupre took compartments in a first class car at Apeldoorn, whence they departed amid the cheers of hundreds of persons inside and outside the station.

During the trip the other passengers on the train walked in procession through the corridor to see Col. Roosevelt, who was reading a book, cutting the pages as he went, until the tumult of the waiting crowds in the Amsterdam station aroused him.

The burgomaster of Amsterdam and a deputation of prominent citizens received Col. Roosevelt and conducted him and his party to their carriage.

The great assemblage in the open square in front of the station uncovered as Col. Roosevelt appeared. The demonstration was entirely without organization. There were only a few policemen there to keep back the crowd. Col. Roosevelt and his party then were driven around the city to see the sights.

The editor of the Amsterdam Handelsblad late yesterday, upon Col. Roosevelt's acceptance by telephone, arranged a public meeting in the Free Church of Wateringhuys, and Col. Roosevelt spoke from the pulpit to about 800 persons, who filled the church. Among the figures in the stained glass windows of the edifice were those of Emerson and Carlyle.

"I'm glad to come back to the home of my forefathers," Col. Roosevelt began. "I am proud of the fact that I have good Dutch blood in my veins. My people left here before Rembrandt and Deshayes were known."

"I am sorry that I can't speak the Dutch my grandparents taught me. One cradle song I still remember," Col. Roosevelt recited a lullaby, a quaint old stanza, in which goes figured, to the delight of his hearers. He then spoke on citizenship, praising Holland for the sturdy qualities of the country, which had maintained itself for many centuries and had taught the lesson that no one could escape from being governed—that either he must govern himself or somebody else must do it for him. Each man, he said, must insist on his rights, but more important he should remember the duties and responsibilities he owed to his neighbors.

Further on in his speech Col. Roosevelt said that if the rich men maintained an arrogant attitude in their relations toward those less well off, they may expect the dreadful day of judgment upon themselves or those who come after them.

He was cheered enthusiastically after his address and the organ burst forth with "The Star Spangled Banner."

Early last evening the municipality of Amsterdam gave a dinner to Col. Roosevelt. Forty covers were laid, but the members of the press were not admitted. During the dinner the burgomaster drank a toast to Col. Roosevelt, and the American ex-president responded in a neat speech.

After the dinner Col. Roosevelt left for this city.

NEWBURYPORT, April 30.—The body of John P. Jordan of West street, Haverhill, was found on the Salisbury river at the Merrimack river at the estate of Prof. Marcus D. Buell of Boston university yesterday afternoon by Wesley J. Bailey, who was rowing a boat upstream. The local police were notified and the body was brought to an undertaker's room here.

A medical Examiner R. C. Hurd found a bad wound on the left side of Jordan's head at the temple. It was round in shape and fresh blood was oozing from it. No fracture of the skull was found, and Mr. Hurd thought the injury might have been received after death.

Dr. Hurd will communicate with Dist. Atty. Peters of Haverhill in regard to an autopsy.

Jordan wore a mixed suit of clothes, gray sweater, lined shoes and black negligee shirt. On his suspenders was a nickel badge, bearing the inscription "Telegraph No. 95339 Mass. Mutual Accident association, Boston Mass., and identify me." Letters in his pocket identified him.

City Marshal McLean notified the Haverhill police and learned that Jordan was last seen in that city about two weeks ago.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Mayor Gaynor and William Randolph Hearst both issued statements last night on the issue of veracity raised Thursday night at the joint banquet of The Associated Press and the Newspaper Publishers' association, when the mayor said that Hearst was a forger and falsifier. Supplementary statements were issued by Comptroller Prendergast, ex-Comptroller Metz and the district attorney's office, following rumors that was a possibility of future legal proceedings, as a result of the mayor's address Thursday night.

"I am not entirely familiar with all the accusations against Mayor Gaynor, or his attempt to divert attention from them by an attack on the American," I have just returned from Mexico. It is obvious to anyone, however, that the mayor's defense is false upon its face.

"His attack upon the American is entirely disingenuous and wholly untruthful."

"His only claim, when it is analyzed, is that the American failed to print clearly the date of a photograph facsimile of one of the documents in the case against him, although the American carried the same date of the same document clearly printed in type in the text of the article.

"What a petty quibble for an important man, or rather what a quibble for a petty man who holds an important position."

The statement then goes into details to prove the truth of the article which Mayor Gaynor charged to be false.

"Finally, anybody who can read and think can see clearly that the date in question is not the important date, anyhow, but that the important date of Jan. 4, a date in Mayor Gaynor's administration upon which the payment to Coburn of $48,000 was finally signed and actually authorized. The January 4th signature was affixed by the assistant chamberlain in the office of Chamberlain Hyde, Mr. Gaynor's law partner."

"Mr. Gaynor says the American does not answer clearly."

They Were Mourned as Lost

Transactions Recorded During Past Week

PORTLAND, Me., April 30.—The Portland fishing schooner Topsail Girl, Capt. John A. Daggett, arrived here yesterday with her flag at half mast. The captain's son, John L. Daggett, and another of the crew, George Horish, were missing and it was feared had been drowned. They had been rescued, however, and were found at the wharf here, sound and well, by their shipmates.

When the schooner was off the La Havre banks a thick fog set in and a storm came up rapidly. All the men out in the dories except Daggett and Horish returned. They were exposed to the full fury of the storm.

After a seemingly hopeless wait, Capt. Daggett was rescued. The two men were in the dory 48 hours and were exhausted when picked up and carried to Clark harbor, Cape Sable. Word was sent to Hon. C. N. Trefethen, ex-mayor of Portland, at whose request the men were sent by the U. S. coast guard to Portland.

STOLE BICYCLE

YOUNG MAN ARRESTED IN BILERICA

Jos. Martin, aged 19 years, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Police Officers Conway and Livingston on a warrant charging him with the larceny of a bicycle valued at $30 in Wallingford, Conn., last November. The young man was arrested at his father's house in the southeastern part of the town where he has been staying for the past several weeks.

The theft was committed, it is alleged, when Martin was working in Wallingford and the owner of the wheel communicated by telephone with the Bilerica officers to work the case on this end, as he had reasons to believe that Martin was in Bilerica and had it in his possession. Officers Livingston and Conway went to Martin's home yesterday and asked him about the matter, but at first he denied any knowledge of the affair. He later admitted taking the bicycle and also produced it. Martin will be held for the Wallingford police.

WHIST PARTY.
A pleasant whist party and concert was given at the rooms of the Pawtucketville Social club in Moody street Thursday night. Mayor John F. McEnaney was the guest of honor and spoke in a very interesting manner.

The program consisted of piano solos by Miss Ernestine Alexander; violin solos by Miss Eva Cling-Mars, accompanied on the piano by Miss Emma Cling-Mars; piano duet by the Misses Cling-Mars; a reading by Henri Dalgic; a song by Philippe T. Levesque; piano solos by Misses Blanche Larue and Alix Genest, and comic songs by Elzevir J. Laroche.

The committee in charge was composed of Joseph E. Sawyer, president; Albert Hamel, secretary; Olivia Brunelle, treasurer; Emilie Cling-Mars, Pierre Gagnon; a sub-committee was composed of Ursula Larue, Henri Gullas and Wilfred Sawyer.

1910 Memorial Day on Monday, May 30

Present indications give promise of unusual opportunity for a beautiful Memorial Day observance. The season is at least two weeks in advance of normal. The present indications are that there will be an abundance of flowers.

Lot Owners at Lowell Cemetery are urged by the management to do everything possible to make the cemetery especially attractive, to take every advantage of the unusual season. In urging our own lot owners to make special efforts, we hope to awake a general public interest that each and every burial place for the dead in Lowell shall show evidence that—

"God calls our loved ones, but we lose not wholly."

What he hath given: They live on earth, in thought and deed, as truly As in His Heaven."

CHAS. J. GLIDDEN

Took Blind Man on Balloon Trip

BENNINGTON, Vt., April 30.—The first blind man in the world to undertake such an experience, William J. Heinrichs, a sightless singer in a Boston church, with Charles J. Glidden yesterday, in the balloon "Massachusetts" made an airline flight of 32 miles from Pittsfield, Mass., to this place, landing here about two hours after ascending. Although Mr. Glidden was the pilot, Mr. Heinrichs made the landing, pulling the valve open when the balloon was 200 feet above the earth.

Never Put Off Until To-morrow The Pill You Should Take To-night

Procrastination is the enemy of health—comfort at least should remind you not to forget. Beecham's Pills should be always on hand, so that when not feeling up to the mark, before your light goes out, you have taken your dose. The action of the pills insures good sleep and you wake fit and well. They are mild but vigorous enough to remove obstruction and to restore to normal the affected organs. A clear eye, head and brain fit to cope with all comers, follow the use of

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Men, women and children are not only stronger and brighter, but in every respect better. The mind acts quicker after taking Beecham's Pills—everything becomes more natural—the vigor and vitality are remarkable. If you have never used Beecham's Pills, get a box and try them the next time you have an attack of indigestion, biliousness, sick headache or any ailment arising from stomach, liver or bowels.

It is easier to overcome these troubles before chronic conditions become established so that it is advisable to take the pills as soon as nature asks for assistance. It is important to remember that when the digestive functions have been perverted by disease, the general health undergoes rapid deterioration and a serious breakdown may occur, if proper measures are neglected, but Beecham's Pills if

INJURIES FATAL

Man's Body Was Terribly Mangled

ELLSWORTH, Me., April 30.—His clothing catching on a shaft which was revolving at the rate of 20 revolutions a minute in the mill of Whitcomb, Haynes & Co., F. P. Witham, aged about 50, was almost instantly killed today. His body was terribly mangled and the back of his skull was crushed in. Witham was employed in the mill. He leaves a wife and five children.

THE COMING MEMORIAL DAY

In a broad minded way the Lowell cemetery management is making the effort to bestir not only its own cemetery lot owners, but all lot owners in all cemeteries in Lowell and near towns to a general observance of the coming Memorial day. This is commendable. Of all our holidays, Memorial Day is the one most beautiful, partly from sentiment, and largely on account of the beautiful time of season. This year, with a season at least two weeks earlier than usual, there promises to be a wealth of flowers, and it does seem as though the community would take advantage of this fact. Every lot owner is requested to co-operate with his or her cemetery management in seeing to it that premises are put in perfect order. That this be done at once, and in ample season before Memorial Day is essential, and in the interest of all. Early orders mean co-operation. With the opportunity, let all make individual effort to make 1910 Memorial Day a memorable day.

FOUND GUILTY

ARCHITECT HUSTON WAS CONVICTED OF CONSPIRACY

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 30.—Capital architect Joseph M. Huston was convicted yesterday of conspiracy in falsely certifying to a paid bill for desks for the state capital after a trial of almost four weeks and by a jury which deliberated almost 20 hours.

The verdict was accompanied with recommendation for mercy "on account of his irreproachable reputation prior to this charge."

A motion for arrest of judgment or suspension of sentence so that reasons might be presented for a new trial was made at once and granted.

THE METROPOLITAN LINE

The Metropolitan Steamship Co. passenger service All-the-Way-by-Water direct between Boston and New York will be inaugurated for the season on Monday, May 23d, when the Harvard and Yale will be placed in commission. This announcement will be welcomed by many in this section who use the Metropolitan Line in travelling from Boston to New York and in connection with trips to points beyond New York City.

The fare via the Metropolitan Line is the same as via the Long Island Sound Lines, and through tickets are on sale at all regular railroad and steamboat ticket offices throughout the country.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

If Mayor Gaynor of New York falsely charged a publisher of that city with the commission of a crime, he is liable under the law same as any other man.

The legislature did the right thing when it passed the corporation tax bill providing that the tax collected by the state on corporations shall be returned in full to the cities and towns in which the industries are located. The amount accruing to Lowell will probably exceed $100,000. It will help in keeping down the tax rate.

Those light-winged Frenchmen are taking all the honors and most of the prizes from the Englishmen in aviation contests. It was Bleriot, a Frenchman, who was first to cross the English channel, and now Paulhan has carried off the $50,000 prize offered by Lord Northcliffe for the first to make the flight from London to Manchester in an aeroplane. Henceforth we may expect to find the British government giving special attention to the art of aerial navigation in order that England may fairly rival France and Germany in this new art.

TO STOP LYNCHINGS.

WANT COTTON TARIFF RETAINED.

The National Association of Cotton Manufacturers deprecates any attempt to reduce the tariff on cotton goods. The resolution adopted was as follows:

That this body deprecates the present agitation for further tariff revision, and points out that with balance of trade against this country any further opening of the door to imports would tend to destroy American industries, to stop employment, to reduce wages and to bring about another period of depression and disaster.

No doubt the manufacturers would be disappointed if the tariff were soon to be reduced as they expect to do good business under it next year when the new mills now under construction will have been started up. At present the great drawback to active operations all along the line is the high price of raw cotton.

SHORTER HOURS FOR WOMEN.

The supreme court of Illinois has handed down a decision declaring constitutional a law to regulate the hours of labor for women. The decision is remarkable from the fact that it reverses a decision of fourteen years ago by the same court on a question precisely similar. At that time the court held that it was not necessary for the police power of the state to interfere with the hours of labor of women unless those hours were such as to endanger the health of the women and thus unfit them for motherhood.

The court now, however, sustains the interference of the police power to restrict the hours of labor for women on the ground that excessive and debilitating labor by women would ultimately affect the public health in general.

This question has been agitated in other states and the matter of constitutionality has been raised against the proposition to have a special law regulating the hours of labor for women and children. The time seems to have arrived when such a law will meet general approval because its necessity has been amply demonstrated in almost every part of the country. In this respect the distinction between men and women is recognized. In opposition to this law it has been claimed that women should possess the same freedom of contract as do men. But on the matter of working hours the good of society and the proper protection of women demand that even against her will she be prevented from engaging in labor that may incapacitate her for the duties of family life.

ROYAL RECEPTIONS TO ROOSEVELT.

The European courts at which Colonel Roosevelt is a visitor, find it a very difficult matter to decide just what arrangements shall be made for his reception. Were he president of the United States or a prince of some ruling family the matter of his reception would be one of the common-places of court life in Europe. But he is a private citizen of the United States and hence the delicacy of arranging for his reception consists in whether he shall be received as a ruler of another country or as a foreign potentate.

Some of the courts at which he has already been received have accorded him the full dignity of president. It is stated now that the German emperor has arranged to receive him with all the dignity and honor that would be accorded to a crowned head. Emperor William is to meet the great American at the railroad station and in accordance with the usual formalities, part of the ceremony of greeting will consist in the hugging and kissing of the visitor by the emperor. This is a part of the program that we surmise Colonel Roosevelt would rather have omitted. It is believed, however, that the German emperor is an enthusiastic admirer of Mr. Roosevelt and will consequently receive him as he would receive King Edward of England or the emperor of Russia.

This would be a most extraordinary reception for a private citizen of any country. Indeed it is believed to be unprecedented. Mr. Roosevelt received such an enthusiastic welcome in France, that Germany will no doubt endeavor to show him the highest possible honors so as not to be outdone in this respect by France or even by England. As his visit to England will come last of all, King Edward can arrange to make the British reception second to none of the great ovations tendered Col. Roosevelt on his tour of European courts.

MILFORD PASTOR

Proposes to Open a New Creamery

MILFORD, N. H., April 30.—Rev. Francis W. Holden, "the farmers' friend," who has been instrumental in building a cooperative creamery here, announced yesterday that owing to the fact that the war is on between the milk producers and the contractors that the creamery will open for business Sunday morning.

It was at first intended to defer the opening until Monday morning, but Mr. Holden, as president of the association, and the directors felt that as the farmers were going to withhold their milk supply from the contractors Sunday morning this would give them a day's milk on their hands at a possible loss to them.

The farmers are united to a man, and from Lyndboro, Mt. Vernon, Anaher, Holits and this town the milk producers will halt their teams Sunday morning at the creamery. Instead of the milk depot, as it is estimated that the section mentioned supplies one-twentieth of the Boston market the holding up of the supply will be felt.

Mr. Holden, in an interview yesterday, said:

"I knew months ago this question between the producers and contractors would come up by May and I advocated a cooperative company for the building of a creamery. We are incorporated for $10,000 and nearly all the stock is taken up."

"When the creamery goes into operation Sunday morning we will have a plant fully equipped with first-class machinery, and will take all the milk and cream that is brought in. Many of the farmers have already equipped their farms with separators, and routes will be established for bringing milk to the establishment. Our market will be Nashua, Lowell and Boston."

ARM CUT OFF

ACCIDENT TO MAN ON BATTLESHIP SO. CAROLINA

BOSTON, April 30.—The wounding of a wireless message from the new battleship South Carolina caused considerable excitement at the Charlestown navy yard yesterday afternoon.

South Carolina has been at Provincetown and vicinity for a few days, holding various tests. Early yesterday morning the navy yard tug Iwana went down to the South Carolina with general stores and supplies. Her arrival at the ship was reported by wireless yesterday noon.

Soon after the arrival came a wireless message from the South Carolina requesting permission to transfer to the naval hospital at Chelsea by the Iwana "wounded men." Capt. John C. Fremont, commandant at the local yard, replied with the query: "How many wounded men have you injured?" He at once issued orders to provide for the

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The Lowell Caledonian club met on Thursday night in Pilgrim hall, there being a large attendance of members. Two new members were initiated and a committee was appointed to make arrangements for the proper celebration of the anniversary of the battle of Bannockburn. The annual summer outing of the club was talked over, but no final action will be taken until next meeting. After the business was over a social hour was passed in song and story and some of the old time dances brought a very happy evening to a close.

Foresters of America

Court Lowell, 199, Massachusetts Catholic order of Foresters, held a meeting Thursday night in Grafton hall, Chief Ranger Thomas J. Wallace presiding. Four applications for membership were received and three candidates were initiated.

The degree staff, recently formed under the direction of Capt. William J. Enwright, is holding weekly rehearsals and will perform the degree work on a large class of candidates next month.

After the business meeting was over a social was enjoyed by the members of the court.

Red Men

The regular meeting of Passaconaway tribe of Red Men was held last night in Odd Fellows temple, Sachem George H. Gould occupying the chair. Considerable routine business was transacted during the evening. Past Great Sachem Oliver A. Libby gave an interesting talk on great council affairs, and the progress of the order.

K. of W. Edward T. Goward gave a report of the financial condition of the tribe. The degree master, Leonard F. Steele, spoke on degree work. The sachem urged the brothers to scout the forest and capture palefaces so as to keep the tribe at the head of the list in point of membership in this regard.

After the meeting, a whist party for members was held, suitable prizes being awarded the winners. Refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed. The committee in charge was Frank Riney, George W. Randall, Geo. A. Frost, Geo. R. Caldwell and Geo. E. Wilkins.

COMPANY K DANCE

Pleasant Affair at Colonial Hall Last Night

The annual prize drill and dance of Company K, Sixth Infantry, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, was held last night in Colonial hall, and it proved to be one of the brilliant social functions of the season. It was a military affair and the attractive uniforms of the gallant young soldiers and the light evening gowns of their fair partners presented a beautiful scene.

The interior of the hall was also beautifully decorated, the stage being banked with potted plants, the members of Hubbard's orchestra, who furnished music for the occasion, being hardly visible to the dancers.

The prize drill for the gold and silver medals offered by the company and open only to members of the company was the first event on the program, and between eight and nine o'clock the contestants for the medals were put through the manual.

There were nine men entered. The squad was cut three times, the last three men to march on the floor being Privates Eugene O. Page, Melvin F. Master and Charles B. Garmon. These three were put through a strenuous drill and then the judges retired to confer.

Later they returned and it was announced that the first prize had been won by Private Page, and that the silver medal had been won by Private Master. Private Garmon was given honorable mention.

Following the drill, dancing started immediately and continued until 1 o'clock with the exception of an intermission when a collection was saved. There were 20 numbers on the program.

The patronesses, who received their guests in a prettily decorated corner of the hall, were: Mrs. Walter T. Barker, Mrs. Frank E. Dunbar, Mrs. Robert B. Bell, Mrs. Lewis E. Macbrayne, Mrs. John A. Rogers, Mrs. Charles A. Stevens, Mrs. J. L. Chaffoux, Mrs. Percy Parker, Mrs. Arthur D. Colby, Mrs. Frank Dupee, Mrs. Julian Talbot, Mrs. J. V. Meigs, Mrs. Jas. N. Greig, Mrs. J. V. Meigs, Jr., Mrs. E. M. Tucker, Mrs. H. P. Graves, Mrs. Samuel P. Hadley, Mrs. Jacob Rogers, Mrs. Frank J. Jones, Mrs. Francis Plunkett, Mrs. Thomas G. Walker.

The judges of the prize drill were: First Sergeant Cornelius J. Barnes of Company K, Sixth Infantry; First Sergeant Sanford P. Leary of Company C, Sixth Infantry, and First Sergeant Christian of Company M, Ninth Infantry. There were many other military and civil guests present, among them, Privat Whited Towne of the First Corps of Cadets, of Boston. Several well known local college men were also present.

The committee in charge was: Corp. Victor J. Jones, chairman; First Sgt. Arthur D. Colby, Sgt. Win. Fred C. Macbrayne, Corp. Charles J. W. Hoyt, Musician Williston Caplin, Privates Joseph Devine, Charles Talbot, C. Frank Dupee and Sidney Le Plamme.

A RECEPTION

Rev. and Mrs. J. P. West were tendered a reception by the people of the Highland M. E. church in the church vestries last evening. There was a large gathering and the occasion was a very delightful one. The vestries were prettily decorated and music was furnished by an orchestra consisting of A. R. Booth, violinist; Miss Ethel Wotton, pianist, and Mrs. Gertrude Hutchinson, cornetist.

In the receiving line besides Rev. and Mrs. West, were Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Livingston, Mrs. E. Sargent Dickinson and Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Wilder. Following the reception, Miss Bertha Chapman, in behalf of the church people, presented Rev. Mr. West a purse of gold, and Mrs. West a very beautiful silver toilet set. Mr. West spoke briefly, expressing his and Mrs. West's thanks for the remembrance and telling of his pleasure at having had the opportunity to serve in a pastorate which he had found the strongest and one of the most pleasant he had occupied.

Refreshments were served during the evening. Mrs. J. P. Walsh, Mrs. John Zimmerman and Mrs. Wesley M. Wilder constituted the committee in general charge. The decorations were under the charge of Mr. and Mrs. Walter I. Leach, William D. Large and Fred Timmins. The refreshment committee was: W. M. Wilder, F. M. Shaw, J. W. Leach, G. R. Hithwaite, F. H. Timmins, A. I. Gauthier and W. F. Dean, Jr.

Those in charge of the punch bowl were Mrs. Frank M. Short, Mrs. Walter I. Leach and Miss Ethel Gordon. Mrs. J. P. Walsh and Mrs. W. M. Wilder served logs, assisted by Misses Edith Harrison, Sallie Burgess, Catherine Carter, Mildred Sturtevant, Bertha Chapman, Daisy Brown, Mildred Severance, Bessie Porter, Eva Vincent, Carrie Philbrick and Grace Mitchell.

Those in charge of the kitchen were: Mrs. William H. Kilpatrick and Mrs. C. A. Lester.

JACK JOHNSON

ARRIVED IN SAN FRANCISCO AHEAD OF TIME
SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—Jack Johnson, the negro fighter, arrived here last night from Los Angeles, accompanied by his manager and trainers.

The party came in several hours ahead of the time scheduled for its arrival and only a small portion of the local colored population was on hand to welcome the big pugilist.

Johnson was met at the depot by Gleason and Rickard, the two promoters of the coming heavyweight contest who accompanied the negro to Seal Rock where Johnson will go into training.

Neither was the price given out, but it is understood to be in the neighborhood of $750,000.

SECRETARY BALLINGER

Bitterly Attacked His Critics at the Investigation

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Indignantly denying that he was guilty of any wrongdoing, Richard A. Ballinger, secretary of the Interior, bitterly attacked his critics while a witness before the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation committee yesterday and characterized many of the sworn statements of his principal accusers, L. R. Glavis, as "wilful and deliberate lies."

Led on by his attorney, Mr. Vertrees, the cabinet officer answered one by one the indictments of those who would destroy him. He referred with apparent pride to Theodore Roosevelt's often expressed high estimate of him, particularly the former president's statement when he was commissioner of the land office, that he had "secured a $25,000 man for $5000."

He defended his conduct in connection with the Cunningham coal cases, and said emphatically that he would take the same action today as he did when at the head of the land office if he had the same case before him.

After leaving the land office, Mr. Ballinger said, his only connection with the Cunningham cases was in bringing out from Seattle an affidavit by Clarence Cunningham and presenting it to Secretary Garfield. For his services he said he received $200 or $250, which he regarded as traveling expenses. He said that when he became secretary of the Interior he refused to pass upon the claims in any way.

Attorney Vertrees still has to examine Mr. Ballinger on the subject of water power sites before turning him over to Mr. Brandeis, counsel for Glavis, and Mr. Pepper, attorney for Pinchot, for cross examination. The secretary's testimony yesterday dealt almost exclusively with the Glavis charges; today it embraced his attitude toward conservation and the beginning of his controversy with Pinchot. The "defense" hopes to conclude by noon today. It is hoped he realized Mr. Brandeis will have Mr. Ballinger in his hands all afternoon.

GIANT HALIBUT WAS LANDED AT T WHARF

BOSTON, April 30.—A giant halibut, tipping the scales at 228 pounds, was brought in by one of the Seltian fishing power dories at T wharf yesterday. The monstrous fish was captured while, in pursuit of a pollock of which it had intended to make a meal.

The attention of the crew was first attracted by a great ripple on the surface and then a pollock came up, followed closely by the ravenous halibut. A well-directed blow from a gaff in the hands of one of the crew stunned the larger fish, the trawl was thrown out, and in a few minutes the fish was taken captive. It was later killed and dressed for market and brought a fancy price.

COMEDY OF ERRORS

New Bedford Defeated Lowell
With EaseBuckles Was Wild and Received
Poor Support—First Baseman
McCrone Was Struck on Head
With Pitched Ball

Tom Dowd and his Whalers' made their first appearance at Spaulding park yesterday and defeated the home team in a comedy of errors, to which even such reliable fielders as Magee and Jones contributed.

Buckles, the California long boy, was on the slah for the visitors and he was lacking in control although he showed great speed and good curves. In the first inning he struck first baseman McCrone of the visiting team in the head and McCrone was dead to the world for five minutes.

Lowell tried to rally in the fifth and made four runs but couldn't keep the pace with the Whalers.

First Inning

Buckles was slammed pretty hard in the first inning and when the smoke of the battle had cleared away the visitors had sent three men over the plate. Cassett, the first man to bat, hit to Boules and was out at first.

Buckles then hit McCrone in the head and the game was delayed until the latter recovered consciousness. McCrone was then given a runner. Rising hit one too hot for Boules to handle and reached first. Cunningham hit Buckles and reached first in safety.

Williams hit a grounder to Boules and when the latter threw over Stone's head Wilson, who was running for McCrone, and rising scored. Williams then stole second and scored on Bauman's single to centre field. Wilson fouled to Lemieux.

In the latter half of the inning Fitzpatrick drew a base on balls and went to second on Boules' sacrifice. Fluharty flied to Rising and Magee hit a grounder to Cunningham and was retired at first.

Score—Lowell 0, New Bedford 3.

Second Inning

There was nothing doing in the second inning. Pratt drew a free pass and went to second on Griffith's sacrifice. Cassett popped a fly to Buckles and Pratt later stole second, but he died there on McCrone's hit to Fitzpatrick.

Lowell got as far as third base in the latter half of the inning but failed to get a man across the plate. Stone singled and went to second on Jones' sacrifice. Campbell hit along the first base line and was second out. Lemieux hit to Bannan and was retired at first.

Score—Lowell 0, New Bedford 3.

Third Inning

Two more goose eggs were registered.

DIAMOND NOTES

New Bedford today, if.

The game was as frosty as the weather.

Tom Dowd looked real kippy in a uniform.

"Chief" Williams is a full blooded Indian and a fine outfielder. The cherishes christened him "Big Chief Bonchard," but there was nothing, boncharded about his playing.

Mosher, Rellly and Pickard have been canned.

Wolfgang, the Boston National twirler, will be in the harness this afternoon.

Brookton and Fall River played an 11 inning tie yesterday.

George Primrose was out to the game, likewise Charles S. Danowski.

Poor Buckles became undone in the fifth and for a moment he looked like a candidate for the bench. Buckles has great speed and a choice assortment of curves but he lacks control.

When Buckles hit McCrone in the head in the first inning the fans thought of the Bowcock case. McCrone was out for five minutes but he gamely continued in the game.

It took just 1 h. 8 m. for the Doves to defeat Brooklyn. One of the quickest games on record.

James Miller, second baseman for Lawrence, is out of the game with a broken rib. He was struck by a pitched ball, by Pitcher Sweeney of Brooklyn.

NIGHT EDITION SILVER JUBILEE

Beautiful Religious Event at St. Michael's Church

An unusual and most impressive service took place at 8 o'clock this morning in St. Michael's church when a jubilee high mass was celebrated to mark the 25th anniversary of the religious profession of Sister Alexia, O. S. D., superior of St. Michael's convent, and Sister Mary Plus, O. S. D., one of the teachers at St. Michael's school, both of whom took their final vows at the mother house of the order, the convent of St. Catherine of Siena, Springfield, Kentucky, on the feast of St. Catherine of Siena, just 25 years ago today. Sister Alexia has the distinction of being one of the little band of Dominican Nuns who founded St. Michael's convent and opened St. Michael's school over 30 years ago. In 1901 Sister Alexia, broken down in health, returned to the mother-house supposedly to die, yet today finds her in fair health and excellent spirits presiding over one of the most successful parochial schools in the archdiocese. A large congregation gathered at the jubilee mass including many former pupils of the school. There were present also representatives of the convents of the Sisters of Mercy, the Nazareth Sisters, the Sisters of the Assumption, the Sisters of St. Mary and the Franciscans. There were also Dominican nuns from nearly all of the missions in New England. The mass was sung by Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor. Assisting within the sanctuary were Rev. William O'Brien, P. R., of St. Patrick's church, who while pastor of St. Michael's brought the Dominican nuns to Lowell and Rev. D. J. Murphy. The music incidental to the service was particularly inspiring and was given by two choirs of boys and girls directed by Sister Loretta, O. S. D., who also presided at the organ. The girls' choir of 75 voices sang Battman's convent mass in G. At the offertory Misses Katherine Navin and Winnie Hart rendered the Vocation hymn and after mass the boys' choir of 40 voices sang the hymn of thanksgiving. The solo parts being sustained as follows: Sopranos, Ernest Ready and Eddie McGarry; altos, John Barrett, and Thomas McGovern. After the last gospel Rev. Fr. Shaw mounted the pulpit and selecting as his text the words of the 115th psalm: "I shall render to thee, O Lord, things that thou hast rendered to me," delivered a beautiful address on the nature of the occasion. In opening Fr. Shaw pictured the scene at the profession of the nun, who of her own volition has renounced the world to give her life to the service of God, who has passed the probationary period as a novice and now comes before the altar to take the vows of poverty, chastity and obedience. He emphasized the fact that there is nothing compulsory upon a young woman to enter a convent; she acts entirely of her own free will while careful discrimination is used within the convent in the selection of applicants for the novitiate. He dwelt upon the spiritual richness of a religious life, the blessings bestowed upon the religious by the church and the happiness of it in the great honor of being called the spouse of God and permitted to reside within the walls where the Blessed Sacrament is kept, and finally the beauty and happiness of the death of the religious whose life has been devoted to the service of God, comparing it with the death of one who has given his or her life to the pleasures of the world. The greatest blessing that could come to a family he said was to have one of its members a religious. He referred to their noble work without recompense, the care of the poor and the forgotten of the world, the orphans, the Magdalens, the sick and the teaching of the young, leaving home and loved ones for the service of God without hope or expectation of any reward on earth. At the conclusion of the service Sister Alexia and Mary Plus received the visiting members of the order and their own relatives in the convent and a dinner was given at noon to the visitors. Tomorrow a reception to former pupils of the school will be held from 2 to 5 o'clock. Among the visitors present for the jubilee were Sister Bonaventure, and Sister Mary James, the former a companion of Sister Alexia, of the Sisters of Mercy of Hartford, Conn. Sisters Mary William, Baptista, Rosine and Matilda of St. Patrick's Dominican convent, Watertown, Mass.; Sisters Bridget, Mary George, Antonia and Desolita of the Dominican convent at West Lynn, and Sisters Regis and Victoria of St. Dominic's academy, Waverly, Mass. Mrs. Gus Bretz of Louisville, Ky., a sister of Sister Mary Plus, was also present at the jubilee. Mrs. Bretz will remain in Lowell for a few days.

MOTORMAN INJURED

Rear-End Collision of Electric Cars in Tewksbury

Motorman Albert Taylor, residing at 35 Middlesex park, this city, suffered a slight injury to his knee about 9:20 o'clock this morning just beyond Chandler's turnout in Tewksbury on the Lowell and Boston line of the Boston & Northern Street Railway company, when the service car which he was driving crashed into the rear of the regular car, which left Merrimack square at 8:15 o'clock. The accident was caused by the failure of the brakes on the service car to work. The regular "Meadford" car left the square at 8:15 o'clock followed by the service car in charge of Motorman Taylor, and attached to the service car was an open car which was being hauled to the barn of the Boston & Northern in Chelsea. The service car with its trailer kept at a respectable distance behind the regular car, but after the latter had left the turnout at what is known as Chandler's, it stopped to allow a passenger to alight. The car stopped at a point on a down grade which was just around a curve and the motorman on the service car following, did not realize that the regular car had stopped until he turned the curve and then despite the fact that he applied the brakes there was such a steep down grade and also owing to the fact that the open car rammed into the service car after the brakes had been applied the service car crashed into the regular car. The impact, however, was slight, though strong enough to smash in the front of the service car and Motorman Taylor was thrown to the platform and crushed between the front dashboard and body of the car. He was taken to the state infirmary nearby and the regular car followed by the special went on its way.

THE POLICE BOARD

A Number of Minor Licenses Were Granted Today

The board of police met in special session this morning for the purpose of giving a hearing to Patrick H. Barry, who applied for a liquor license at 449 Broadway, corner of Broadway and Mt. Vernon street, as well as transacting considerable routine business which was to come before the board. After Mr. Barry had applied for his license and the notice was published, Supt. Arthur K. Whitcomb, of the school board, sent a personal communication to the board of police recommending against the granting of a liquor license in that locality owing to the fact that it was close to the Cross street school. The communication sent to the board of police by Supt. Whitcomb and which was read at this morning's meeting was as follows:

Lowell, Mass., April 22, 1910. Mr. Frank K. Stearns, Chairman Police Board. Dear Sir:—I see by the newspapers that your board has before it a petition for a liquor license at the corner of Mount Vernon street and Broadway and that action is deferred because of remonstrants. Now, I know nothing further of either petition or remonstrance, but on general principles I desire to keep the schools as far from the saloon as is possible, and if I can, personally, do anything to protect the Cross street school, the school nearest the location named, I feel bound to do so. Please count me, therefore, as a remonstrant. The school board has a meeting next Tuesday, and if it is desirable I will bring the matter to the attention of the board at that time, and get an official expression of opinion. At present I can speak only for myself. Very truly yours, Arthur K. Whitcomb, Supt. of Schools.

At the meeting of the school board held last Tuesday night the members of the board agreed with Supt. Whitcomb that the granting of a license to Mr. Barry in the location where he applied should be opposed and authorized Supt. Whitcomb, who is the secretary of the board, to enter objections to the granting of a license in that locality. It will be remembered that when the licenses were granted by the board, three were held up, one of them being the application of Mr. Barry, the board at that time being of the opinion that the location was not a suitable one. Prior to the hearing this morning the board received a communication from Supt. Whitcomb of the school department to the effect that he would be unable to appear at this morning's meeting, and would like to have the hearing postponed in order that he might be heard. Henry F. Whiting, a trustee of the Phineas A. Whiting estate, the place where Mr. Barry applied for a license, informed the board that he favored the granting of a license in the building at the corner of Broadway and Mt. Vernon street, and Charles H. Noble, representing his brother, George H. Noble, also favored the granting of Mr. Barry's license. At the conclusion of the hearing the board decided to take the matter under consideration and report at a special meeting which will be held Monday morning.

Hotel License Granted
At the meeting this morning the board granted an innholder's license to Charles M. Dickey and Foster S. Thurston of the firm of C. M. Dickey & Co., licensees of the New American house. The granting of this license was held up owing to a technicality, the number on one door in the rear of the hotel having been left out when the application was made.

Use of Screens Allowed
The petition of several innholders that the use of certain screens be allowed in dining room windows in hotels was considered by the board this morning and it was voted to allow the hotels to use screens on certain dining room windows.

Yes and No

Thomas H. Kelley had petitions for an auctioneer and pawnbroker's license. It was voted to grant him the auctioneer's license, while a hearing will be held next Tuesday morning at ten o'clock relative to the pawnbroker's license.

JAMES T. HORNBY

Well Known Druggist Passed Away Today
The many friends of James T. Hornby, for many years druggist at Plunkett's drug store, but more recently connected with O'Brien's drug store in Broadway, will be deeply pained to learn of his death which occurred this morning at St. John's hospital after a brief illness with pneumonia. He was a native of Lowell and lived in St. Peter's parish nearly all his life. He is survived by two brothers, George of Providence, R. I. and William Hornby of this city and one nephew, Lester G. Hornby, the well known artist.

ROBBERS FOILED

They Failed to Get Any Booty
Worcester, April 30.—Burglars made two unsuccessful attempts yesterday morning to blow open the large safe in the main office of the Whittins Manufacturing company of Whittinsville. The job was a bungling one, and from the condition in which the place was found the authorities think it the work of some one familiar with the town and the company's office.

It was the former rule to pay men off Friday and the money for the pay roll brought to the works Thursday night. This has not been done of late and the burglars had their work for naught. The entrance to the factory was by the use of jimmies, the front door being pried. The safe was badly damaged, but not opened.

COLONIAL DAMES MEET

Boston, April 30.—Without contest the Colonial Dames of America have elected the following officers for the next term at the tenth biennial council now in session here:
President, Mrs. R. W. Cox of Virginia; secretary, Mrs. C. B. Miller of Delaware; treasurer, Mrs. A. J. Cassett of Pennsylvania; registrar, Mrs. N. T. Bacon of Rhode Island; historian, Miss Alice French of Iowa.
As honorary president, Mrs. Howard Townsend of New York was chosen. The question of the society contributing to the fund for the erection of brass tablets to the signers of the declaration of independence in the national cathedral of St. Peter and Paul in this city will be settled at today's session.

U. S. SENATOR LORIMER

Accused of Securing His Election by Bribery

CHICAGO, April 20.—According to a copyrighted story printed in this morning's issue of a local newspaper, it has in its possession a sworn statement by Charles White, a member of the lower house of the Illinois legislature from the 49th district, charging that William Lorimer was elected to the United States senate last May by bribery and corruption.

White, who is a democrat in his nature, says that he received $1000 for voting for Lorimer. This money, he alleges, was paid him by Leo O'Neil Browne, democratic leader of the last legislature. White also says that he received $800 more from the "jackpot," a term applied to alleged ranch distorting at the close of each session of the legislature. The $300, White alleges, was paid him by Robert E. Wilson, also a member of the legislature.

PEOPLE OF BOSTON

May be Obligated to go Without Milk Tomorrow

BOSTON, April 30.—The question whether Boston will be milkless through the farmers' strike is expected to be answered sometime today. Many of the large consumers have hoped that the controversy between the producers and the contracting handlers in this city over the price for an 8 1/4 quart can might find a solution before the expiration of the three years agreement tonight. But every day has shown both sides to be steadfast, the farmers demanding a continuance of the winter scale of 3 1/4 cents a can, while the contractors maintain that 25 cents a can during the summer is a sufficient price. The consumer who pays the bills is in a hard position for it is either higher price per quart or no milk. The Producers' Association officials claim that unless an agreement is reached today, some 30,000 out of the 40,000 cans of milk which Boston consumes daily will be withheld by the farmers after tonight. The Boston district includes the farms in a radius of about 100 miles and shipments are made morning and night to half a dozen contractors in this city, who distribute the milk to the consumers in glass jars and small cans. The farmers have no other means of selling their product, for a system as quick, cold and cleanly introduced as required and a recent outbreak of scarlet fever has shown that the utmost care is necessary.

THE ARCHBISHOP HE HAS RESIGNED

Will be in Lowell Police Commissioner Tomorrow

Convicted of Larceny

The eleventh mass meeting of the Middlesex county branch of the American Federation of Catholic Societies will be held in Associate hall, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. William O'Brien, permanent rector of St. Patrick's church, will preside. The principal speaker will be Archbishop O'Connell. Among others who will make addresses will be Timothy W. Haley, president of the branch, P. Sarsfield Cunliffe, Charles T. Daly, Hon. James H. Vahey, Rev. Ambrose Roche, county chaplain, and Rev. David J. Toomey, D. D., director of Diocesan Press of Boston.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—Harry P. Flanner, president of the San Francisco police commission, who yesterday was indicted for grand larceny in connection with a recent raid on a pool room in Sausalito, resigned his office today. His resignation was accepted by Mayor McCarthy. Flanner declares he is the victim of a conspiracy.

Notice to Advertisers

The publisher of The Sun regrets that owing to the unusually large number of advertisements received for yesterday's editions, it was a mechanical impossibility to get those advertisements arriving late, ready in time for publication. Advertisers who were late in getting in their copy and who find their advertisements omitted will, therefore, understand the reason.

It would be well for advertisers to take notice of this and send in their ads. a day ahead, if possible, especially when a rush may be expected as is usually the case on Thursdays and Fridays.

6 O'CLOCK SPEAKER CANNON

The Guest of Middlesex Club in Boston

BOSTON, April 29.—Speaker Joseph Cannon was the guest today of the Middlesex club, a republican organization, which celebrates Grant's birthday tonight at the Somerset hotel. The club will also hear from former Governor Black and Congressman McIlroy of New York.

"Hello, Sam," shouted Uncle Joe as he made a youthful leap from the Washington train this morning and was greeted by former Congressman Samuel E. Powers. The speaker was in a jolly mood and for a few minutes there was a sparkling interchange of remarks. Half a dozen of the club's officials breakfasted with the speaker after which there was a brief tour of the city following which the speaker met Governor Draper, several federal officials and a score of business men at a lunch at the Exchange club.

Congressman John W. Weeks, who is Mr. Powers' successor from the 11th district accompanied the speaker from Washington and one of the house stenographers was also in the party.

CITY HALL MAN

Heavy Damages in Connection With Abolition of Grade Crossings—Third Car Sprinkler Will Start Tomorrow

John Downing, an engineer at city hall, has been appointed smoke inspector for Lowell. Mayor Mehan made the appointment today, and Mr. Downing will accept. Mr. Downing looks after the boilers at city hall and is on the city messenger's pay roll. The smoke inspector will serve without pay as the law does not provide for any remuneration.

The Star Theatre

The Star theatre will not open tomorrow, Sunday. Complaints relative to the interruption to services by the concerts in the theatre were lodged with the mayor by members of the First Congregational church, and the mayor decided to allow the theatre to open on Sunday. The hours that the theatre was allowed to open did not conflict with the hours of church services, but it seems that they did disturb the pastor in his study during the afternoon. Mayor Mehan says he will not allow the theatre to open on Sunday until such action is agreeable to Mr. Willmott and his congregation.

Grade Crossing Matter

It was stated today that there would be heavy damages as a result of the abolition of the grade crossings in Walker, School, Plain and Lincoln streets and the aldermen at their meeting Tuesday evening will appoint somebody to represent the city in the assessment of damages. City Engineer Downing will be the man, as he has to do with the work and is familiar with it. The city will be called upon to pay ten per cent of the damage.

Sewer Work Started

Work on the East Merrimack street and Plummet avenue sewers has begun a few days ago and work has also been started on the Cumberland road sewer. The work of smooth paving will probably be begun about May 10, as Frank Mallory, the man who will supply the blocks, says he will have them on hand on or before that date. Prescott street will be the first to receive the attention of the smooth pavers.

The Third Sprinkler

The third car sprinkler will appear in the streets tomorrow. The contract reads that the third car shall start on May 1. The car arrived here several days ago.

IMPOSING SERVICE

And Public Procession Commemorative of Death of Christ

THE GREEK CHURCH IN LEWIS STREET

Four Thousand Greeks Turned Out in Street Procession in Which Was Borne a Great Floral Catafalque — Arrangements for Easter Service

Tomorrow will be Easter Sunday in the Greek colony and will be solemnly observed at the Greek church and will be the occasion of feasting and entertainment in the houses. All Greeks on Easter morn exchange the kiss of peace, saying: "Christ is Risen."

The late pedestrian in the vicinity of the Greek colony last night must have been deeply impressed upon seeing about 11 o'clock a long procession of men in uniform and in civilian attire all bearing lighted candles and escorting a large floral catafalque. The procession was a feature of the service of Epitaphias, or Burial of Christ, a service incidental to the observance of Good Friday in the Greek church.

The Good Friday services took place in the church in Lewis street at 8 o'clock last evening. At the opening of the service the interior of the church was packed while the streets in the vicinity were thronged with men, women and children. Near the sanctuary, and before the altar was placed a huge floral catafalque, over which rose a floral cross, surmounted in turn by a floral cross and trimmed with candles. On the catafalque lay a sacred gregation. The sidewalks along the line of march were crowded with spectators while red fire was burned, candles illumined the windows of the houses and were carried by those in the parade. It would appear that every one of the 10,000 or more Greeks in Lowell were in the street during the progress of the procession. As the men marched they chanted: "Lord, have mercy" in their native tongue. The procession passed through Lewis, Little, Dummer, Market, Adams and Suffolk streets and back into the church where the catafalque was deposited before the altar where it will remain until Easter morn.

A RIOT CALL

POLICEMAN WAS THUMPED BY A CROWD

BOSTON, April 30.—Saugus town hall, situated in the heart of Saugus last night was the scene of a dance, considerable "crap shooting," and an assault upon an officer which caused the sounding of the riot call and the summoning of two dozen officers.

The hall was engaged for a dance by an organization calling itself the Eranos club. The dancing began early, and so, it is said, did illegal dice play.

When Patrolman Edwin Hazel discovered that the latter was going on he attempted to interfere, but was mauled and thumped by a crowd of young men. They proved too much for him and he fled down the stairs, screaming for help.

This sudden interruption to the ordinarily placid life of Saugus so alarmed the keeper of the lockup that he sounded the riot call and every available patrolman was rushed to the scene. There they were unable to identify any of their fellow officers' associates and the dance proceeded with the officers' watchfully grouped about the hall.

LOSS IS $80,000

Disastrous Fire Broke Out in Providence Today

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 30.—Fire which broke out near the elevator well on the second story of the Blackstone building at 29 Weybosset street early today completely gutted that structure. The monetary loss is estimated at $80,000.

Starting near the elevator well in the rear of the building from some unknown cause the flames shot up through the shaft and when the firemen arrived the entire building was a mass of flames. Almost immediately the blaze burst through the roof of the building and for a time it was feared that seven wooden buildings nearby on Weybosset and Westminster streets would be destroyed, but with apparatus from all stations in the central part of the city fighting the fire, it was confined to the Blackstone block. The fire was not under control until three hours after the first alarm had been sounded by Patrolman Howard Paine, who while patrolling his beat in that vicinity heard the crackling of the flames and pulled in an alarm.

The building, which was a five story structure, was occupied on the ground floor by Currag & Burton and John R. White, coal dealers, and the offices of the Importers Distributing Co. The upper floors of the building were occupied by insurance companies, attorneys and real estate dealers. The offices of the Travelers Insurance Co. of Hartford, Conn., were practically destroyed. The loss to the building is partially covered by insurance.

IN POLICE COURT DEATH REPORT

Man Knocked Out in Fight Last Night With Causes Assigned for Past Week

There was a lively scene in the vicinity of "Power's" corner early last night when James Gaffney of this city and James Brooks of Lawrence got into a fight. Both men were under the influence of liquor at the time, but Brooks seemed to have the better of the argument, for his blows were so severe that Gaffney was sent down for the count and when it was found that he was unconscious the ambulance was called and he was taken to St. John's hospital and Brooks was placed under arrest.

During the progress of the fight Patrolmen J. A. Clark and E. J. Connors put in an appearance and Brooks was sent to the police station, where complaints of drunkenness and assault and battery were preferred against him.

It seems that after Gaffney was taken to the hospital last night he raised such a disturbance that the authorities turned him out of the place. Despite the fact that he was unconscious when he reached the hospital he recovered very quickly and in his intoxicated condition he made such a racket that he was ordered to leave the hospital.

When Brooks was arraigned in court this morning he entered pleas of guilty to the charges of drunkenness and assault and battery, and at the request of Deputy Hugh Downey the case was continued till Tuesday morning, the defendant being held under $200 bonds.

Settled Out of Court

In the case of Vasilios Pene, charged with assault and battery on Ebanthos Quovangalis on Tuesday night at 372 Adams street, counsel agreed to make a settlement out of court and the case was placed on file.

Drunken Offenders

Michael McDonald was in court this morning on a complaint charging him with being drunk. He was also in court yesterday morning under the name of Michael Fogarty and when he was arrested yesterday he said that his name was Patrick Regan. Judge Hedley inquired of Probation Officer Slattery if he knew the defendant, and Mr. Slattery said that he did, but had no faith in the man. He was sentenced to two months in jail.

John J. Mollay was arrested for being drunk, was sentenced to three months in jail.

There were two first offenders, who were fined $2 each, and one simple drunk was released by the probation officer.

MAN ROBBED WHILE HE WAS ENJOYING AN ELECTRIC SHOCK

NEW YORK, April 30.—Antonio Di Martino said in Essex market court yesterday that as he was on his way home to Corona on Wednesday evening he stopped in Delancey street to watch a man who was administering electric shocks from a battery for one cent a shock. Di Martino paid his cent and the operator turned on the current.

As the electricity passed through the handles into Di Martino's arms his wrists stiffened and he backed off into the crowd. Then he felt a hand steal into his pocket and took again. He tried to drop the handle the thief held but the electricity held him powerless. He shouted in Italian, but nobody understood him. While Di Martino fumed the thief backed out of the crowd.

Finally the operator thought the penny had been earned and switched off the current. Then Di Martino ran through the crowd, grabbed laborer Retchies, 20 years old, of 183 Osborne street, and had him arrested as the thief.

MANUAL TRAINING DISCUSSED BY MAINE TEACHERS

HALLOWELL, Me., April 30.—The annual convention of the Kennebec county teachers' association was held in city hall yesterday, about 200 public school teachers of this county, neighboring cities and towns being present. Orrin M. Holman, superintendent of schools of this city, was chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the convention and was assisted by G. F. Morse, George A. Safford and H. L. Nichols, members of the school board. The convention was also attended by St. Paul, Charles E. Tilton of the Bangor schools; and Dr. Frank E. Spaulding, superintendent of schools in Newton, Mass., spoke in the afternoon on the subject.

At the primary department session in the afternoon, Miss Clara L. Rice spoke on the possibilities of manual training in the primary grades. At the morning session Miss Maude E. Andrews of Augusta gave a reading and Principal Henry L. Upham of Augusta made an address on teachers' pensions.

WAGE INCREASE

FOR EMPLOYEES OF SUBURBAN STREET RAILWAY CO.

NEWTON, April 30.—Announcement was made today that the 1000 employees of the Suburban Street Railway Co. that they would be granted an increase in wages despite the fact that the company is losing money.

The increase for each man will range from one-half cent to one cent an hour, according to length of service with the company. The Consolidated Suburban St. R. Co. includes the Newton & Boston, Middlesex & Boston and the Lexington & Boston street railroads.

AERO CLUB MEET

NEW YORK, April 30.—Members of the Aero club of America, which is considering plans for the international aviation meet to be held in this country beginning Oct. 22, intimated today that New York was likely to be awarded the meet if required conditions were met.

"Since Glenn H. Curtiss, a member of the Aero club, won the trophy, which entitles this country to the meet," said W. W. Miller, a member of the club's executive committee, "it seems only right that New York should be favored in the matter. If a member of a western club had won the cup it is only natural that preference should have been shown that city."

GRAND WELCOME MAYOR GAYNOR

Was Extended to Ex-Pres. Roosevelt Replies to the Statement of William R. Hearst

THE HAGUE, April 30.—Theodore Roosevelt was welcomed here at midday with astonishing demonstrations. The masses were waiting at the railway station and when he alighted from the train they swept him into his carriage. The police were powerless to check the violent rushes, in which numbers of persons were thrown to the ground.

Foreign Minister Swinderen, whose wife was Miss Bessie Glover, of Washington, D. C., received Col. Roosevelt on the platform in behalf of the government and drove with him in a court equipage through the decorated streets of the city to the Hotel Des Indes, near the American legation. In the party also were Kermit Roosevelt, Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Ethel left Amsterdam on an earlier train and already were here when Col. Roosevelt arrived.

The great, orderly assemblage of townspeople, cheering and waving the Stars and Stripes and handkerchiefs, remained outside long after Col. Roosevelt had entered the hotel. Frequently the crowd broke into song and called for the American ex-president to appear. Finally he came out upon the balcony and bowed to the multitude, then withdrew. The crowd, however, remained some time afterwards, singing patriotic songs, and then dispersed.

Col. Roosevelt and his wife and children will be received today by the Queen Mother. In the afternoon he and his party will visit Delft, where is situated the palace in which William of Orange was assassinated, but now used as a museum, and various other interesting places.

Altogether Col. Roosevelt's visit yesterday to the land of his forefathers was a notable one. From the time that his train reached Roosendaal, on the frontier, until he retired here last night, the cordiality of the people towards him was remarkable. The people everywhere cheered him and waved the Stars and Stripes and handkerchiefs.

When Col. Roosevelt arrived at the summer home of the queen at Het Loo, the Prince Consort was standing on the front steps awaiting him. When the automobile containing the American party stopped, Prince Henry, without awaiting an introduction shook the American ex-president's hand warmly and assisted him to alight from the royal automobile which had brought the party from Arnhem. After meeting Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Ethel and Kermit, the prince had them shown to their rooms where they changed their clothes and afterwards were received by the queen in her small drawing room.

Queen Wilhelmina took Col. Roosevelt's arm when luncheon was announced and the Prince Consort escorted Mrs. Roosevelt. After the luncheon the queen remarked that she was sorry she could not show the little baby princess to the Americans, but that the baby and her husband had been vaccinated in the morning.

Col. Roosevelt and his party spent about two hours at Het Loo and would have lingered longer had they not been compelled to catch an early train for Amsterdam. To do this the party was conveyed in royal equipages to Apeldoorn.

The private saloon car which had been provided for the Americans by royal command, in some manner got lost so that the Roosevelts and Mr. and Mrs. Deaure took compartments in a first class car at Apeldoorn, whence they departed amid the cheers of hundreds of persons inside and outside the station.

During the trip the other passengers on the train walked in procession through the corridor to see Col. Roosevelt, who was reading a book, until the pages as he went, until the tumult of the waiting crowds in the Amsterdam station around him.

The burgomaster of Amsterdam and a delegation of prominent citizens received Col. Roosevelt and conducted him and his party to their carriage.

The great assemblage in the open square in front of the station uncovered as Col. Roosevelt appeared. The demonstration was entirely without organization. There were only a few policemen there to keep back the crowd. Col. Roosevelt and his party then were driven around the city to see the sights.

The editor of the Amsterdam Handelsblad, late yesterday, upon Col. Roosevelt's acceptance by telephone, arranged a public meeting in the Jeroen Church of Wateringshaus, and Col. Roosevelt spoke from the pulpit to about 800 persons, who filled the church. Among the figures in the stained glass windows of the edifice were those of Emerson and Carlyle.

"I'm glad to come back to the home of my forefathers," Col. Roosevelt began. "I am proud of the fact that I have good Dutch blood in my veins. My people left here before Rembrandt and Vermeer were known."

"I'm sorry that I can't speak the Dutch my grandfathers taught me. One cradle song I still remember. Here Col. Roosevelt recited a lullaby, a quaint old stanza, in which he figured, to the delight of his hearers. He then spoke on citizenship, praising Holland for the sturdy qualities of the country, which had maintained itself for many centuries and had taught the lesson that no one could escape from being governed—that either he must govern himself or somebody else must do it for him. Each man, he said, must insist on his rights, but more important he should remember the duties and responsibilities he owed to his neighbors.

Farther on in his speech Col. Roosevelt said that if the rich men maintained an arrogant attitude in their relations toward those less well off, they may expect the dreadful day of judgment upon themselves or those who come after them.

He was cheered enthusiastically after his address and the organ "Swal" with "The Star Spangled Banner."

Early last evening the municipality of Amsterdam gave a dinner to Col. Roosevelt. Forty covers were laid, but the members of the press were not admitted. During the dinner the burgomaster drank a toast to Col. Roosevelt, and the American ex-president responded in a neat speech.

After the dinner Col. Roosevelt left for this city.

WOUND ON HEAD

Man's Body Found on River Bank

NEWBURYPORT, April 30.—The body of John P. Jordan of Fleet street, Haverhill, was found on the Salisbury shore of the Merrimack river at the estate of Prof. Marcus D. Buel of Boston university yesterday afternoon by Wesley J. Bailey, who was rowing a boat upstream. The local police were notified and the body was brought to an undertaker's rooms here.

Medical Examiner R. C. Hurd found a bad wound on the left side of Jordan's head at the temple. It was round in shape and fresh blood was oozing from it. No fracture of the skull was found, and Mr. Hurd thought the injury might have been received after death.

Dr. Hurd will communicate with Dist. Atty. Peters of Haverhill in regard to an autopsy.

Jordan wore a mixed suit of clothes, gray sweater, laced shoes and black negligee shirt. On his suspenders was a nickel badge, bearing the inscription "Telegraph No. 99399 Mass. Mutual Accident Association, Boston, Mass., and identify me." Letters in his pocket identified him.

City Marshal McLean notified the Haverhill police and learned that Jordan was last seen in that city about two weeks ago.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Mayor Gaynor and William Randolph Hearst both issued statements last night on the issue of veracity raised Thursday night at the joint banquet of The Associated Press and the Newspaper Publishers' association, when the mayor said that Mr. Hearst was a forger and falsifier. Supplementary statements were issued by Comptroller Prendergast, ex-Comptroller Metz and the district attorney's office, following rumors that was a possibility of future legal proceedings, as a result of the mayor's address Thursday night. Hearst says:

"I am not entirely familiar with all the accusations against Mayor Gaynor, or his attempt to divert attention from them by an attack on the American. I have just returned from Mexico."

"It is obvious to anyone, however, that the mayor's defense is false upon its face."

"His attack upon the American is entirely disingenuous and wholly untruthful."

"His only claim, when it is analyzed, is that the American failed to print clearly the date of a photographic facsimile of one of the documents in the case against him, although the American carried the same date of the same document clearly printed in type in the text of the article."

"What a petty quibble for an important man, or rather what a quibble for a petty man who holds an important position."

The statement then goes into details to prove the truth of the article which Mayor Gaynor charged to be false.

"Finally, anybody who can read and think can see clearly that the date in question is not the important date, anyhow, but that the important date of Jan. 4, a date in Mayor Gaynor's administration upon which the payment to Cohalan of $48,000 was finally signed and actually authorized. The January 4th signature was affixed by the assistant chamberlain in the office of Chamberlain Hyde, Mr. Gaynor's law partner."

"Mr. Gaynor says the American does not answer clearly."

Never Put Off Until To-morrow The Pill You Should Take To-night

Procrastination is the enemy of health—comfort at least should remind you not to forget. Beecham's Pills should be always on hand, so that when not feeling up to the mark, before your light goes out, you have taken your dose. The action of the pills insures good sleep and you wake fit and well. They are mild but vigorous enough to remove obstruction and to restore to normal the affected organs. A clear eye, head and brain fit to cope with all comers, follow the use of

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Men, women and children are not only stronger and brighter, but in every respect better. The mind acts quicker after taking Beecham's Pills—everything becomes more natural—the vigor and vitality are remarkable. If you have never used Beecham's Pills, get a box and try them the next time you have an attack of indigestion, biliousness, sick headache or any ailment arising from stomach, liver or bowels.

It is easier to overcome these troubles before chronic conditions become established so that it is advisable to take the pills as soon as nature asks for assistance. It is important to remember that when the digestive functions have been perverted by disease, the general health undergoes rapid deterioration and a serious breakdown may occur, if proper measures are neglected, but Beecham's Pills if

Man's Body Was Terribly Mangled

ELLSWORTH, Me., April 30.—His clothing catching on a shaft which was revolving at the rate of 20 revolutions a minute in the mill of Whitcomb, Haynes & Co., F. P. Witham, aged about 60, was almost instantly killed today. His body was terribly mangled and the back of his skull was crushed in. Witham was employed in the mill. He leaves a wife and five children.

STOLE BICYCLE

YOUNG MAN ARRESTED IN BILLERICA

Jos. Martin, aged 19 years, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Police Officers Conway and Livingston on a warrant charging him with the larceny of a bicycle valued at $50 in Wallingford, Conn., last November. The young man was arrested at his father's house in the southeastern part of the town where he has been staying for the past several weeks.

The theft was committed, it is alleged, when Martin was working in Wallingford and the owner of the wheel communicated by telephone with the Billerica officers to work the case on this end, as he had reasons to believe that Martin was in Billerica and had it in his possession. Officers Livingston and Conway went to Martin's home yesterday and asked him about the matter, but at first he denied any knowledge of the affair. He later admitted taking the bicycle and also produced it. Martin will be held for the Wallingford police.

WHIST PARTY

A pleasant whist party and concert was held at the rooms of the Pawtucketville Social club in Moody street, Thursday night. Mayor John F. Meenan was the guest of honor and spoke in a very interesting manner.

The program consisted of piano solos by Miss Ernestine Alexander; violin solos by Miss Eva Cing-Mars, accompanied on the piano by Miss Emma Cing-Mars; a reading by Henri Dalgic; a song by Philippe L. Lacroix; piano solos by Miss Blanche Larue and Alice Genest; and comic songs by Elzevir J. Larochelle.

The committee in charge was composed of Josephat Sawyer, president; Albert Hamel secretary; Olivia Brunelle, treasurer; Euclide Cing-Mars, Pierre Gagnon; a sub-committee was composed of Lisa Lacroix, Henri Gelinas and Wilfred Sawyer.

1910 Memorial Day on Monday, May 30

Present indications give promise of unusual opportunity for a beautiful Memorial Day observance. The season is at least two weeks in advance of normal. The present indications are that there will be an abundance of flowers.

Lot Owners at Lowell Cemetery are urged by the management to do everything possible to make the cemetery especially attractive, to take every advantage of the unusual season. In making over own lot owners to make special efforts, we hope to avail a general public interest that each and every burial place for the dead in Lowell shall show evidence that—

INFURIATED BULL

Made An Attack on a Red Automobile

It was reported from Tyngsboro yesterday that an infuriated bull had attacked a red automobile in that town and that in order to save enough of the "red devil" for post mortem purposes, it was necessary to leave the bull. The story here is that there were six passengers in the automobile, including two women, but no names were obtainable and there were no casualties.

The scene of the engagement is laid on the Dunstable road. It seems that the bull was one of a herd of cattle that was being driven toward Tyngsboro. The automobile was going in the opposite direction and in order not to frighten or do injury to the cattle the chauffeur stopped the car.

Everybody knows there is one color that a bull, a real live bull, will not stand for, and that is red. That's the color with which the bull is nagged on and made furious in the arena, by the bull fighter, and the automobile in question was of the crimson hue.

Had the automobile kept on going, things might have been all right, but the still red thing, snorting and panting, seemed to invite the bull to battle and on he marched, with nose to the ground and bellowing like mad.

His first clash was with the hood, which he tore from its moorings and while preparing himself for another onslaught the ready lasso was slipped about his horns, half-hitches were snapped about his legs and down he went. The chauffeur turned on the juice and the bull was released in time to see the enemy doing a Barney Oldfield stunt towards Dunstable.

WM. P. BRAZER

WELL KNOWN RESIDENT PASSED AWAY TODAY

William P. Brazer, for many years a well known business man in this city, died yesterday of his home, 459 E. Merrimack street. He was 89 years of age.

He had been in poor health some time, but recently had shown improvement.

Mr. Brazer was born in Groton, Mass., and came to this city as a young man. He was a merchant and had been in business at the corner of Market and Central streets, for nearly half a century. He retired from the firm of W. P. Brazer & Son about 10 years ago.

FIRE IN MILL

An alarm from box 61 at 11:12 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to a slight blaze in the boiler room of the Waterhead mill. A hot box set fire to some woodwork. The blaze was extinguished before much damage was done.

CENTRAL BLOCK

IMPROVEMENTS ARE BEING MADE IN THE BUILDING

Included in the improvements being made in the Central block in Central street is the putting in of a system for heated ice water. Pumps from which ice water can be drawn will be located on the second and fourth floors. The system was installed at the city hall over a year ago and is giving very good satisfaction. At the city hall there is an ice tank in the attic. Beneath the ice are coils of pipe through which the water flows, making it ice cold. The system is a great improvement over, and much more convenient, than the old tank system.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hilly of New York. Mrs. Hilly was formerly Miss Cora L. Heures of this city.

COCK OF THE WALK

Our 40c chocolate mixture at 25c a pound discounts everything of the kind that has ever been or is being offered in Lowell. It's a case of large sales and fair profits. JACK JOHNSON'S TRAINING QUARTERS AND HOW HE IS PREPARING FOR GREAT FIGHT

DESERTS HIS AUTO FOR THE SPECTACULAR

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 30.—Jack Johnson, who is laboring under the impression that he is going to maul one James J. Jeffries until he calls "enough," has arrived in this city and will begin active training for what promises to be the greatest fight in the history of the prize ring. Johnson has set May 7 as the proper time to go into the training camp. That will give him less than sixty days to harden his bronzed frame to withstand the mighty blows of the former Ironworker. With the negro's love for the spectacular, Johnson has secured a pair of burros and a wagon, and he says the driving of the burros will increase his lump of patience. "For I may have to wait a few rounds before I cop this man Jeffries on the jaw for the count of ten," Johnson says with all due modesty.

LATEST PICTURES OF JOHNSON, SHOWING HIM BEFORE HE STARTS HARD TRAINING

FOR MASCOT HE HAS YOUNG PIG

Having finished his theatrical engagements until after his fight with Jeffries, Jack Johnson will now begin hard training for the big mill at Ocean Beach, near San Francisco. The colored champion weighs 214 pounds at present and is in excellent shape to start hard work. The negro has laid out a strenuous schedule, which he intends to follow closely until the big fight. Johnson has engaged Tom Flanagan, the old time trainer of pe- so called trainers, but they will do what I instruct them to. I am not hiring anyone to tell me how to train. Joe Gans will be in my corner when I need advice, but in the actual preparation for the bout I will follow my own system. I will box with strong men and fast fellows, do road work, eat and sleep. Mind you, I do not say that I do not need training. It's trainers I do not want." Johnson's corps of helpers

INSPECTOR DOW

Condemns a Lot of Old Ram-shackled Buildings

Inspector Dow of the public buildings department is determined that he will do all in his power to add to the attractiveness of Lowell.

Mr. Dow is a firm believer in the "city beautiful" movement and he allows that he is alive to the possibilities that are offered for improvements in Lowell.

He says there are a lot of old buildings in Lowell, commonly called shacks, that will have to come down and the work of abolishing them has already started.

At the corner of Jefferson and Lewis streets three old houses, the property of I. A. Storm of New York city, are being torn down. Ezeal Greenberg is the lessee of this property. The old buildings have been an eyesore for years and Mr. Greenberg says that the property will be improved just as soon as conditions warrant. It is quite probable that a big new tenement house will take the place of the old buildings that are being torn down.

Other old shacks that the inspector will order removed are in Moody street opposite the Memorial building and are part of the old Moody house, properly which belongs to A. C. Wheelock. These old shacks and sheds are in a dilapidated condition and Mr. Dow says they must be gotten rid of at once. They are a menace to life and property.

Property adjoining the property where are located the old sheds or shacks and owned by William Spaulding, does not look very good to the inspector of buildings and he allows that some changes will have to be made there.

A. C. Wheelock wanted to build a big wooden building at 585 Merrimack street but the permit to build was denied him. It was not to be an entirely new building but was to be an addition or enlargement of the old wooden building that has stood there for years. "The building is a menace to public life and safety, and none of these will be allowed to stand in Lowell, so far as the statute and ordinances empower me to order them down," said Mr. Dow.

JIM JEFFRIES

EXPECTS TO RESUME TRAINING MONDAY

BEN LOMOND, Cal., April 30.—No regular training work, his trainers say, will be done by Jeffries between now and Monday. By that time, it is thought, Jeff will have fully recovered from his skin trouble and will be prepared for the grind of exercises. According to the trainers the enforced rest is doing Jeff much good although the big fighter frets over the delays.

John Kelly, a life timer at the penitentiary at Deerlodge has written Jeff asking his aid in securing a pardon. The convict sent Jeffries a horsehair watch box made by him in prison and begged that the fighter would raffle off a horsehair bridle for him at the ring-side on the day of the big battle.

TONIGHT'S BOUTS

TURKISH WRESTLER TO MAKE HIS DEBUT

When John Kilonis and Ali Ahmed, the Turkish wrestler, meet tonight in their wrestling bout at the C. M. A. F. hall, there should be some interesting work, for both men are in the best of condition, know the game and are out to win. The bout promises to be one of the speediest pulled off in this city in a long time.

No less interesting, however, will be the bout between Jim Prokes, the popular Greek wrestler of this city, and Romar Plazer, a Polish wrestler, who, his friends claim, is a wonder. This bout will be at catch weights and should prove unusually interesting.

"PATSEY" KLINE

KNOCKED OUT MCKAY IN SECOND ROUND

OUT IN FIRST ROUND

BROCKTON, April 30.—Bob Lefavor of this city, who formerly fought under the name of Kid Sullivan and who has been boxing for the past three years in the west, knocked out Jack Grant of East Boston in the first round of a scheduled eight-round bout at the Union A. C. last night.

Grant claimed a foul on the ground that the blow was low, but Referee Jim Peterson counted him out. The crowd wanted the bout to continue and Grant was willing, but his seconds pulled him out of the ring.

The round was all Lefavor's. He hit the east Boston boxer at will, knocking him down three times in succession.

Jimmy Reardon of Brockton knocked out Young Claus of Whitman in four rounds.

TWO CHINAMEN A $250,000 BOND

Are Engaged in a Law Suit

BOSTON, April 30.—Two Chinamen appeared in the superior court yesterday as principals in a lawsuit for the first time in the history of Suffolk county.

Last May Ong Shu Goon and Sam Foon Leon together bought a laundry business on Dartmouth street for $1200. Of this amount Goon paid $800 and Leon $200.

Business was extremely bad and in order to get new trade the two Celestials bought a horse and wagon and Leon, who spoke good English, went about soliciting. Last March Goon discovered that Leon had gone into a rival concern and had taken property belonging to the partnership, including the horse and wagon, which Goon found to be in the name of Leon.

Judge Richardson issued an injunction restraining Leon from using or disposing of the horse and other properties until the case has been tried.

DON'T LOSE HOPE IF YOU HAVE ECZEMA

Cadum, the New Remedy, Cures That Stubborn Disease.

Eczema, Salt Rheum and similar skin diseases rarely cure themselves, but grow worse from week to week until the sufferer is nearly driven mad. Do not waste time taking internal medicines, for the trouble must be attacked direct from the outside. Get a 10c trial box of Cadum, the new remedy, and apply it immediately. The itching will stop at once, and great improvement will be noticed over night. Complete cures follow in a short time. Cadum excludes the air and all poisonous particles and germs. It cures while the patient is at work, and is just as effective in other troubles, such as pimples, blotches, blackheads, eruptions, acne, herpes, scaly skin, rash, chafing, etc. Large box 25c.

STOCK MARKET

CLOSED ACTIVE AND WEAK THIS NOON

Anxiety Over Cotton Market's Speculative Position Caused Sales—U. P. Made An Extreme Decline

NEW YORK, April 30.—The absence of yesterday's sustaining buying discouraged holders of stocks and they sold freely. Northern Pacific broke 3 points; Union Pacific and Amalgamated 2 1/2. American Smelting 1 3/4. Reading and Delaware & Hudson 1 1/2. St. Paul 1 1/2 and many other important stocks a point or more. Bethlehem pfd. dropped 5 1/2 but rallied four points.

The market closed weak and active. Anxiety over the cotton market's speculative position was given as ground for the selling of stocks. The market showed little recuperative power. U. P. made an extreme decline of 3 1/2. Amal. Copper 4 1/2. Central. Ind. and Colorado & Southern first pt. 4. The second and third readings 2 1/4. American Smelting 2 3/4 and Southern Pacific, New York Central, U. S. Steel, National Lead, St. Paul, Pennsylvania, Anaconda and others 1 1/2 to 2. Pullman sold at an advance of 4 1/4.

Clearing House Statement

NEW YORK, April 30.—The statement of clearing house banks for the week shows that the banks hold $6,771,150 more than the requirements of the 26 per cent reserve rule. This is a decrease of $5,244,475 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week.

The statement follows:
Loans, increase $317,500.
Deposits, decrease $9,002,700.
Circulation, decrease $141,700.
Legal tenders, increase $1,559,400.
Specie, decrease $12,679,800.
Surplus reserve, $6,771,150; decrease $2,444,475.
R. U. S. deposits $7,174,450; decrease $3,222,050.

The percentage of actual reserve of the clearing house banks today was 26.37. The statement of the banks and trust companies of Greater New York not reporting to the clearing house shows:

Loans, increase $9,682,900.
Specie, increase $1,207,500.
Legal tenders, increase $89,800.
Total deposits, increase $5,569,200.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The George Primrose all star minstrel last night and entertained a fair sized audience. While a majority of the jokes were not as fresh as the daisy and the music not such as to win enthusiasm from the very precise critic, yet the entertainment as a whole was quite good. Mr. Primrose and George Wilson were on the ends and they kept things moving.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN"

"The survival of the fittest" is amply illustrated in the long life of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which has been before the public for more years than most of this paper's readers care to remember. This truly American stage classic's present day popularity has long furnished food for thought among producing managers, playwrights and the public generally. That it will never die, but live on forever, seems an assured fact insofar as the Stetson company is concerned. This famous dramatic organization is at the Opera House today, matinee and night, in an entirely new and up to date dress. For the season Manager Washburn secured a cast of all stage favorites, each member having been selected for his or her special fitness for the respective parts. The vaudeville numbers introduced throughout the action of the play are features to be seen only with the Stetson company.

Commencing tomorrow afternoon and evening the policy of high class vaudeville and moving pictures will be resumed at the Opera House. A concert will be given today with a new list of pictures, the Tremont Quartet and Eva Medora of the program. On Monday afternoon a good vaudeville bill will be seen together with a series of the latest moving pictures. On the program for the first three days of the week will be the Tremont Quartet, one of the best of its kind in vaudeville, and who will be favorably remembered as a feature of a recent Colonial theatre, Lawrence, Ill.; Moyer & Co., illusionist and magician; Fred Pizano, character comedian, and Mildred Elsa, singing and dancing character change artist. For the last three days of the week, Litter, Perry and Gibson, clever musicians and singers, will head the bill, assisted by Marlow & Plunkett, in a funny skill entitled "The Dent Student." Burns and Clifton, singers and dancers, and W. J. Holmes, character comedian. The pictures to be shown are all new and seen in Lowell for the first time. Performances are given at the Opera House every afternoon from 2 to 5, and two full shows are given at night, starting at 7 and 8.30. Tuesday night will be amateur night and a fine list of amateur talent has been secured. Prices are five and ten cents.

THEATRE VOYONS

Today's program at the Theatre Voyons is a pleasing one in every respect and it is all brand new and shows here for the first time "Judith," the story of the Hebrew woman who saved her native city by killing with her own hands the captain of the besieging army, is one of the most thrilling in biblical history and it is told most effectively in the picture version. Both shows a city in India and the comedy is a pleasing and laughable bill. "A Cowboy's Sweetheart" is a fine comedy drama and the songs are unapproachable. Tomorrow the usual high class concert will be given and

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

May Duryea and Company are making a decided hit at the Academy of Music in her sketch "The Imposter." It is full of good comedy from start to finish and Miss Duryea is an artist from top to toe, while Mr. Randall, of the company, is pleasing to look upon and a good actor. Will Campbell is one of the best jugglers seen here in a long while, and there are new pictures including a great biography. Admission, 5 and 10 cents. Concert on Sunday.

STAR THEATRE

"The Cowboy and the Squaw" a western melodrama, is the talking picture which is being presented at the Star theatre by a capable company of actors. It is just like a play, the characters speak. There are several other motion picture subjects, comic and dramatic. The Illustrated songs, "Baby Blue" and "That Italian Rag," are hits. The admission of five cents includes a seat.

ARTHUR J. MARTEL
Musical Director

They sat around tables, smoking cigarettes and cigars and drinking something out of huge steins. So natural and happy did they look that the male portion of the audience actually envied them. They were all in summer attire, carefree and with straw hats, and they looked far more comfortable than the audience. They were supposed to represent a bunch of college boys, who were to entertain one of their number who had just returned from the west. That one was Mr. Charles D. Slattery, the interlocutor, who as the guest of honor walked from table to table carrying the affair along instead of being the formal gentleman in the middle who addresses himself to "Mr. Bones" and "Mr. Tambo." The boys were all white face except the six waiters, who were colored, and as might be guessed these were the end men of the occasion. In the rear of the palm garden was the inevitable piano and its player, but in this case it was no ordinary palm garden ivory tickler, but one of New England's most celebrated performers, Prof. Arthur Martel, who officiated as musical director and accompanist, and if you ever want to hear a singer properly accompanied on a piano just listen to Arthur Martel some time.

A feature of the musical program was a very catchy song entitled "Sons of Uncle Sam" composed by Prof. Martel and Thomas Long and sung last evening for the first time in public. The solo was taken by John J. Dalton and everybody got in on the chorus. That it was an instantaneous hit was evidenced when at the end of the audience was whistling the air with the performers. The music is catchy and a true patriotic ring, the kind that gets you going, while the words are much more acceptable than those of most popular songs. Prof. Martel will place his song on the market at once and undoubtedly it will be widely heard from. Between the songs and choruses, the waiters got in a lot of soft talk, a feature of which was the local stuff which was right up to the minute and discussed Mayor Neenan, the police commissioner, Alderman Jere Connor, the present member of the board of aldermen, and the smoke nuisance. Most of the local soft talk came in Wm. Warren's song, "None of Them Got Anything on Me," which he handed out in faultless manner.

A song hit that tied with "Sons of Uncle Sam" was Ed Shout's "None of Them Got Anything on Me," which he handed out in faultless manner. A song hit that tied with "Sons of Uncle Sam" was Ed Shout's "None of Them Got Anything on Me," which he handed out in faultless manner.

numbers, and the Glendale quartet, consisting of Messrs. Maguire, Golden, Curry and McNulty, also pleased the crowd. "The Sons of Uncle Sam" was then sung.

"Black Salome," sung by Luke McDonald and acted by Hugh Flynn was a close second to the previous number so far as popularity with the crowd was concerned. The finale was "Betsy Ross," given by Henry Curry and chorus.

The stage decorations and stage effects were by Frank McCartin, Edward Burke and Charles Young.

At the conclusion of the entertainment general dancing was started and continued until after midnight. Kirtledge's orchestra furnished the music for the dancing.

The officers of the dance were: Manager, Charles D. Slattery; assistant manager, Luke McDonald; floor director, Martin Maguire; assistant floor directors, Frank Connor, Frank Golden; chief

FOR COLUMBUS DAY

The Bill Signed Making It a Legal Holiday

Gov. Draper yesterday afternoon signed the bill making Columbus day, Oct. 12, a legal holiday. Gov. Draper is the 18th governor to sign such a bill. This gives to Massachusetts eight holidays, as follows:

Washington's birthday.....February 22
Patriots day.....April 19
Decoration day.....May 30
Independence day.....July 4
Labor day.....First Monday in September
Columbus day.....October 12
Thanksgiving.....Last Thursday in Nov.
Christmas day.....December 25

The other states which keep Columbus day as a holiday are: California, Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Kentucky.

There is no national holiday, even Independence day being a day set apart by the governments of the various states. The presidential proclamation designating a day of thanksgiving makes that day legal only in the District of Columbia.

There are 11 days in the year, however, which are widely observed as holidays, and in several states the date of its birth into the Union or the date of some special historical happening incidental to that state alone is added to its days of merrymaking. All Sunday, Nov. 1, in Louisiana, and primary election day in three states are observed as legal holidays.

Holidays in Each State

Even with the addition of Columbus day, Massachusetts still lags behind many of the states in the number of legal holidays provided by the state government.

Following is a list of the states and territories with the number of holidays in each:

Florida, 13; Alabama, 12; Montana, 12; New Jersey, 12; Pennsylvania, 12; Texas, 12; California, 11; Colorado, 11; Georgia, 11; Louisiana, 11; Maryland, 11; North Carolina, 11; Wyoming, 11; Connecticut, 10; Delaware, 10; Michigan, 10; Minnesota, 10; Missouri, 10; Nevada, 10; New York, 10; South Carolina, 10; Tennessee, 10; Utah, 10; Wisconsin, 10; Arizona, 9; Arkansas, 9; Illinois, 9; Indiana, 9; Iowa, 9; Maine, 9; New Mexico, 9; North Dakota, 9; Oklahoma, 9; Rhode Island, 9; South Dakota, 9; Virginia, 9; Washington, 9; West Virginia, 9; Idaho, 8; Kentucky, 8; Massachusetts, 8; Mississippi, 8; Nebraska, 8; New Hampshire, 8; Oregon, 8; Vermont, 8; Alaska, 7; District of Columbia, 7; Ohio, 7; Kansas, 6.

tees Crowe, Lady Pearson, Mrs. Asquith and others. All gladly agreed to hold open dates for approximately a week until the exact date could be assigned. As an afterthought Mrs. Cornwallis-West went to Paris to get Mr. Roosevelt to agree to a date. To her surprise, he absolutely declined to accept her invitation. Mrs. Cornwallis-West was in a particularly nervous frame of mind anyhow, as the king had just declined to act as sponsor and patron for her Shakespearean theatre. She became really peevish over Roosevelt's refusal and had to return to London and withdraw all her invitations. She is saying the most unkind things about her distinguished countryman.

SERG. MORLEY OF PITTSBURG DECLINED TO BE TAFT'S GUEST

PITTSBURG, April 30.—Why Police Sergeant Thomas J. Morley of the Pittsburgh police force declined to be the guest of President Taft at the banquet given here or attend the ball game with the president is best told in a signed statement. The fact that Sergeant Morley is known as the duplicate of the president in appearance at least is not causing the police officer any loss of sleep. Here is Morley's statement: "In refusing after careful thought the invitation of my friend to come as President Taft's double to sit beside him at the ball game and banquet to be given in his honor May 2, I desire to inform my friends and the public in general of the motives which influence my decision. 'Tis not that I do not appreciate the good intentions of my friend in tendering the invitation or that I am not a great admirer of William H. Taft as president, as a man of high attainments and great judicial ability, nor is it because I do not appreciate the honor it would be to sit beside the president of a great nation at such auspicious occasions, but it is on account of my retiring disposition and the dislike of too much notoriety. I would deem it a great favor to meet the president under other circumstances, and I trust my refusal in this instance will not be misunderstood by the public in general and President Taft and my friend in particular."

WANT MORE PAY

Carpenters Demand an Increase

The demand of the carpenters' union of this city for a minimum wage of 40 cents per hour, instead of 35 cents per hour, as it is at the present time, was refused at a meeting of the master carpenters held last night, but the latter agreed to compromise by offering 37 1/2 cents an hour as the minimum.

The meeting proved to be a rather lengthy one, and the matter was discussed from various points of view. The master carpenters will immediately notify the carpenters' union through the official channels.

A movement for an increase in wages was started by the carpenters some time ago, and recently the master carpenters were sent a circular letter to the effect that the union would insist on the new wage scale going into effect on Monday, May 2.

Some eight master carpenters, employing large forces in their work, have already agreed to the terms of the union, but the rest, some 25 in number, had up till last night, taken no action in the matter.

The union officials state that they do not desire anything in the line of a strike, and it is probable that when the offer of the majority of master carpenters is made known to them a conference will be held on the matter.

The increase asked for by the union would mean an advance in day wages from $2.50 to $3.20.

The difference now awaiting settlement is not worth fighting over.

The carpenters will probably decide the matter tomorrow afternoon at a meeting at their hall at 2:30 o'clock.

RUSSELL CASE WILD ANIMALS

A Great Collection From Far East

BOSTON, April 30.—The most wonderful collection of wild animals ever brought to Boston from the far east arrived last evening on the Castle line steamship Muncaster Castle, from Japan, China and Strait Settlements. The entire cargo deck was filled with cages and boxes containing the beasts.

Capt. Watson, the commander of the steamer, who owns the entire menagerie, was mourning the loss of a royal Bengal tiger when the reporter boarded the freighter on her way up the harbor.

The Muncaster Castle came from Shanghai, Karatzy, Hongkong, Singapore, Cebu, Calcutta, Tellichere and Amoy. Besides her valuable collection of animals she brought merchandise worth more than $1,000,000. Hundreds of tons of fireworks, great quantities of sandalwood, pepper, spices, rattans, human hair, tea, curios, Chinese groceries, tapica, jellies, etc., filled the hold. More than 4,000 tons will be landed here, and about the same amount will be taken around to New York.

Capt. Watson said the Muncaster Castle had to pay $7500 toll passing through the Suez canal. He said the length of the canal is 50 miles, while the Panama canal will be 50 miles. He thought a vessel like the Muncaster Castle would have to pay about $5000 to pass through the Panama canal and he believed that when completed the canal will be a great asset to this country.

Gown For the Sweet Girl Graduate

WHAT SHE'LL WEAR WHEN SHE GETS HER SHEEP-SKIN THIS YEAR.

THE sweet girl graduate is spending every spare minute she can from "exams" and "trams," those nerve racking tests of mentality, to the selection of materials and styles for the gown in which she hopes to look her prettiest on the great occasion when she shall receive her sheepskin. The graduation frock is second only in importance to the coming out and wedding gowns, but it is even harder to select, for the ingenuity of the designer is taxed to the utmost to keep the frock strictly within the limits of the newest there is in the world of modes and yet have it youthful and girlish in appearance. But this season, when styles all favor the ingenuities, the choice is comparatively easy. But, my dear girl, beware of deciding upon the two waisted model, as the new skirt tied in closely about the knees by a ribbon sash has been dubbed by a witty member of the male sex. Walking in such a costume is not a thing of grace at any time, and a girl is apt on graduation day to be a bit self-conscious and a trifle awkward, so don't help along the cause by appearing in a skirt that is bound to make you "tumble all over yourself."

The gowns illustrated are French models that make for simplicity and smartness in a graduation costume. They have the required slinky effect about the feet without the suggestion of the tied in appearance that is so unbecoming. The skirts are plaited about the waist, but as all textures used this season are so soft and pliable it is found possible to give an effect of real gathers and shirings without adding perceptibly to the most exaggerated slimness. The first secret of this is the absolutely perfect fit of the under-dress or lining. Since the outer texture is so very soft and often of transparent weave it is the lines of the under-sleeve, therefore, which show the real silhouette of the dress. In the gowns seen in the illustration the slips are of white silk. The more elaborate model has an underskirt of white chiffon, at the bottom of which is a ruffle shirred on cords. The overskirt is of embroidered net, weighted with a hem of soft satin. The full gathered waist is of net cut round above the bust.

The puffed cap sleeves are in one with the bodice and are outlined with a narrow line of embroidery. The undersleeves are of shirred chiffon. And, aprons of the drooping shoulder line caused by sleeve and bodice being cut in one, it is well to build up that same shoulder piece by placing a small silk or chiffon ruffle in the lining at the top of the sleeve. But, to come back for a minute to the frock described, a tucker of lace forms the square low neck effect, and the girde is of folded chiffon.

The other model is of white cotton

GOWN OF WHITE COTTON VOILE

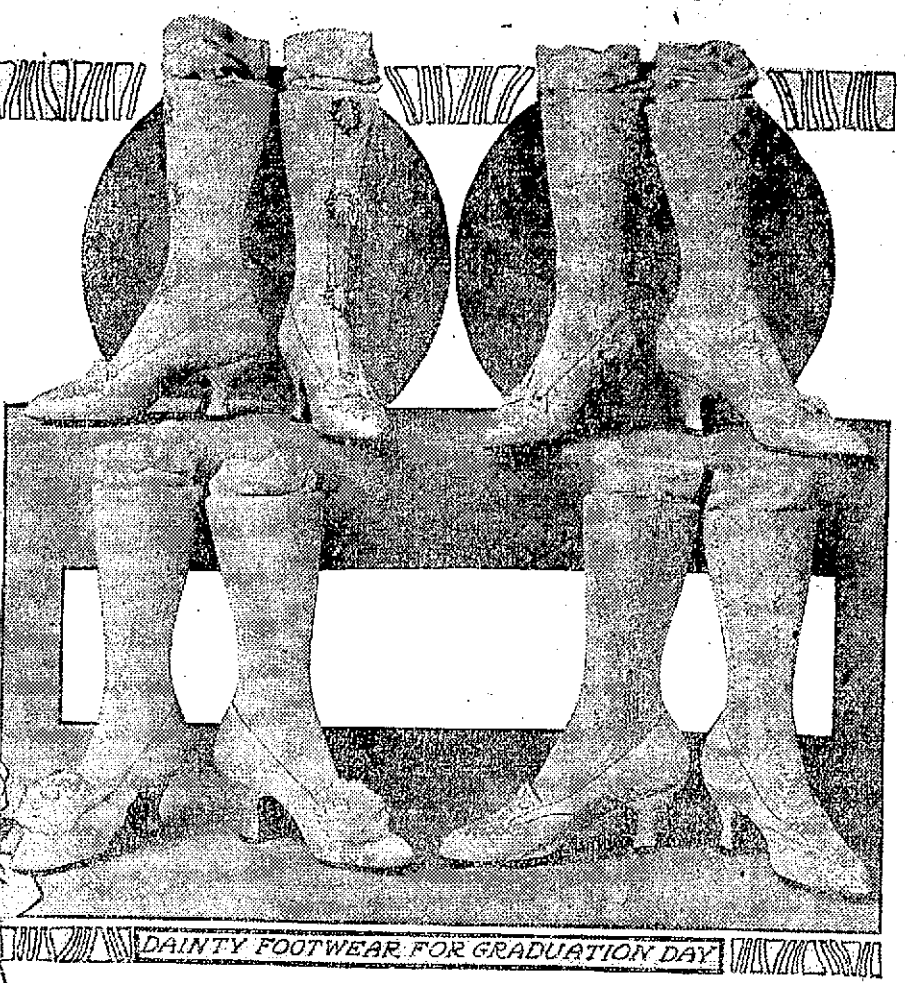

voile, than which there is no prettier and less expensive material for the graduation gown. The full skirt is trimmed with a deep band of dotted net, which in turn is run with Valenciennes lace. The bodice has an odd little bolero formed by a ruffle of the voile, and a deep girde outlines the little jacket effect. A killed full of net softens the round neck. The draped sleeves are caught in the center with corded pearl ornaments. Ornaments of pearls also finish the ribbon streamers which hang from the girde down the front of the skirt.

In all the sheer wash fabrics and in chiffon, voile and the many gauzes it is possible this season to carry out a style of dress that has not been available for some years past—that is, the high girde bodice with a skirt shirred or gathered over the hips. The bodice that accords with this model is of the the goods finished at the edge with a three inch corded ruff. The ends of the bertha are gathered up closely into a choker at the center of the back. The folds then broaden out gradually over the shoulders and round almost to the waist line in front, where

The ribbons cross in such a fashion that the roses come a little to the top and bottom of the center front and back waist lines. By the way, the newest girde shows a pretty waist line, placed exactly in its natural position, not exaggeratedly

CATHERINE TALBOT.

HOW TO FEED AN INVALID

FEW things are more difficult than to get a sick person to take nourishing food, and no task, as a rule, is more managed. Amateur nurses may be successful in other matters, but they generally make a failure of the food proposition.

The nurse is usually to blame when the patient will not take food. She will bring a huge saucer full of jelly or a large cup of beef tea to him, and he will reject it with disgust, because the sight of so much food is distasteful. If she brings a few spoonfuls at a time and serves them daintily he will be glad to eat.

Give little food at a time and give it often. That which is eaten willingly and with relish is far better than double the amount swallowed with disgust.

If a time is fixed for the invalid's meals always be punctual. If kept waiting most sick people will refuse food when brought to them.

Be careful never to leave food in the sickroom in the hope that the patient may eat it later on. Miss Florence Nightingale, the world's most famous nurse, says this will prevent him from taking food at all. In nine cases out of ten a sick person's appetite is capricious, and because he enjoyed a certain dish one day there is no reason to imagine that he will like it the next; therefore food should be as varied as possible.

Don't rely too much on beef tea. It is a useful stimulant, but not really nourishing, as most people suppose.

Be careful to serve everything in the daintiest style. Glass should be bright, silver burnished, napkins lily white and saucers free from spots. These little details will make all the difference in the patient's appetite.

Always be sure that the patient is placed in a comfortable position to eat and drink, and be careful that no crumbs are left in the bed.

"OH, WHAT A GOOD IDEA!"

There is often trouble when making hems or tucks of fine muslin. The filmy material is apt to cockle, and it is not always easy to regulate tensions exactly to prevent this before mischief is done. The matter is simple enough if you know a little trick. Put your delicate muslin under the needle just as though you were going to begin work in the usual way. Then have ready some narrow strips of paper and slip one of these under the muslin and proceed to machine away. The effect would be like machining a firm piece of calico instead of puckering gauze. Of course the strips are machined to the garment, but it is perfectly easy to break this away after the work is finished, and instead of doing harm it helps to keep the hems straight and firm.

Another little device is useful for those who prefer hand tucked baby clothes and underlinen, but yearn for the accuracy of the tucker on the sewing machine for spacing and straightness. Run the tucks with the machine, but without the thread. Then you have them set and you are ready to run in the hand tucks where the little machine holes have made their mark.

SYSTEM IN THE HOUSEHOLD.

"Seeing is knowing where it is" is the way one woman twists an old adage, and she illustrates it by row upon row of glass jars and bottles in her kitchen closets, in which are all the dry groceries in plain sight. Fruit jars with screw covers in various sizes are the ones employed by her, and the contents are not only visible, but they are safe from the invasions of mice or smaller depredators. Among her sewing necessities the same system prevails—bottles with screw tops for various kinds of buttons, the bottles that come from the drugist with tablets and pills, hooks and eyes, and even tapes and bindings and her small ribbons and pieces of lace, if you would

BURN WASTE MATERIAL OF HOUSEHOLD

A WOMAN who lives in the country will find she can save a great many pennies by regulating household trash, ashes, etc. Trash, for instance, is an expense in the country, because the householder in a number of cases pays for having it carried away; therefore her economy comes in having inflammable stuff burned on the premises. And as dry trash is easily three-fourths of the refuse she saves just that much on cartage.

To hold trash there should be a barrel and a firm mandate issued by the head of the house that old tins, bottles and everything nonburnable be put into it. In another barrel papers, rags, etc., that usually fill the household scrap basket must be placed.

One particular spot on the place should be reserved for the holocaust. It will be a black and unsightly spot, and for that reason a retired nook should be chosen. If there is none the drive may be used, for after the fire is out the gravel may be raked over, so in a day or two all traces of the fire are obliterated.

As for the ashes, unless they are very coarse they make excellent walks in the country. It is best to have them sifted first, as some may be burned later, thus reducing the coal bill. Those left are cinders that will pack down hard and smooth and save buying gravel for walks and drives. In this way a whole walk may be made of ashes with a thin top layer of gravel. This is a tip for persons building country homes on limited incomes. They as none others, know that the financial demands of the grounds are endless, and this is one way in which money may be saved. If one does not require ashes for the grounds there are always country roads in need of repair, where they may be put. Selectmen have no objection to this, if the ashes are properly placed, and many a dollar may be saved.

WELL, WHY NOT?

Salad for breakfast! Who ever heard of such a thing? Why not serve oatmeal porridge at dinner or oyster cocktails after the coffee?

Not so fast. One isn't recommending just any kind of salad for breakfast—not those unnatural combinations of fruits and mayonnaises with whipped cream, than which, by the way, there could be nothing more illogical—but simply a crisp little green salad to eat with your toasted graham bread and bacon. Suppose you try it before you pass judgment. When a green salad is served for breakfast the fruit course may be omitted, and this in itself is a saving of the question which is uppermost in the minds of housekeepers at the present moment—reducing the household accounts.

A STYLISH FROCK FOR A YOUNG GIRL

RUSSIAN SUIT IN LINEN AND EMBROIDERY.

WHILE the clothes of very young girls are always simple, they are strictly up to date. A clever little touch here and there puts the modish mark of smartness on them. As every mother knows, it is a much more difficult matter to make a modish, simple child's dress than it is to make an elaborate costume. The Russian influence is noticeable in all the smart little frocks of the spring. They usually consist of one piece dresses. Many of them are trimmed with new Russian embroideries in bright, rich colorings. These handings are particularly effective on linen and

WHITE AND GREEN LUNCHEON

WHITE and green make an exquisite combination for a spring luncheon. The napery will be pure white linen and the green touches supplied by the floral centerpieces and the decorations of china, glass, etc. A tall glass or vase of Easter lilies is a charming center decoration for the table, and about its base may be arranged bunches of lilies of the valley, to be given later to the guests. From each bunch of the lilies narrow green satin ribbons are placed across the table, ending at the name cards, which cards are hand painted with a butterfly.

As the luncheon decorations are white and green, the vlands must follow this idea as closely as possible, and the following may be found an excellent menu:

- Little Neck Clams.
- Cream Puffs.
- Chicken Timbales.
- Flaked Potatoes.
- Tomato Salad.
- Wafers.
- Cream Cheese.
- Spring Pudding.
- Salted Almonds.
- Bonbons.
- Coffee.

Arrange the clams on the half shell in a bed of ice surrounded by wreaths of watercress. The cream puffs are made as follows: Boil six medium sized potatoes until mealy and press them through a colander. Heat one quart of milk in a double boiler, add the strained potatoes and cook ten minutes, then strain through a sieve and return to the double boiler. Add one-half teaspoonful of butter and season with celery salt to taste. To each plate of soup add a tablespoonful of whipped cream just as it goes to the table, and over the cream sprinkle a very little chopped parsley.

For the chicken timbales boil two chickens until tender; skin, bone and mince the meat very fine, using only the white meat. Beat four yolks of eggs with a tablespoonful of butter to a cream, then add one-half cup of chopped mushrooms, a pinch of salt, white pepper to taste and one-half pint of cream. Mix this well into the chicken and add the stiffly beaten whites of the four eggs.

The little china timbale molds for the baking and put a single whole mushroom in the bottom of each, then fill the mold with the mixture, place them in a pan of boiling water, cover with another pan and bake in a moderate oven for three-quarters of an hour. Serve with a sauce made of mushroom liquor thickened with a little flour dissolved in milk, add one tablespoonful of cream and salt and white pepper to taste.

To make the flaked potatoes boil four or five large potatoes in salted water until mealy, drain dry and remove skins. Have the dish in which they are to be served very hot—it is best to put it over a pan of boiling water—and rub the potatoes through a coarse sieve upon it. Do not touch the potatoes until serving them to each guest or the flakes will lose their shape.

The tomato salad consists of tomatoes sliced, heaped in nests of white lettuce leaves covered with mayonnaise sprinkled with nut meat.

The spring pudding is pretty and toothsome. For it grate sufficient fresh coconut to fill a coffee cup, mix with it two rounded cupfuls of powdered sugar, the white of one egg and a tablespoonful of vanilla extract. Last of all stir in lightly one cupful of stiffly whipped cream. Put a slice of angel cake on each plate and heap upon it some of the coconut cream, sprinkling the whole with powdered pistachio nuts.

Serve white and green bonbons and finish the feast with cups of coffee heaped with whipped cream. Tie the handles of the cups with pale green ribbon.

TO CLEAN LAST YEAR'S HAT.

Of course you'll want some new hats, but why not get out last season's leftover and bring it right up to date by a few clever touches?

Don't be discouraged if the straw is soiled, for, if the shape is correct and the straw unbroken, that can be conquered.

The puttylike substance used for wall paper is good for this cleaning process. Another useful cleaner for light straw is black ammonia. This can be rubbed over the hat in the black or first powdered. The thick paste is kept on overnight and brushed off the next morning. Repeat process if necessary. White cornmeal and gasoline mixed

The New Blouse

THIS waist is one of the newest models and is promised a long run during the summer months. It is cut in one, the body part and the sleeves, and a good many plays on the style are being made. In some choice hand-made models the seams down the backs of the sleeves and in the shoulders are set together with hand beadings. Turn back frills finishing neck and sleeves are the latest whimsy.

HINTS FOR YOUR GARDEN.

Most women who have the opportunity to grow flowers delight in doing so. They love to tend the plants and plan novel effects to be gained by charming color schemes. Here are a few hints given by an expert gardener as to the arrangement of shrubs and flowers in the yard.

Besides the shrubs in the yard we must have flowers. Plant all you can afford to buy if you are prepared to take care of them. Starved, sick, discontented flowers cry out for help to every passerby. Cruelly to flowers should be made a criminal offense. It is almost as bad to abuse a beautiful flowering plant as to beat a horse.

Don't plant in round beds. Plant in long beds in front of the shrubbery where the flowers can have a background of green foliage. Plant the tall, brilliantly colored flowers at the back the cannes, hollyhocks and the like. Take the big only cannot bed out of the lawn and string the cannes out, two or three plants deep, in the front of the tall shrubbery way back in the yard. Plant the smaller and more delicate ones near the front.

A SMART COACHING PARASOL.

THE day of the parasol will soon become one of her old parasol frames with a piece left over from her trunk. Japanese shapes in parasols are the very newest with the ribs curving inward. The handles on all the smart women can live up to, but an attempt at harmony of coloring is within the reach of even a moderate pocketbook. The muslin shades themselves are lovelier than ever, and many now ones have feature covers made from a piece of the little fan-like gown which they will accompany. The economical woman will find no trouble in covering

COMEDY OF ERRORS

With Pitched Ball

Tom Dowd and his Whalers made their first appearance at Spaulding park yesterday and defeated the home team in a comedy of errors, to which even such reliable fielders as Magee and Jones contributed.

Buckles, the California long boy, was on the slab for the visitors and he was lacking in control although he showed great speed and good curves. In the first inning he struck first baseman McCrone of the visiting team in the head and McCrone was dead to the world for five minutes.

Lowell tried to rally in the fifth and made four runs but couldn't keep the pace with the Whalers.

First Inning

Buckles was slammed pretty hard in the first inning and when the smoke of the battle had cleared away the visitors had sent three men over the plate. Cassett, the first man to bat, hit to Boules and was out at first. Buckles then hit McCrone in the head and the game was delayed until the latter recovered consciousness. McCrone was then given a runner. Magee hit and reached first. Cunningham hit and reached first. Cunningham hit and reached first.

Lowell tried to rally in the fifth and made four runs but couldn't keep the pace with the Whalers.

Second Inning

There was nothing doing in the second inning. Pratt drew a free pass and went to second on Griffith's sacrifice. Cassett popped a fly to Buckles and Pratt later stole second, but he fled there for McCrone hit to Fitz and was out at first.

Lowell got as far as third base in the latter half of the inning but failed to get a man across the plate. Stone singled and went to second on Jones' sacrifice. Campbell hit along the first base line and was second out. Lemieux hit to Bannan and was retired at first.

Score—Lowell 0, New Bedford 3.

Third Inning

Two more goose eggs were registered.

Score—Lowell 0, New Bedford 3.

Fourth Inning

The visitors scored another run in the fourth inning. Bauman hit from the base, Cassett hit in front of him, Wilson followed with a three bagger to deep left field. Buckles then caught Pratt off first and the man was nailed at second. Griffith hit to Stone who fumbled and the runner got on the base. Stone bunted to Griffith who threw Fluharty out at third. The men on base were advanced on a passed ball. Jones singled to left field and Magee scored. Stone attempted to get home but was nailed at the plate. If he had slid for the plate he would have been safe. Campbell hit to Cunningham and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 1, New Bedford 4.

Fifth Inning

The fifth inning was something awful. Buckles became undone and his dumb work together with errors on the part of several of the other members of the home team resulted in the Whalers sending four men across the plate.

McCrone, Rising and Cunningham got singles and then Buckles gave Williams a base on balls forcing in McCrone. Bauman filed to Magee who dropped the ball and Rising scored. Wilson sent a fly to Jones and the latter dropping the ball gave Cunningham the opportunity to score. Pratt hit to Boules who threw Williams out at the plate. Lemieux threw to first to get Pratt and Bauman attempted to get home on the play but Stone threw him out at the plate. Pratt stole second and on Lemieux's bad throw, Wilson scored the fourth run. The agency was ended when Griffith hit to Fitzpatrick and was out at first.

Lowell also scored four runs in the latter half of the inning. Lemieux reached first on an error by Bauman and Buckles drew a base on balls. Fitzpatrick hit to Griffith forcing Buckles to second. Boules hit to Cunningham forcing Fitz at second and Lemieux scored. Fluharty singled advancing Boules and Magee drew a base on balls filling the bases. Stone hit to left field and Boules and Fluharty scored. Rising made a bad throw to the plate to get Fluharty and Magee scored. Stone went to third on the play. The inning closed when Jones hit to Griffith and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 5, New Bedford 8.

Sixth Inning

In the sixth inning Cassett hit to Buckles and was out at first. McCrone hit along the first base line and beat the ball to first for a hit. Rising hit to Buckles forcing McCrone at second and Cunningham struck out.

In the latter half of the inning Webb went in to pitch for the visitors. Campbell hit along the third base line and beat the ball to first. Lemieux drew a base on balls and Buckles struck out. Fitz filed to McCrone and Boules hit to Bauman forcing Lemieux at second.

Score—Lowell 5, New Bedford 8.

Seventh Inning

Williams drew a base on balls and Bauman struck out. Wilson hit a red hot drive to Boules and the latter, for catching the ball sent it to first for a double play.

Lowell got another run in the latter half of the seventh. Fluharty started with a three bagger to deep center field. Magee drew a base on balls. Stone filed to Williams and Fluharty scored. Magee then stole second. Jones filed to Williams and Campbell filed to Bauman.

Score—Lowell 6, New Bedford 9.

Eighth Inning

In the eighth inning the visitors scored another run. Pratt opened with a single and Webb struck out. Cassett hit to Buckles forcing Pratt at second. The throw was a wild one the ball going over to the right field fence and Cassett went all the way around and scored. McCrone drew a base on balls, stole second but Rising filed to Jones.

In Lowell's half Lemieux drew a base on balls. Buckles hit to Bauman who threw Lemieux out at second. Boules and Campbell threw to first getting Buckles for a double play. Fitzpatrick filed out to Rising, closing the inning.

Score—Lowell 6, New Bedford 9.

Ninth Inning

Cunningham opened the ninth by hitting to deep left field and Magee made a regular clean catch of the ball. Williams bunted to Buckles and was out at first. Bauman got a base on balls. Boules filed out to Rising. Fluharty filed to Williams. Magee drew a base on balls. Stone hit to Cunningham forcing Magee at second.

DIAMOND NOTES

New Bedford today, 11.

The game was as frosty as the weather.

Tom Dowd looked real kippy in a uniform.

"Chief" Williams is a full blooded junior and a fine outfielder. The bleachers christened him "Big Chief Bonehead," but there was nothing boneheaded about his playing.

Mosher, Reilly and Pickard have been canned.

Wolfgang, the Boston National twirler, will be in the harness this afternoon.

Brookton and Fall River played an 11 inning tie yesterday.

George Primrose was out to the game, likewise Charles S. Demowski.

Poor Buckles became undone in the fifth and for a moment he looked like a candidate for the bench. Buckles has great speed and a choice assortment of curves but he lacks control.

When Buckles hit McCrone in the head in the first inning the fans thought of the Bowcock case. McCrone was out for five minutes but he gamely continued in the game.

It took just 1 h. 3 m. for the Doves to defeat Brookton. One of the quickest games on record.

SALEM'S MAYOR OWES $36,415

EXTRA

BANKRUPTCY PETITION

Was Filed By Mayor Howard

of Salem Today

BOSTON, April 30.—Arthur P. Howard, mayor of Salem, whose financial difficulties have been much in the public eye since his election as mayor of the city, filed a voluntary petition in the United States district court here today. His assets are scheduled as uncertain, while his liabilities, amounting to $36,415, are principally for borrowed money and unpaid board bills.

In the list of assets the mayor says that he has wearing apparel worth $100, 688 shares of stock of the Despatch Newspaper Co. of Salem, which publishes his paper, and the market value of which is given as uncertain, and copyrights on a cook book, a collection of animal stories and an article entitled "X. Y. Z. of Wall Street."

There are 66 claims against the mayor, all of which are unsecured. Among them are:

Irvine Bush of New York, $1500 borrowed by the petitioner in Paris; Sherry's restaurant, New York, $284; Carlton hotel, London, $445; Oxford Realty Co., New York, $500 for board and room; Holland house, New York, $175 for meals. Those who loaned money to Howard include E. A. Levy, T. B. Melville and F. B. Hurd of New York and A. P. Hutton of Newark, N. J., the amounts ranging from $400 to $4500.

The schedule recites that Howard has a life interest in one-twelfth of the estate of his father, the late Joseph P. Howard, of New York, but this is held in trust and is not available for creditors.

1600 QUIT WORK

Building Laborers Want More Pay

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 30.—Sixteen hundred building laborers, mostly Italians, members of the building laborers union, ushered in at noon today the first May day celebrations when they left their work, declaring that they will not return to their occupations until they had obtained a substantial increase in wages.

The men went out at the command of their leader, Felice D'Allesandro of Boston, who has been in this city during the past three months perfecting his organization. With the declaring of this strike it is feared that building operations in this city will cease. The men who struck today include building plasterers, bricklayers, cellar and sewer laborers. Other unions of carpenters, painters, plumbers and steamfitters were asked to join the men in the strike, but they refused even to consider the request.

Tomorrow will be a day of celebration with the strikers, who state that two parades and seven or eight meetings will be held and the authorities fear that disorder will ensue. The police have already taken necessary precautions and arrangements have been made to try and keep the strikers under control.

MOB FOUGHT POLICE

Fire Department Called Out to Aid the Offices

HONOLULU, April 30.—Following the arrests of four Russians yesterday on the charge of inciting disorder, a mob of 500 of their countrymen surrounded the police station and a battle with the police followed.

The mob demanded the release of their leaders and defied the order to disperse. The police brought the fire department to their aid and a stream was turned on the mob which had massed in front of the jail with women and babies held in front as shields. The fire hose failed to break the mob entirely and the police drew their clubs and charged. The mob scattered.

The Russians were brought here by the immigration board to work on the sugar plantations but refused to work at the wages offered.

WARRANTS ISSUED

For Suspects in the "White Slave" Traffic

NEW YORK, April 30.—More warrants were issued today for suspected traffickers in white slaves following the arrest last night of one woman and two men and the declaration of District Attorney Whitman that he had proved that white slavery in New York was a reality. While detectives are searching for the other men and women who have been implicated by Mr. Whitman's investigators, four girls, who, the district attorney says, were purchased ostensibly for immoral purposes by the seekers after evidence, are being held in some secret place by the prosecutor. Each of the girls, none of whom is more than a child, is said to have told Mr. Whitman her own story of abduction, imprisonment and mistreatment. One of them was so young that she cried when her teddy bear was taken away from her.

The war against white slavery was begun early in January shortly after Mr. Whitman took office. John D. Rockefeller, Jr. is foreman of the grand jury which has been investigating the white slave business.

FIREMAN DEAD

NEW YORK, April 30.—Olaf Olson, boy fireman on the Texas Oil Co.'s steamer Florida, died today after hours of agony, and William Peters, a fireman who tried to rescue Olson as the latter was caught by a sudden fierce blast of the steamer's oil furnace fires, is suffering from the terrible burns he received, but may recover. Olson was lighting fires in the rear of the furnaces when the airblast to blow the great blue flames toward under the boiler was turned on as the Florida at anchor at Shorter Island was preparing to leave for Tampa, Fla. today. A scream of pain heard above the roar of the furnace as the flames shot inward startled the entire ship's company. The oil and the air currents were instantly turned off, but the cries continued to become more and more clearly from the now faintly sizzling furnace. The firemen poured in and fur in the rear what looked like a ragged pillar of flame was seen staggering about. Peters rushed into the furnace toward the lurid figure and in a moment came forth, the blazing form in his arms, his own clothes were aflame. Deckhands rolled both in blankets. When the flames were out it was seen that the victim of the unexpected blast was Olson, who must have failed to hear the warning shout given as the flames were turned on. There was no hope from the first of saving the boy. Peters, it is believed, will live.

INJURIES FATAL CREW ESCAPED

Tom McCarthy Hurt in Boxing Bout

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—A crashing overhead swing to Tommy McCarthy's jaw, delivered by Owen Moran, the English lightweight pugilist, brought the bout held here last evening to a sudden and fatal end.

McCarthy, who held the title of champion lightweight boxer of the Pacific slope, dropped to the mat as if hit by a driving pile. His head struck the mat near the base of the brain, immediately causing unconsciousness.

Owen Moran and his seconds, Jeff Perry and Jimmy Carroll and the McCarthy brothers, Wm. and John, who acted as his seconds with Bernard Treanor were all placed under arrest.

It is said that McCarthy had gone stale during training and that he was in poor shape to meet the Britisher.

What effect this ring fatality will have on the coming Jeffries-Johnson fight is causing speculation among light enthusiasts today.

Tex Rickard, one of the promoters, does not think it will have any effect. Neither Jeffries nor Johnson, he declared, is likely to seriously hurt the other.

After 16 rounds of clever and hard fighting last night with little to choose between the men the Britisher swung back with tremendous force that landed squarely on the local fighter's jaw.

McCarthy dropped to the canvas as if hit with a hammer, his head striking the floor. He was quickly carried to his corner, where he lay rigid. Rejuvenatives were administered without effect. Finally Spider Kelly, the chief second, summoned two doctors from the ringside.

Powerful stimulants were applied to the unconscious boxer for twenty minutes but there no symptoms of returning consciousness. A hasty examination announced that McCarthy was suffering of a fractured skull with possible internal hemorrhage.

Within 25 minutes after the knock-out the injured fighter was hurried into the hospital a few blocks from the rink, where some hours later without recovering consciousness, he died.

CREW ESCAPED

Barge Was Lost Off Providence

PROVIDENCE, April 30.—While Captain Young and his crew of three men slept in fancied security, the barge Shore Line with 300 tons of coal on board slowly filled and sank in 16 feet of water at the Eastern Coal Co.'s wharf in this city today. Only the shouting of the crew on another vessel anchored nearby, awakened the men who barely escaped from the barge before she went down. The Scott Wrecking Co. of New London, Conn., has been notified and will try to float her but because of the large load of coal it is feared their efforts will prove of no avail.

The Shore Line, which was built in Mystic, Conn., was 177 feet long, 33 feet beam, and has a depth of 12 feet.

LIVELY RUNAWAY TREES PLANTED

An Exciting Time in Rogers Street

A horse belonging to Abel R. Campbell, the Middlesex street real estate dealer, became frightened while standing in front of a house in Wigganville this afternoon and ran away. The animal ran through upper Lawrence street towards the city, but upon reaching the railroad tracks at the Lowell cemetery took to the tracks and pulled the light buggy to which it was attached over the rails and sleepers. Upon reaching Rogers street the horse attempted to go in the direction of Fort Hill park, but John McDadden, an employee of the American Hide & Leather Co., who was driving one of the company's wagons jumped from the vehicle and by running the horse into a pole brought it to a standstill.

When the horse was brought to a standstill it was found that the animal had escaped injury, and the wagon was not the worse, the only damage being that which was done to the harness.

DECISION RESERVED

NEWARK, N. J., April 30.—Vice-Chancellor Howell today reserves decision in the case of Kenneth Williams, the four-year-old boy of whom St. Mary's orphanage of East Providence, R. I., is seeking to regain possession through habeas corpus proceedings.

THE ARCHBISHOP

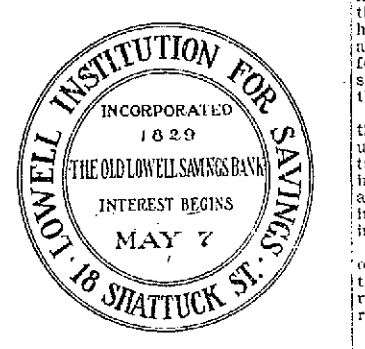

Will be in Lowell Tomorrow

The eleventh mass meeting of the Middlesex county branch of the American Federation of Catholic Societies will be held in Associate hall, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. William O'Brien, permanent rector of St. Patrick's church, will preside. The principal speaker will be Archbishop O'Connell. Among others who will make addresses will be Timothy W. Haley, president of the branch, P. Sarsfield Cumiffe, Charles T. Daly, Hon. James H. Vahey, Rev. Ambrose F. Roche, county chaplain, and Rev. David J. Toomey, D. D., (director of Diocesan Press) of Boston.

GERMAN BANKS INVOLVED

BERLIN, April 30.—It now transpires that certain German banks are involved in the insolvency of the Alabama cotton firm of Knight, Yancey & Co. The matter was discussed today on the bourse where shares of the Deutsche National bank of Bremen were sharply depressed because it was assumed that the house has sustained severe losses through forged bills of lading. The bank itself appears to be still in doubt whether bills accepted by it were forged or genuine. In any case the officers of the institution do not expect the losses to exceed $200,000.

The Deutsche bank also apparently is involved by the officers authorities the statement that serious losses are not anticipated.

The Guest of Middlesex Club in Boston

BOSTON, April 30.—Speaker Joseph Cannon was the guest today of the Middlesex club, a republican organization, which celebrates Grant's birthday tonight at the Somerset hotel. The club will also hear from former Governor Black and Congressman McElroy of New York.

"Hello, Sam," shouted Uncle Joe as he made a youthful leap from the Washington train this morning, and was greeted by former Congressman Samuel E. Powers. The speaker was in a jolly mood and for a few minutes there was a sparkling interchange of repartee. Half a dozen of the club's officials breakfasted with the speaker after which there was a brief tour of the city following which the speaker met Governor Draper, several federal officials and a score of business men at a lunch at the Exchange club.

Congressman John W. Weeks, who is Mr. Powers' successor from the 11th district accompanied the speaker from Washington and one of the house stenographers, was also in the party.

CITY HALL MAN

Heavy Damages in Connection With Abolition of Grade Crossings—Third Car Sprinkler Will Start Tomorrow

John Downing, an engineer at city hall, has been appointed smoke inspector for Lowell. Mayor Meehan made the appointment today, and Mr. Downing will accept. Mr. Downing looks after the boilers at city hall and is on the city messenger's pay roll. The smoke inspector will serve without pay as the law does not provide for any remuneration.

The Star Theatre

The Star theatre will not open tomorrow, Sunday. Complaints relative to the interruption to services by the concert in the theatre were lodged with the mayor by members of the First Congregational church, and the mayor decided to allow the theatre to open on trial, last Sunday. The hours that the theatre was allowed to open did not conflict with the hours of church services, but it seems that they did disturb the pastor in the study during the afternoon. Mayor Meehan says he will not allow the theatre to open on Sunday until such action is agreeable to Mr. Willmott and his congregation.

Grade Crossing Matter

It was stated today that there would be heavy damages as a result of the abolition of the grade crossings in Walker, School, Plain and Lincoln streets and the aldermen at the meeting Tuesday evening will appoint somebody to represent the city in the assessment of damages. City Engineer Bowers will be the man, as he has to do with the work and is familiar with it. The city will be called upon to pay ten per cent of the damage.

Sewer Work Started

Work on the East Merrimack street and Plummer avenue sewers was begun a few days ago and work has also been started on the Cumberland road sewer. The work of smooth paving will probably be begun about May 10. As Frank Mallory, the man who will supply the blocks, says he will have them on hand on or before that date, Prescott street will be the first to receive the attention of the smooth pavers.

The Third Sprinkler

The third car sprinkler will appear in the streets tomorrow. The contract reads that the third car shall start on May 1. The car arrived here several days ago.

FUNERAL NOTICES

HORNBY—The funeral of the late James T. Hornby, who died this morning at St. John's hospital, will take place Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock from his home, 41 Madison street and the remains will be taken to St. Peter's church where a solemn high mass of requiem will be sung at 9 o'clock. The funeral will be in charge of Undertaker John F. Rogers.

IMPOSING SERVICE

And Public Procession Commemorative of Death of Christ

THE GREEK CHURCH IN LEWIS STREET

Four Thousand Greeks Turned Out in Street Procession in Which Was Borne a Great Floral Catafalque — Arrangements for Easter Service

Tomorrow will be Easter Sunday in the Greek colony and will be solemnly observed at the Greek church and will be the occasion of feasting and entertainment in the houses. All Greeks on Easter morn exchange the kiss of peace, saying "Christ is Risen."

The late pedestrian in the vicinity of the Greek colony last night must have been deeply impressed upon seeing about 11 o'clock a lengthy procession of men in uniform and in civilian attire all bearing lighted candles and escorting a large floral catafalque. The procession was a feature of the service of Epitaphias, or Dural of Christ, a service incidental to the observance of Good Friday in the Greek church.

The Good Friday services took place in the church in Lewis street at 8 o'clock last evening. At the opening of the service the interior of the church was packed while the streets in the vicinity were thronged with men, women and children. Near the sanctuary, and before the altar was placed a huge floral catafalque, over which rose a floral disk, surmounted in turn by a floral cross and trimmed with candles. On the catafalque lay a sacred icon, the image of the dead Christ, and one of the most beautiful and precious of the many icons owned by the church.

At the altar, the pastor, Rev. P. Constantinos H. Demetrius, officiated, and at one end of the sanctuary acolytes chanted the hymns of the Greek church. On each side of the floral catafalque, and reaching from the sanctuary to the street door, two lines of soldiers stood, the Greek militia in their khaki uniforms, and bearing arms. There were 125 of them.

The services took over two hours, the congregation standing throughout. During the services the bells in the church steeple pealed continuously. At the close of the church service the street procession was formed and there were nearly 4000 Greeks in line. The line was led by George Couzoules, president of the Greek community. Then came the floral catafalque borne by four men there, then came the Lowell Military band escorting the guard of honor consisting of 125 members of the Greek militia followed also by the fourteen Greek fraternal organizations and the main body of the congregation.

the parade. It would appear that every one of the 10,000 or more Greeks in Lowell were in the street during the progress of the procession. As the men marched they chanted: "Lord have mercy" in their native tongue. The procession passed through Lewis, Little, Dummer, Market, Adams and Suffolk streets and back into the church where the catafalque was deposited before the altar where it will remain until Easter morn.

A RIOT CALL

POLICEMAN WAS THUMPED BY A CROWD

BOSTON, April 30.—Saugus town hall, situated in the heart of Saugus, last night was the scene of a dance, considerable "crap shooting," and an assault upon an officer which caused the sounding of the riot call and the summoning of two dozen officers.

The hall was engaged for a dance by an organization calling itself the Epans club. The dancing began early, and so, it is said, did illegal dice play. When Patrolman Merin Hazel discovered that the latter was going on he attempted to interfere, but was mauled and thumped by a crowd of young men. They proved too much for him and he fled down the stairs, screaming for help.

This sudden interruption to the ordinarily placid life of Saugus so alarmed the keeper of the lookout that he sounded the riot call and every available patrolman was rushed to the scene. There they were unable to identify any of their fellow officer's assaults and the dance proceeded with the officers watchfully grouped about the hall.

LOSS IS $80,000

Disastrous Fire Broke Out in Providence Today

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 30.—Fire which broke out near the elevator well on the second story of the Blackstone building at 29 Weybosset street early today completely gutted that structure. The monetary loss is estimated at $80,000.

Starting near the elevator well in the rear of the building from some unknown cause the flames shot up through the shaft and when the firemen arrived the entire building was a mass of flames. Almost immediately the blaze burst through the roof of the building and for a time it was feared that seven wooden buildings nearby on Weybosset and Westminster streets would be destroyed, but with apparatus from all stations in the central part of the city fighting the fire, it was confined to the Blackstone block. The fire was not under control until three hours after the first alarm had been sounded by Patrolman Howard Palm, who while patrolling his beat in that vicinity heard the crackling of the flames and pulled in an alarm.

The building, which was a five story structure, was occupied on the ground floor by Curran & Easton and John R. White, coal dealers, and the offices of the Importers Distributing Co. The upper floors of the building were occupied by insurance companies, attorneys and real estate dealers. The offices of the Travelers Insurance Co. of Hartford, Conn., were practically destroyed. The loss to the building is partially covered by insurance.

IN POLICE COURT DEATH REPORT

Man Knocked Out in Fight Last Night With Causes Assigned for Past Week

There was a lively scene in the vicinity of Tower's corner early last night when James Gaffney of this city and James Brooks of Lawrence got into a fight. Both men were under the influence of liquor at the time, but Brooks seemed to have the better of the argument, for his blows were so severe that Gaffney was sent down for the count and when it was found that he was unconscious the ambulance was called and he was taken to St. John's hospital and Brooks was placed under arrest.

During the progress of the fight Patrolman J. A. Clark and E. J. Connors put in an appearance and Brooks was sent to the police station, where complaints of drunkenness and assault and battery were preferred against him.

It seems that after Gaffney was taken to the hospital last night he raised such a disturbance that the authorities turned him out of the place. Despite the fact that he was unconscious when he reached the hospital he recovered very quickly and in his intoxicated condition he made such a racket that he was ordered to leave the hospital.

When Brooks was arraigned in court this morning he entered pleas of guilty to the charges of drunkenness and assault and battery, and at the request of Deputy Hugh Downey the case was continued till Tuesday morning, the defendant being held under $200 bonds.

Settled Out of Court

In the case of Vasilios Pene, charged with assault and battery on Evangelos Quovangakis on Tuesday night at 372 Adams street, counsel agreed to make a settlement out of court and the case was placed on file.

Drunken Offenders

Michael McDonold was in court this morning on a complaint charging him with being drunk. He was also in court yesterday morning under the name of Michael Fogarty and when he was arrested yesterday he said that his name was Patrick Regan. Judge Bradley in his charge of the defendant said that he knew the defendant and that he had no faith in the man. He was sentenced to two months in jail.

John J. Molloy, who was arrested for being drunk, was sentenced to three months in jail.

There were two first offenders, who were fined $2 each, and one simple drunk was released by the probation officer.

WAGE INCREASE

FOR EMPLOYEES OF SUBURBAN STREET RAILWAY CO.

NEWTON, April 30.—Announcement was made today to the 1000 employees of the Suburban Street Railway Co. that they would be granted an increase in wages despite the fact that the company is losing money.

The increase for each man will range from one-half cent to one cent an hour, according to length of service with the company. The Consolidated Suburban St. Co. includes the Newton & Boston, Middlesex & Boston and the Lexington & Boston street railroads.

AERO CLUB MEET

NEW YORK, April 30.—Members of the Aero club of America, which is considering plans for the international aviation meet to be held in this country beginning Oct. 22, indicated today that New York was likely to be awarded the most if required conditions were met.

"Since Glenn H. Curtiss, a member of the Aero club, won the trophy, which entitles this country to the meet," said W. W. Miller, a member of the club's executive committee, "it seems only right that New York should be favored in the matter. If a member of a western club had won the cup it is only natural that preference should have been shown that city."

MAN ROBBED

WHILE HE WAS ENJOYING AN ELECTRIC SHOCK

NEW YORK, April 30.—Antonio Di Martino said in Essex market court yesterday that as he was on his way home to Corona on Wednesday evening he stopped in Delancey street to watch a man who was administering electric shocks from a battery for one cent a shock. Di Martino paid his cent and the operator turned on the current.

As the electricity passed through his hands into Di Martino's arms his wrists stiffened and he backed off into the crowd. Then he felt a hand snarl into his pocket and out again. He tried to drop the handles to grab the thief, but the electricity held him powerless. He shouted in Italian, but nobody understood him. While Di Martino lunged the thief backed out of the crowd.

Finally the operator thought the penny had been earned and switched off the current. Then Di Martino ran through the crowd, grabbed ladder rungs, 20 years old, of 188 Ossunon street, and had him arrested as the thief.

MANUAL TRAINING

DISCUSSED BY MAINE TEACHERS

HALLOWELL, Me., April 30.—The annual convention of the Kennebec county teachers' association was held in city hall yesterday, about 200 public school teachers of this and neighboring cities and towns being present. Orrin M. Holman, superintendent of schools of this city, was chairman of the convention in charge of the arrangements for the convention and was assisted by C. F. Morse, George A. Safford and H. L. Nichols, members of the school committee. Herman H. Stuart, principal of the Hallowell high school, and other teachers of the city.

In the general sessions manual and industrial training was emphasized. There was an exhibit of manual training products, collected mainly from the Augustus schools, designed to illustrate the various kinds of work suitable for each grade. The subject was also taken up by Supt. Charles E. Tilton of the Bangor schools, and by Frank E. Spaulding, superintendent of schools in Newton, Mass., spoke in the afternoon on the subject.

At the primary department session in the afternoon, Miss Clara L. Rice spoke on the possibilities of manual training in the primary grades.

At the morning session Miss Maude B. Andrews of Augusta gave a reading and Principal Henry L. Upton of Augusta made an address on teachers' pensions.

GRAND WELCOME MAYOR GAYNOR

Was Extended to Ex-Pres. Roosevelt Replies to the Statement of veld at The Hague

William R. Hearst

THE HAGUE, April 30.—Theodore Roosevelt was welcomed here at midnight with astonishing demonstrations. The masses were waiting at the railway station and when he alighted from the train they swept him along toward his carriage. The police were powerless to check the violent rushes, in which numbers of persons were thrown to the ground.

Foreign Minister Swinderen, whose wife was Miss Bessie Glover, of Washington, D. C., received Col. Roosevelt on the platform in behalf of the government and drove with him in a court equipage through the decorated streets of the city to the Hotel Des Indes, near the American legation. In the party also was Kermit Roosevelt, Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Ethel left Amsterdam on an earlier train and already were here when Col. Roosevelt arrived.

The great, orderly assemblage of thousands cheering and waving the Stars and Stripes and handkerchiefs, remained outside long after Col. Roosevelt had entered the hotel. Frequently the crowd burst into song and called for the American ex-president to appear. Finally he came out upon the balcony and bowed to the multitude, then withdrew. The crowd, however, remained some time afterwards, singing patriotic songs, and then dispersed.

Col. Roosevelt and his wife and children will be received today by the Queen Mother. In the afternoon, he and his party will visit Deift, where is situated the palace in which William of Orange was assassinated, but now used as a museum, and various other interesting places.

Altogether Col. Roosevelt's visit yesterday to the land of his forefathers was a notable one. From the time that his train reached Rotterdam, on the frontier, until he retired here last night, the cordiality of the people towards him was remarkable. The people everywhere cheered him and at Het Loo, Queen Wilhelmina and the Prince Consort and high personages in the realm welcomed him, and his majesty gave a luncheon and his majesty gave a luncheon. When Col. Roosevelt arrived at the summer home of the queen at Het Loo, the Prince Consort was standing on the front steps awaiting him. When the automobile containing the American party stopped, Prince Henry, without awaiting an introduction shook the American ex-president's hand warmly and assisted him to alight from the automobile which had brought the party from Arnhem. After meeting Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Ethel and Kermit, the prince had them shown to their rooms where they changed their clothes and afterward were received by the queen in her small drawing room. Queen Wilhelmina took Col. Roosevelt's arm when luncheon was announced and the Prince Consort escorted Mrs. Roosevelt. After the luncheon the queen remarked that she was sorry she could not show the little baby princess to the Americans, but that the baby and her husband had been vaccinated in the morning.

Col. Roosevelt and his party spent about two hours at Het Loo and would have lingered longer had they not been compelled to catch an early train for Amsterdam. To do this the party was conveyed in royal equipages to Apeldoorn.

The private saloon car which had been provided for the Americans by royal command, in some manner got lost so that the Roosevelts and Mr. and Mrs. Beaupre took compartments in a first class car at Apeldoorn, whence they departed amid the cheers of hundreds of persons inside and outside the station.

During the trip the other passengers on the train walked in procession through the corridor to see Col. Roosevelt, who was reading a book, cutting the pages as he went, until the tumult of the waiting crowds in the Amsterdam station and his party's carriage.

The great assemblage in the open square in front of the station uncovered as Col. Roosevelt appeared. The demonstration was entirely without organization. There were only a few policemen there to keep back the crowd. Col. Roosevelt and his party then were driven around the city to see the sights.

The editor of the Amsterdam Handelsblad, yesterday, upon Col. Roosevelt's acceptance by telephone, arranged a public meeting in the Free Church of Wateringhuysen, and Col. Roosevelt spoke from the pulpit to about 800 persons, who filled the church. Among the figures in the stained glass windows of the edifice were those of Emerson and Carlyle.

"I'm glad to come back to the home of my forefathers," Col. Roosevelt began. "I am proud of the fact that I have good Dutch blood in my veins. My people left here before Rembrandt and Deshayes were known."

"I am sorry that I can't speak the Dutch my grandparents taught me. One cradle song I still remember." Here Col. Roosevelt recited a lullaby, a quaint old stanza, in which geese figured, to the delight of his hearers. He then spoke on citizenship, praising Holland for the sturdy qualities of the country, which had maintained itself for many centuries and had taught the lesson that no one could escape from being governed—that either he must govern himself or somebody else must do it for him. Each man, he said, must insist on his rights, but more important he should remember the duties and responsibilities he owed to his neighbors.

Farther on in his speech Col. Roosevelt said that if the rich men maintained an arrogant attitude in their relations toward those less well off, they may expect the awful day of reckoning upon themselves or those who come after them.

He was cheered enthusiastically after his address and the organ burst forth with "The Star Spangled Banner."

Early last evening the municipality of Amsterdam gave a dinner to Col. Roosevelt. Forty covers were laid, but the members of the press were not admitted. During the dinner the burgomaster drank a toast to Col. Roosevelt, and the American ex-president responded in a neat speech.

After the dinner Col. Roosevelt left for this city.

WOUND ON HEAD

Man's Body Found on River Bank

NEWBURYPORT, April 30.—The body of John P. Jordan of Fleet street, Haverhill, was found on the Salisbury shore of the Merrimack river at the estate of Prof. Marcus D. Ball of Boston yesterday afternoon by Wesley J. Bailey, who was rowing a boat upstream. The local police were notified and the body was brought to an undertaker's rooms here.

Medical Examiner R. C. Hurd found a bad wound on the left side of Jordan's head at the temple. It was round in shape and fresh blood was oozing from it. No fracture of the skull was found, and Mr. Hurd thought the injury might have been received after death.

Dr. Hurd will communicate with Dist. Atty. Peters of Haverhill in regard to an autopsy.

Jordan wore a mixed suit of clothes, gray sweater, laced shoes and black negligee shirt. On his suspenders was a nickel badge, bearing the inscription "Telegraph No. 98399 Mass. Mutual Accident Association, Boston, Mass., and identify me." Letters in his pocket identified him.

City Marshal McLean notified the Haverhill police and learned that Jordan was last seen in that city about two weeks ago.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Mayor Gaynor and William Randolph Hearst both issued statements last night on the issue of veracity raised Thursday night at the joint banquet of The Associated Press and the Newspaper Publishers' association, when the mayor said that Mr. Hearst was a forger and falsifier. Supplementary statements were issued by Comptroller Prendergast, ex-Comptroller Metz and the district attorney's office, following rumors that was a possibility of future legal proceedings, as a result of the mayor's address Thursday night. Hearst says:

"I am not entirely familiar with all the accusations against Mayor Gaynor, or his attempt to divert attention from them by an attack on the American. I have just returned from Mexico."

"It is obvious to anyone, however, that the mayor's defense is false upon its face."

"His attack upon the American is entirely disingenuous and wholly untruthful."

"His only claim, when it is analyzed,

is that the American failed to print clearly the date of a photographic facsimile of one of the documents in the case against him, although the American carried the same date of the same document clearly printed in type in the text of the article."

"What a petty quibble for an important man, or rather what a quibble for a petty man who holds an important position."

"The statement then goes into details to prove the truth of the article which Mayor Gaynor charged to be false."

"Finally, anybody who can read and think can see clearly that the date in question is not the important date, anyhow, but that the important date of Jan. 4, a date in Mayor Gaynor's administration upon which the payment to Coburn of $48,000 was finally signed and actually authorized. The January 4th signature was affixed by the assistant chamberlain in the office of Chamberlain Hyde, Mr. Gaynor's law partner."

"Mr. Gaynor says the American does not answer clearly."

Never Put Off Until To-morrow The Pill You Should Take To-night

Procrastination is the enemy of health—comfort at least should remind you not to forget. Beecham's Pills should be always on hand, so that when not feeling up to the mark, before your light goes out, you have taken your dose. The action of the pills insures good sleep and you wake fit and well. They are mild but vigorous enough to remove obstruction and to restore to normal the affected organs. A clear eye, head and brain fit to cope with all comers, follow the use of

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Men, women and children are not only stronger and brighter, but in every respect better. The mind acts quicker after taking Beecham's Pills—everything becomes more natural—the vigor and vitality are remarkable. If you have never used Beecham's Pills, get a box and try them the next time you have an attack of indigestion, biliousness, sick headache or any ailment arising from stomach, liver or bowels.

It is easier to overcome these troubles before chronic conditions become established so that it is advisable to take the pills as soon as nature asks for

NIGHT EDITION

SILVER JUBILEE

Beautiful Religious Event at St. Michael's Church

Sr. Alexia, O. S. D., and Sr. Mary Pius O. S. D., Observe 25th Anniversary of Their Profession as Nuns—Jubilee Mass Largely Attended

An unusual and most impressive service took place at 8 o'clock this morning in St. Michael's church when a jubilee high mass was celebrated to mark the 25th anniversary of the religious profession of Sister Alexia, O. S. D., superior of St. Michael's convent, and Sister Mary Pius, O. S. D., one of the teachers at St. Michael's school, both of whom took their final vows at the mother house of the order, the convent of St. Catherine of Siena, Springfield, Kentucky, on the feast of St. Catherine of Siena, just 25 years ago today. Sister Alexia has the distinction of being one of the little band of Dominican Nuns who founded St. Michael's convent and opened St. Michael's school over 25 years ago. In 1901 Sister Alexia, broken down in health, returned to the mother-house, supposedly to die, yet today finds her in fair health and excellent spirits presiding over one of the most successful parochial schools in the archdiocese.

A large congregation gathered at the jubilee mass including many former pupils of the school. There were present also representatives of the convents of the Sisters of Mercy, the Nazareth Sisters, the Sisters of the Assumption, the Sisters of St. Mary and the Franciscans. There were also Dominican nuns from nearly all of the missions in New England. The mass was sung by Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor, assisted within the sanctuary were Rev. William O'Brien, P. R. of St. Patrick's church, who while pastor of St. Michael's brought the Dominican nuns to Lowell and Rev. D. J. Murphy. The music incidental to the service was particularly inspiring and was given by two choirs of boys and girls directed by Sister Loretta, O. S. D., who also presided at the organ.

The girls' choir of 75 voices sang Dattman's convent mass in G. At the offertory Misses Katherine Noyah and Winnie Hart rendered the Veneration hymn and after mass the boys' choir of 40 voices gave the hymn of thanksgiving, the solo parts being sustained as follows: Soprano, Ernest Reedy and Eddie McGarr; alto, John Barrett, and Thomas McGovern. After the last gospel Rev. Fr. Shaw mounted the pulpit and selecting as his text the words of the 11th psalm: "What shall I render to God for all the things He has rendered to me," delivered a beautiful address on the nature of the occasion. In opening Fr. Shaw pictured the scene at the profession of the nun, who of her own volition has renounced the world to give her life to the service of God, who has passed the probationary period as a novice and now comes before the altar to take the vows of poverty, chastity and obedience. He emphasized the fact that there is nothing compulsory upon a young woman to enter a convent; she acts entirely of her own free will while careful discrimination is used within the convent in the selection of applicants for the novitiate. He dwelt upon the spiritual richness of a religious life, the blessings bestowed upon the religious by the church and the happiness of it in the great honor of being called the spouse of God and permitted to reside within the walls where the blessed sacrament is kept, and finally the beauty and happiness of the death of the religious whose life has been devoted to the service of God, comparing it with the death of one who has given his or her life to the pleasures of the world.

The greatest blessing that could come to a family he said was to have one of its members a religious. He referred to their noble work without recompense, the care of the poor and the forgotten of the world, the orphans, the Magdalens, the sick and the teaching of the young, leaving home and loved ones for the service of God without hope or expectation of any reward on earth.

At the conclusion of the service Sisters Alexia and Mary Pius received the visiting members of the order and their own relatives in the convent and a dinner was given at noon to the visitors. Tomorrow a reception to former pupils of the school will be held from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Among the visitors present for the jubilee were Sister Bonaventure and Sister Mary James, the former a cousin of Sister Alexia, of the Sisters of Mercy of Hartford, Conn.; Sisters Mary William, Baptista, Rosine and Matilda of St. Patrick's Dominican convent, Watertown, Mass.; Sisters Bridget, Mary George, Antonia and Domestika of the Dominican convent at West Lynn, and Sisters Regis and Victorine of St. Dominic's academy, Waverly, Mass.; Mrs. Gus Bretz of Louisville, Ky., a sister of Sister Mary Pius, was also present at the jubilee. Mrs. Bretz will remain in Lowell for a few days.

THE POLICE BOARD

A Number of Minor Licenses Were Granted Today

The board of police met in special session this morning for the purpose of giving a hearing to Patrick J. Barry who applied for a liquor license at 449 Broadway, corner of Broadway and Mt. Vernon street, as well as transacting considerable routine business which was to come before the board.

After Mr. Barry had applied for his license and the notice was published, Supt. Arthur K. Whitcomb, of the school board, sent a personal communication to the board of police recommending against the granting of a liquor license in that locality owing to the fact that it was close to the Cross street school.

The communication sent to the board of police by Supt. Whitcomb and which was read at this morning's meeting was as follows:

Lowell, Mass., April 22, 1910.
Mr. Frank K. Stearns,
Chairman Police Board.
Dear Sir:—I see by the newspapers that your board has before it a petition for a liquor license at the corner of Mount Vernon street and Broadway and that action is deferred because of remonstrants. Now, I know nothing further of either petition or remonstrance, but on general principles I desire to keep the schools as far from the saloons as possible, and I can, personally, do nothing to protect the Cross street school, the school nearest the location named. I feel bound to do so. Please count me, therefore, as a remonstrant.

The school board has a meeting next Tuesday, and if it is desirable I will bring the matter to the attention of the board at that time, and get an official expression of opinion. At present I can speak only for myself.
Very truly yours,
Arthur K. Whitcomb,
Supt. of Schools.

held last Tuesday night the members of the board agreed with Supt. Whitcomb that the granting of a license to Mr. Barry in the location where he applied should be opposed and authorized Supt. Whitcomb, who is the secretary of the board, to enter objections to the granting of a license in that locality.

It will be remembered that when the licenses were granted by the board, three were held up, one of them being the application of Mr. Barry, the board at that time being of the opinion that the location was not a suitable one.

Prior to the hearing this morning the board received a communication from Supt. Whitcomb of the school department to the effect that he would be unable to appear at this morning's meeting, and would like to have the hearing postponed in order that he might be heard.

Henry F. Whiting, a trustee of the Phineas A. Whiting estate, the place where Mr. Barry applied for a license, informed the board that he favored the granting of a license in the building at the corner of Broadway and Mt. Vernon street, and Charles H. Noble, representing his brother George H. Noble, also favored the granting of Mr. Barry's license.

At the conclusion of the hearing the board decided to take the matter under consideration and report at a special meeting which will be held Monday morning.

Hotel License Granted
At the meeting this morning the board granted an innholder's license to Charles M. Dickey and Foster S. Thurston of the firm of C. M. Dickey & Co., innkeepers of the New American house. The granting of this license was held up owing to a technicality, the number on one door in the rear of the hotel having been left out when the application was made.

Use of Screens Allowed
The petition of several innholders that the use of certain screens be allowed in dining room windows in hotels was considered by the board this morning and it was voted to allow the hotels to use screens on certain dining room windows.

Yes and No
Thomas H. Kelley had petitions for an auctioneer's and pawnbroker's license. It was voted to grant him the auctioneer's license, while a hearing will be held next Tuesday morning at ten o'clock relative to the pawnbroker's license.

TONIGHT'S BOUTS

TURKISH WRESTLER TO MAKE HIS DEBUT

When John Kilonis and Ali Ahmed, the Turkish wrestler, meet tonight in their wrestling bout at the C. M. A. C. hall, there should be some interesting work, for both men are in the best of condition, know the game, and are out to win. The bout promises to be one of the speediest pulled off in this city in a long time.

No less interesting, however, will be the match between Jim Prokos, the popular Grappler of this city, and Homer Plazer, a Polish wrestler, who his friends claim, is a wonder. This bout will be at catch weights and should prove unusually interesting.

JAMES T. HORNBY

Well Known Druggist Passed Away Today

The many friends of James T. Hornby, for many years druggist at Plunkett's drug store, but more recently connected with O'Brien's drug store in Broadway, will be deeply pained to learn of his death which occurred this morning at St. John's hospital after a brief illness with pneumonia. He was a native of Lowell and lived in St. Peter's parish nearly all his life. He is survived by two brothers, George of Providence, R. I. and William Hornby of this city and one nephew, Lester G. Hornby, the well known artist.

ALLISON CASE

Taken Under Advice

The continued case of Robert Allison charged with the larceny of $285 from Ervin E. Smith was resumed this morning before Judge John J. Pickman in the library in the Market building. The defense finished its case after which arguments were made by the lawyers and shortly before one o'clock Judge Pickman took the matter under advisement and stated that he would render a decision on May 7.

DEATHS

KEARNS—George R. Kearns, aged 6 years, 2 months, died last night at the home of his mother, Martha Kearns, 54 Exeter street.

RILEY—Mrs. Hanora Riley, wife of the late Daniel Riley, died this morning at her home, 770 Central street. She was a well known resident of Lowell and a devout member of St. Peter's church. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Thomas J. McDermott.

THE BARTLETT'S WON
The Bartlett's who are out for the pennant this year defeated the Green school baseball team this morning in a one-sided contest. The Green school just escaped a shut out, the score being 12 to 1. The features of the game were the pitching of "Doc" Garity, who struck out twelve men, and the fielding of George Faneau, the Bartlett's crack second-baseman.

MOTORMAN INJURED PEOPLE OF BOSTON

Rear-End Collision of Electric Cars in Tewksbury

Motorman Albert Taylor, residing at 85 Middlesex park, this city, suffered a slight injury to his knee about 9:20 o'clock this morning just beyond Chandler's turnout in Tewksbury on the Lowell and Boston line of the Boston & Northern Street Railway company, when the service car which he was driving crashed into the rear of the regular car which left Merrimack square at 8:15 o'clock.

The accident was caused by the failure of the brakes on the service car. The regular "Medford" car left the square at 8:15 o'clock followed by the service car in charge of Motorman Taylor, and attached to the service car was an open car which was being hauled to the barn of the Boston & Northern in Chelsea.

The service car with its trailer kept at a respectable distance behind the regular car, but after the latter had left the turnout at what is known as Chandler's, it stopped to allow a passenger to alight.

The car stopped at a point on a down grade which was just around a curve and the motorman on the service car following, did not realize that the regular car had stopped until he turned the curve and then despite the fact that he applied the brakes there was such a steep down grade and also owing to the fact that the open car rammed into the service car after the brakes had been applied, the service car crashed into the regular car.

The impact, however, was slight, though strong enough to smash in the front of the service car and Motorman Taylor was thrown to the platform and crushed between the front dashboard and body of the car.

He was taken to the state infirmary nearby and the regular car followed by the special went on its way.

RAILROAD BILL

Cummins Amendment Defeated by Six Votes

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The first test vote on the railroad bill was had in the senate yesterday and resulted in a victory for the administration members.

The Cummins amendment, which would require all traffic agreements made between railroads and all rates, fares and charges to be approved in advance by the interstate commerce commission, was defeated by a vote of 29 to 35. Eleven republicans, most of them "insurgents" and 18 democrats, voted for the Cummins provision. All of the votes against it were cast by republicans.

The Cummins provision was offered as a substitute for an amendment introduced by Senator Crawford, which was favored by the senators supporting the administration bill. The "insurgents" and democrats contended that the purpose of the Crawford provision was to take the railroads out from under the Sherman anti-trust law.

LYNN, April 30.—For the first time since the button hole operatives of the Lynn shoe factories were organized there was a strike of this branch of the craft, here today. Resenting the dismissal of one of their number, the eight buttonhole operatives employed in the factory of the Watson Shoe Co. struck today. The operatives alleged that the employee discharged had incurred the displeasure of the foreman and that the discharge was the result of a personal grievance.

Business Agent Charles T. Murray of the local union offered to submit the matter to the arbitration of the local arbitration bureau. The company insisted that it be arbitrated by the state board of conciliation and arbitration, and as a result Richard P. Barry of this city, a member of the state board, held a conference with the company officials and representatives of the union this afternoon.

MORSE CASE

WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS TO BE FILED

NEW YORK, April 30.—Martin Littleton, counsel for Charles W. Morse the banker, now serving a sentence in the Atlanta penitentiary for violation of the federal banking law will appear before the supreme court of the United States in Washington next Monday and make a motion for leave to file a petition for writ of habeas corpus for the banker.

COLEMAN CASE

Has Been Postponed Until Monday

BOSTON, April 30.—The arraignment of William J. Kellher, known as "Big Bill" and of George W. Coleman as accessory and principals respectively in the looting of the National City bank of Cambridge, has been postponed until Monday at request of counsel, who desired an extension of time for the purpose of examining the indictments before the pleading of their clients.

When the indictments were returned on Thursday, it was announced that the arraignment would be held today. As a result of the action of the grand jury, United States Commissioner Hayes will have to release Kellher's surety today, as the case is now out of his hands. With the agreement of all parties concerned, however, the surety may hold over until arraignment day, when the surety is given the court.

For the present no other arrests are anticipated in connection with the case. The district attorney, however, has not finished his investigation.

NIGHTTRIDER WON

LONDON, April 30.—The Middlesex plate of 200 sovereigns for two year-olds, distance four furlongs, was run at Hunt park today and won by Charles Carroll's Nighttrider. Chalmers was second and Rostaldia third.

May be Obligated to go Without Milk Tomorrow

BOSTON, April 30.—The question whether Boston will be milkless through the farmers' strike is expected to be answered sometime today. Many of the large consumers have hoped that the controversy between the producers and the contracting handlers in this city over the price for an 8 1/2 quart can might today find a solution before the expiration of the three years agreement tonight.

Put every day has shown both sides to be steadfast, the farmers demanding a continuance of the winter scale of 37 1/2 cents a can, while the contractors maintain that 25 cents a can during the summer is a sufficient price. The consumer who pays the bills is in a hard position for it is either higher price per quart or no milk. The Producers' Association officials claim that unless an agreement is reached today some 30,000 out of the 40,000 cans of milk which Boston consumes daily will be withheld by the farmers after tonight.

The Boston district includes the farms in a radius of about 100 miles and shipments are made morning and night to halt a dozen contractors. In this city, who distribute the milk to the consumers in glass jars and small cans. The farmers have no other means of selling their product, for a system as quick, cold and cleanly handled as required and a recent outbreak of scarlet fever has shown that the utmost care is necessary.

U. S. SENATOR LORIMER

Accused of Securing His Election by Bribery

CHICAGO, April 20.—According to a copyrighted story printed in this morning's issue of a local newspaper, it has in its possession a sworn statement by Charles White, a member of the lower house of the Illinois legislature from the 46th district, charging that William Lorimer was elected to the United States senate last May by bribery and corruption.

White, who is a democrat, in his statement says that he received $1000 for voting for Lorimer. This money, he alleged, was paid him by Lee O'Neil Browne, democratic leader of the last legislature. White also says that he received $900 more from the "jackpot," a term applied to alleged funds distributed at the close of each session of the legislature. The $900, White alleges, was paid him by Robert B. Wilson, also a member of the legislature.

MISSIONARY GIRL HE HAS RESIGNED

Tried to Commit Suicide By Drowning

BOSTON, April 30.—Miss Philena De Long, 36, formerly a missionary to China, tried to commit suicide early last evening by jumping off Harvard bridge.

She was rescued by Drawtender Patrick Buckley and William West, and taken unconscious to the Cambridge Relief hospital, where she later revived and was found to be suffering from an unbalanced mind.

Miss DeLong told her landlady at the house at 560 Columbia avenue, several days ago, that she was not feeling well. Yesterday she said "she thought she would not go out dressing, and would take a little rest. She had a dinner appointment with a friend on Warren avenue last night, and when she failed to appear, the friend started inquiries which resulted in the finding of Miss DeLong at the hospital.

Miss DeLong graduated from the Gordon Training School for Missionaries, connected with the Newton Theological School, in 1899. After a term as local missionary for the Clarendon Street Baptist church she was sent to China, where she remained two years.

During her stay in China Miss DeLong is said to have tried to commit suicide by drowning. She returned to this country about five years ago, and has been recently employed as a dressmaker. She came originally from the Annapolis valley in Nova Scotia.

MEMBERS OF BAR

Pay Tribute to Justice Brewer

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Members of the bar of the supreme court held a meeting in the court room at the capitol today and paid tribute to the memory of the late Justice Brewer. The justices of the court were present.

Senator Curtis of Kansas, from which state Justice Brewer came to the bench, presided over the meeting. Senator Borah of Idaho was appointed chairman of the committee to draft resolutions expressing regret at the death of the jurist. Several eulogies were pronounced on the life of the deceased justice.

WESTON'S WALK

FISHKILL, N. Y., April 30.—Rising at 4:30 this morning, Edward P. Weston continued his transcontinental tramp at 6 o'clock from Washington Falls, where he spent the night. He did not stop here. At 6 a. m. he was just 70 miles from his ultimate goal, the New York city hall.

THE HYDE TRIAL

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 30.—Dr. Hyde, smiling and cheerful, came into the courtroom from the jail this morning. Dismissing the evidence of Dr. Frank L. Hall, a state witness, given yesterday, Dr. Hyde said:

"They never can hang a man on testimony like that."

START CARS AGAIN

COLUMBIUS, O., April 30.—The Columbus Railroad & Light Co. at 5:40 a. m. today as a test started the first car on the system since it took off the cars yesterday because of the strike of the motormen and conductors. An automobile filled with policemen accompanied the car on the trip and there was no serious disturbance.

Police Commissioner Convicted of Larceny

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—Harry P. Flanner, president of the San Francisco police commission, who yesterday was indicted for grand larceny in connection with a recent raid on a pool room in Sansalito, resigned his office today. His resignation was accepted by Mayor McCarthy.

Flanner declares he is the victim of a conspiracy.

ROBBERS FOILED

They Failed to Get Any Booty

WORCESTER, April 30.—Burglars made two unsuccessful attempts yesterday morning to blow open the large safe in the main office of the Whitins Manufacturing company of Whitinsville. The job was a bungling one, and from the condition in which the place was found the authorities think it the work of some one familiar with the town and the company's office.

It was the fourth time to pay men off Friday and the money for the payroll brought to the works Thursday night. This has not been done of late and the burglars had their work for naught. The entrance to the factory was by the use of jimnies, the front door being pried. The safe was badly damaged, but not opened.

PRES. WILSON

AT THE DINNER OF THE DAILY PRINCETONIAN

PRINCETON, N. J., April 30.—President Wilson of Princeton university received a cordial reception at midnight last night when he rose to speak at the annual dinner of the Daily Princetonian. About 150 undergraduates of Princeton, the editors-in-chief of the Yale, Cornell and Harvard college papers, and members of the Princeton faculty were present. Dr. Wilson responded to the toast "Princeton University." Dr. Wilson pleaded for a democratic human spirit and continued:

"Our prior is so bent upon material things that we sometimes are rebuked at the thought that there are nations lying still, caught in a crust of custom hardly to be broken, Oriental people whom we affect to despise, who as their quiet days pass have more satisfaction in the past and more assurance of the future than we have with our restless and half doubting Christianity. We do not hold our Christianity to be made happy by it. We try to evangelize the rest of the world through the medium of a faith which does not make us happy. We are at fault because it does not set our ambitions on the things which lie at the heart of the creeds. Our ambitions are too much for material conquests and too little upon peace of mind, too little for that faith which is in the final conquest of righteousness."

TAFT IN BUFFALO
BUFFALO, April 30.—President Taft arrived here at 7:25 this morning. He was met by a committee of the chamber of commerce and escorted to the residence of Ansley Wilcox, whose guest he will be while in Buffalo.

"The survival of the fittest" is amply illustrated in the long life of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which has been before the public for more years than most of this paper's readers care to remember. The truly American stage classic's present day popularity has long furnished food for thought among producing managers, playwrights and the public alike. The play, which is the public's favorite, seems an insured fact insofar as the Stetson company is concerned. This famous drama, music organization is at the Opera House today, matinee and night, in an entirely new and up to date dress. For the season Manager Washburn secured a cast of all stage favorites, each member having been selected for his or her special fitness for the respective parts. The vaudeville numbers introduced throughout the action of the play are features to be seen only with the Stetson company.

Commencing tomorrow afternoon and evening the policy of high class vaudeville and moving pictures will be resumed at the Opera House. A concert will be given today with a new list of pictures, the Tremont Quartet and Eva Medora on the program. Commencing Monday afternoon, a good vaudeville bill will be seen together with a series of the latest moving pictures. On the program for the first three days of the week will be the Tremont Quartet, who are the best of its kind in vaudeville, and who will be favorably remembered as a feature of a recent Colonial theatre, Lawrence, Ill.; Moyer & Co., Illusionist and Magician; Fred Pizano, character comedian, and Mildred Elsa, singing and dancing characters change artist. For the last three days of the week, Litter, Perry and Gibson, clever musicians and singers, will head the bill, assisted by Marlow & Plunkett, in a funny skit entitled "The Deaf Student." Burns and Clifton, singers and dancers, and

W. J. Holmes, character comedian. The pictures to be shown are all new and seen in Lowell for the first time. Performances are given at the Opera House every afternoon from 3 to 6, and two full shows are given at night, starting at 7 and 8.30. Tuesday night will be amateur night and a fine list of amateur talent has been secured.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

If Mayor Gaynor of New York falsely charged a publisher of that city with the commission of a crime, he is liable under the law same as any other man.

The legislature did the right thing when it passed the corporation tax bill providing that the tax collected by the state on corporations shall be returned in full to the cities and towns in which the industries are located. The amount accruing to Lowell will probably exceed $100,000. It will help in keeping down the tax rate.

Those light-winged Frenchmen are taking all the honors and most of the prizes from the Englishmen in aviation contests. It was Bleriot, a Frenchman, who was first to cross the English channel, and now Paulhan has carried off the $50,000 prize offered by Lord Northcliffe for the first to make the flight from London to Manchester in an aeroplane. Henceforth we may expect to find the British government giving special attention to the art of aerial navigation in order that England may fairly rival France and Germany in this new art.

TO STOP LYNCHINGS.

WANT COTTON TARIFF RETAINED.

The National Association of Cotton Manufacturers deprecates any attempt to reduce the tariff on cotton goods. The resolution adopted was as follows:

That this body deprecates the present agitation for further tariff revision, and points out that with balance of trade against this country any further opening of the door to imports would tend to destroy American industries, to stop employment, to reduce wages and to bring about another period of depression and disaster.

No doubt the manufacturers would be disappointed if the tariff were soon to be reduced as they expect to do good business under it next year when the new mills now under construction will have been started up. At present the great drawback to active operations all along the line is the high price of raw cotton.

SHORTER HOURS FOR WOMEN.

The supreme court of Illinois has handed down a decision declaring constitutional a law to regulate the hours of labor for women. The decision is remarkable from the fact that it reverses a decision of fourteen years ago by the same court on a question precisely similar. At that time the court held that it was not necessary for the police power of the state to interfere with the hours of labor of women unless those hours were such as to endanger the health of the women and thus unfit them for motherhood.

The court now, however, sustains the interference of the police power to restrict the hours of labor for women on the ground that excessive and debilitating labor by women would ultimately affect the public health in general.

This question has been agitated in other states and the matter of constitutionality has been raised against the proposition to have a special law regulating the hours of labor for women and children. The time seems to have arrived when such a law will meet general approval because its necessity has been amply demonstrated in almost every part of the country. In this respect the distinction between men and women is recognized. In opposition to this law it has been claimed that women should possess the same freedom of contract as do men. But on the matter of working hours the good of society and the proper protection of women demand that even against her will she be prevented from engaging in labor that may incapacitate her for the duties of family life.

ROYAL RECEPTIONS TO ROOSEVELT.

The European courts at which Colonel Roosevelt is a visitor, find it a very difficult matter to decide just what arrangements shall be made for his reception. Were he president of the United States or a prince of some ruling family the matter of his reception would be one of the commonplaces of court life in Europe. But he is a private citizen of the United States and hence the delicacy of arranging for his reception consists in whether he shall be received as a ruler of another country or as a foreign potentate.

Some of the courts at which he has already been received have accorded him the full dignity of president. It is stated now that the German emperor has arranged to receive him with all the dignity and honor that would be accorded to a crowned head. Emperor William is to meet the great American at the railroad station and in accordance with the usual formalities, part of the ceremony of greeting will consist in the hugging and kissing of the visitor by the emperor. This is a part of the program that we surmise Colonel Roosevelt would rather have omitted. It is believed, however, that the German emperor is an enthusiastic admirer of Mr. Roosevelt and will consequently receive him as he would receive King Edward of England or the emperor of Russia.

This would be a most extraordinary reception for a private citizen of any country. Indeed it is believed to be unprecedented. Mr. Roosevelt received such an enthusiastic welcome in France, that Germany will no doubt endeavor to show him the highest possible honors so as not to be outdone in this respect by France or even by England. As his visit to England will come last of all, King Edward can arrange to make the British reception second to none of the great ovations tendered Col. Roosevelt on his tour of European courts.

MILFORD PASTOR

Proposes to Open a New Creamery

MILFORD, N. H., April 30.—Rev. Francis W. Holden, "the farmers' friend," who has been instrumental in building a cooperative creamery here, announced yesterday that owing to the fact that the war is on between the milk producers and the contractors that the creamery will open for business Sunday morning.

It was at first intended to defer the opening until Monday morning, but Rev. Mr. Holden, as president of the association, and the directors felt that as the farmers were going to withhold their milk supply from the contractors Sunday morning this would give them a day's milk on their hands at a possible loss to them.

The farmers are united to a man, and from Lyndboro, Mt. Vernon, Amherst, Hollis and this town the milk producers will halt their teams Sunday morning at the creamery. Instead of the milk depot. As it is estimated that the section mentioned supplies one-twentieth of the Boston market the holding up of the supply will be felt.

Mr. Holden, in an interview yesterday, said: "Of some months ago this question between the producers and contractors would come up by May and I advocated a cooperative company for the building of a creamery. We are incorporated for $20,000 and nearly all the stock is taken up."

When the creamery goes into operation Sunday morning we will have a plant fully equipped with first-class machinery, and will take all the milk and cream that is brought in. Many of the farmers have already equipped their farms with separators, and routes will be established for bringing milk and cream to the establishment. Our stock will be Nishua, Lowell and Boston."

ARM CUT OFF

ACCIDENT TO MAN ON BATTLESHIP SO. CAROLINA

BOSTON, April 30.—The wording of a wireless message from the new battleship South Carolina caused considerable excitement at the Charlestown navy yard yesterday afternoon.

The South Carolina has been at Portsmouth and vicinity for a few days, holding various tests. Early yesterday morning the navy yard yard went down to the South Carolina with general stores and supplies. Her arrival at the ship was reported by wireless yesterday noon.

Soon afterward came a wireless message from the South Carolina, requesting permission to transfer to the naval hospital at Chelsea by the Ivana "wounded men." Capt. John C. Fremont, commandant at the local yard, replied with the query: "How many wounded men have you to send, and to what extent are they injured?" He at once issued orders to provide for the

The Lowell Caledonian club met on Thursday night in Pilgrim hall, there being a large attendance of members. Two new members were initiated and a committee was appointed to make arrangements for the proper celebration of the anniversary of the battle of Bannockburn. The annual summer outing of the club was talked over, but no final action will be taken until next meeting. After the business was over a social hour was passed in song and story and some of the old time dances brought a very happy evening to a close.

Foresters of America

Court Lowell, 193, Massachusetts Catholic order of Foresters, held a meeting Thursday night in Grafton hall, Chief Ranger Thomas J. Wallace presiding. Four applications for membership were received and three candidates were initiated.

The degree staff, recently formed under the direction of Capt. William J. Enwright, is holding weekly rehearsals and will perform the degree work on a large class of candidates next month. After the business meeting was over a social hour was enjoyed by the members of the court.

Visiting brother and sister members of the order were present from Haverhill, Lawrence, Westford, Granitville and North Chelmsford.

Red Men

The regular meeting of Passaconaway tribe of Red Men was held last night in Odd Fellows temple, Sachem George H. H. occupying the chair. Considerable routine business was transacted during the evening. Passaconaway Sachem Oliver A. Libby gave an interesting talk on great council affairs, and the progress of the order. K. of W. Edward T. Goward gave a report on the financial condition of the tribe. The degree master, Leonard F. Steele, spoke on degree work. The sachem urged the brothers to scout the forest and capture palefaces so as to keep the tribe at the head of the list in point of membership in this respect.

After a meeting, a whist party for members was held, suitable prizes being awarded the winners. Refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed. The committee in charge was Frank Riney, George W. Randall, Geo. E. Wilkins.

COMPANY K DANCE

Pleasant Affair at Colonial Hall Last Night

The annual prize drill and dance of Company K, Sixth Infantry, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, was held last night in Colonial hall, and it proved to be one of the brilliant social functions of the season. It was a military affair and the attractive uniforms of the gallant young soldiers and the light evening gowns of their fair partners presented a beautiful scene.

The interior of the hall was also beautifully decorated, the stage being banked with potted plants, the members of Hubbard's orchestra, who furnished music for the occasion, being hardly visible for the dancers.

The prize drill for the gold and silver medals offered by the company and open only to members of the company was the first event on the program, and between eight and nine o'clock the contestants for the medals were put through the manual.

There were two men entered. The squad was cut three times, the last three men to march on the floor being Privates Eugene O. Page, Melvin F. Master and Charles B. Garmon. These three were put through a strenuous drill and then the judges retired to confer. Later the names and 11 it was announced that the first prize had been won by Private Page, and that the silver medal had been won by Private Master. Private Garmon was given honorable mention.

Following the drill, dancing started immediately and continued until 1 o'clock with the exception of an intermission when a collection was served. There were 20 numbers on the program.

The patronesses, who received their guests in a prettily decorated corner of the hall, were: Mrs. Walter L. Barker, Mrs. Frank E. Dunbar, Mrs. Robert E. Bell, Mrs. Lewis E. MacBrayne, Mrs. John J. Rogers, Mrs. Charles A. Stevens, Mrs. J. L. Chaloux, Mrs. Percy Parker, Mrs. Arthur D. Colby, Mrs. Frank Dupee, Mrs. Julian Talbot, Mrs. J. V. Meigs, Mrs. J. M. Greig, Mrs. J. V. Meigs, Jr., Mrs. E. M. Tucker, Mrs. H. P. Graves, Mrs. Samuel F. Hadley, Mrs. Jacob Rogers, Mrs. Frank E. Jewett, Mrs. Francis Plunkett, Mrs. Thomas G. Walker.

The judges of the prize drill were: First Sergeant Cornelius J. Barnes of Company K, Sixth Infantry; First Sergeant Sanford P. Leary of Company K, Sixth Infantry, and First Sergeant Christian of Company M, Ninth Infantry. There were many other military and civil guests present, among them Privates Edwin Towne of the First Corps of Cadets, of Boston. Several well known local college men were also present.

The committee in charge was: Corp. Victor E. Jewett, chairman; First Sergeant Arthur D. Colby, Sgt. Winford C. MacBrayne, Charles H. W. Hoyt, Musician William Carroll, Privates Joseph Devine, Charles Talbot, C. Frank Dupee and Sidney La Plante.

A RECEPTION

WAS TENDERED REV. AND MRS. J. P. WEST

Rev. and Mrs. J. P. West were tendered a reception by the people of the Highland M. E. church in the church vestries last evening. There was a large gathering and the occasion was very delightful one. The vestries were prettily decorated and music was furnished by an orchestra consisting of A. R. G. Booth, violinist; Mrs. Ethel Wotton, pianist, and Mrs. Gertrude Hutchinson, cornetist.

In the receiving line besides Rev. and Mrs. West were Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Livingston, Mrs. E. Sargent Dickinson and Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Wilder. Following the reception, Miss E. B. the Chapman, in behalf of the church people, presented Rev. Mr. West a purse of gold, and Mrs. West a very beautiful silver toilet set. Mr. West spoke briefly, expressing his and Mrs. West's thanks for the remembrances and wishing of pleasure at having had the opportunity to serve in a pastorate which he had found the strongest and one of the most pleasant he had occupied.

Refreshments were served during the evening. Mrs. J. F. Walsh, Mrs. John Zimmerman and Mrs. Wesley M. Wilder constituted the committee in general charge. The decorations were under the charge of Mr. and Mrs. Walter I. Leach, William D. Large and Fred Timmins. The refreshment committee was: W. M. Wilder, R. M. Short, W. J. Leach, G. R. Hithwaite, E. H. Timmins, A. L. Gauthier and W. P. Dean, Jr.

Those in charge of the punch bowl were Mrs. Frank A. Short, Mrs. Walter I. Leach and Miss Ethel Gordon. Mrs. J. F. Walsh and Mrs. W. M. Wilder served leech, assisted by the Misses Edith Harrison, Sallie Burgess, Catherine Carter, Mildred Starvint, Bertha Chapman, Daisy Brown, Mildred Severance, Bessie Porter, Eva Vincent, Carrie Philbrick and Grace Mitchell.

Those in charge of the kitchen were: Mrs. William R. Kilpatrick and Mrs. C. A. Lester.

JACK JOHNSON

ARRIVED IN SAN FRANCISCO AHEAD OF TIME

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—Jack Johnson, the negro fighter, arrived here last night from Los Angeles, accompanied by his manager and trainers. The party came in several hours ahead of the time scheduled for its arrival and only a small portion of the local colored population was on hand to welcome the big pugilist.

Johnson was met at the depot by Gleason and Rickard, the two promoters of the coming heavyweight contest who accompanied the negro to Seal Rock where Johnson will go into training.

SECRETARY BALLINGER

Bitterly Attacked His Critics at the Investigation

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Indignantly denying that he was guilty of any wrongdoing, Richard A. Ballinger, secretary of the interior, bitterly attacked his critics while a witness before the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee yesterday and characterized many of the sworn statements of his principal accusers, L. R. Glavis, as "wilful and deliberate lies."

Led on by his attorney, Mr. Verrees, the cabinet officer answered one by one the indictments of those who would destroy him. He referred with apparent pride to Theodore Roosevelt's often expressed high estimate of him, particularly the former president's statement when he was commissioner of the land office, that he had "secured a $25,000 man for $6000."

He defended his conduct in connection with the Cunningham coal cases, and emphatically stated that he would take the same action today as he did when at the head of the land office if he had the same case before him.

After leaving the land office, Mr. Ballinger said, his only connection with the Cunningham cases was in bringing east from Seattle an affidavit by Clarence Cunningham and presenting it to Secretary Garfield. For his services he said he received $200 or $250, which he regarded as traveling expenses. He said that when he became secretary of the interior he refused to pass upon the claims in any way.

Attorney Verrees still has to examine Mr. Ballinger on the subject of water power sites before turning him over to Mr. Brandeis, counsel for Glavis, and Mr. Pepper, attorney for Pinchot, for cross examination. The secretary's testimony yesterday dealt almost exclusively with the Glavis charges; today it embraced his attitude toward conservation and the beginning of his controversy with Pinchot. The "defense" hopes to conclude by noon today. If this hope is realized, Mr. Brandeis will have Mr. Ballinger in his hands all afternoon.

HANGED HERSELF

Woman Gave Wrong Report to Census Man

INDIANAPOLIS, April 30.—Because she had made a mistake in giving a report to a census enumerator and feared arrest, Mrs. Julia V. Chilton, 41 years of age, committed suicide yesterday by hanging herself at her home. Her husband, a real estate dealer, found the body when he returned home.

GIANT HALIBUT WAS LANDED AT T WHARF

BOSTON, April 30.—A giant halibut, tipping the scales at 228 pounds, was brought in by one of the Sicilian fishing power dories at T wharf yesterday. The monstrous fish was captured while in pursuit of a pollock of which it had intended to make a meal.

The attention of the crew was first attracted by a great ripple on the surface and then a pollock came up, followed closely by the ravenous halibut. A well-directed blow from a gaff in the hands of one of the crew stunned the larger fish, the trawl was thrown out, and in a few minutes the fish was taken captive. It was later killed and dressed for market and brought a fancy price.

FOR COLUMBUS DAY

The Bill Signed Making It a Legal Holiday

Gov. Draper yesterday afternoon signed the bill making Columbus day, Oct. 12, a legal holiday. Gov. Draper is the 13th governor to sign such a bill. This gives to Massachusetts eight holidays, as follows:

Washington's birthday.....February 22
Patriots day.....April 19
Decoration day.....May 30
Independence day.....July 4
Labor day.....First Monday in September
Columbus day.....October 12
Thanksgiving.....Last Thursday in Nov.
Christmas day.....December 25

The other states which keep Columbus day as a holiday are: California, Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Kentucky.

There is no national holiday, even Independence day being a day set apart by the governments of the various states. The presidential proclamation designating a day of thanksgiving makes that day legal only in the District of Columbia.

There are 11 days in the year, however, which are widely observed as holidays, and in several states the date of its birth into the Union or the date of some special historical happening incidental to that state alone is added to its days of merry-making. All Saints' day, Nov. 1, in Louisiana, and primary election day in three states are observed as legal holidays.

Holidays in Each State
Even with the addition of Columbus day, Massachusetts still lags behind many of the states in the number of legal holidays provided by the state government.

Following is a list of the states and territories with the number of holidays in each:

Florida, 13; Alabama, 12; Montana, 12; New Jersey, 12; Pennsylvania, 12; Texas, 12; California, 11; Colorado, 11; Georgia, 11; Louisiana, 11; Maryland, 11; North Carolina, 11; Wyoming, 11; Connecticut, 10; Delaware, 10; Michigan, 10; Minnesota, 10; Missouri, 10; Nevada, 10; New York, 10; South Carolina, 10; Tennessee, 10; Utah, 10; Wisconsin, 10; Arizona, 9; Arkansas, 9; Illinois, 9; Indiana, 9; Iowa, 9; Maine, 9; New Mexico, 9; North Dakota, 9; Oklahoma, 9; Rhode Island, 9; South Dakota, 9; Virginia, 9; Washington, 9; West Virginia, 9; Idaho, 8; Kentucky, 8; Massachusetts, 8; Mississippi, 8; Nebraska, 8; New Hampshire, 8; Oregon, 8; Vermont, 8; Alaska, 7; District of Columbia, 7; Ohio, 7; Kansas, 6.

which has not made Christmas day a legal holiday.

In ten states Good Friday is a legal holiday and Arbor day in 21 states and territories. In some cities of large population Saturday afternoons throughout the year and in other cities Saturday afternoons for three months of the year are half-holidays.

Some of the governors who had already signed bills making Columbus day a holiday are:

Hon. Charles S. Deneen of Illinois, Hon. Frank B. Weeks of Connecticut, Hon. James N. Gillett of California, Hon. Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri, Hon. Henry A. Buchtel of Colorado, the first governor to approve the measure; Hon. Fred M. Warner of Michigan, Hon. Charles F. Hughes of New York, Hon. John F. Fort of New Jersey, Hon. Edwin S. Stuart of Pennsylvania.

In Massachusetts the Italian Columbus society has observed the Columbus day for 45 years, and at the hearing before the committee the largest committee room at the state house was crowded with Italian citizens and representatives for every organization of Italians in the state and every Knights of Columbus council, as well as by many leading labor men, who were anxious that the bill should be favorably reported.

Senator Tilling conducted the case for the petitioners and opened proceedings by depositing an enormous petition, making a pile more than a foot high, on the desk of the clerk of the committee.

It was said at the time that there were more than 15,000 signatures to this petition, and that in the room in which the hearing was held were representatives of over 120,000 people of the state who were desirous that the bill should become a law.

LONDON WOMAN
Who Will Not Greet Col. Roosevelt

LONDON, April 30.—There is one person in London who will not greet Col. Roosevelt with warmth—that is Mrs. George Cornwallis-West. She is hoping mad, and the former president is the cause. Mrs. Cornwallis-West on learning the date of Col. Roosevelt's arrival in London arranged a tremendous formal woman's dinner in his honor and invited many of the great London hostesses, such as Countess Crewe, Lady Pearson, Mrs. Asquith and others. All gladly agreed to hold open dates for approximately a week until the exact date could be assigned. As an afterthought Mrs. Cornwallis-West went to Paris to get Mr. Roosevelt to agree to a date. To her surprise, he absolutely declined to accept her invitation. Mrs. Cornwallis-West was in a particularly nervous frame of mind anyhow, as the king had just declined to act as sponsor and patron for her Shakespearean theatre. She became really peevish over Roosevelt's refusal and had to return to London and withdraw all her invitations. She is saying the most unkind things about her distinguished countryman.

WANT MORE PAY
Carpenters Demand an Increase

The demand of the carpenters' union of this city for a minimum wage of 40 cents per hour, instead of 35 cents per hour, as it is at the present time, was refused at a meeting of the master carpenters held last night, but the latter agreed to compromise by offering 37½ cents an hour as the minimum.

The meeting proved to be a rather lengthy one, and the matter was discussed from various points of view. The master carpenters will immediately notify the carpenters' union through the official channels.

A movement for an increase in wages was started by the carpenters

some time ago, and recently the master carpenters were sent a circular letter to the effect that the union would insist on the new wage scale going into effect on Monday, May 2.

Some eight master carpenters, employing large forces in their work, have already agreed to the terms of the union, but the rest, some 25 in number, had up till last night, taken no action in the matter.

The union officials state that they do not desire anything in the line of a strike, and it is probable that when the offer of the majority of master carpenters is made known to them a conference will be held on the matter.

The increase asked for by the union would mean an advance in day wages from $2.50 to $3.20.

The difference now awaiting settlement is not worth fighting over.

SERGT. MORLEY OF PITTSBURG DECLINED TO BE TAFT'S GUEST

PITTSBURG, April 30.—Why Police Sergeant Thomas J. Morley of the Pittsburgh police force declined to be the guest of President Taft at the banquet given here or attend the ball game with the president is best told in a signed statement. The fact that Sergeant Morley is known as the duplicate of the president in appearance at least is not causing the peace officer any loss of sleep. Here is Morley's statement: "In refusing after careful thought the invitation of my friend to me as President Taft's double to sit beside him at the ball game and banquet to be given in his honor May 2, I desire to inform my friends and the public in general of the motives which influence my decision. 'Tis not that I do not appreciate the good intentions of my friend in tendering the invitation or that I am not a great admirer of William H. Taft as president, as a man of high attainments and great judicial ability, nor is it because I do not appreciate the honor it would be to sit beside the president of a great nation at such auspicious occasions, but it is on account of my retiring disposition and the dislike of too much notoriety. I would deem it a great favor to meet the president under other circumstances, and I trust my refusal in this instance will not be misunderstood by the public in general and President Taft and my friend in particular."

WANT MORE PAY
Carpenters Demand an Increase

The demand of the carpenters' union of this city for a minimum wage of 40 cents per hour, instead of 35 cents per hour, as it is at the present time, was refused at a meeting of the master carpenters held last night, but the latter agreed to compromise by offering 37½ cents an hour as the minimum.

The meeting proved to be a rather lengthy one, and the matter was discussed from various points of view. The master carpenters will immediately notify the carpenters' union through the official channels.

A movement for an increase in wages was started by the carpenters

RUSSELL CASE WILD ANIMALS

Early Hearing by the Supreme Court Asked A Great Collection From Far East

BOSTON, April 30.—The most wonderful collection of wild animals ever brought to Boston from the far east arrived last evening on the Castle line steamship Muncester Castle, from Japan, China and Siam Settlement. The entire cargo deck was filled with cages and boxes containing the beasts.

Capt. Watson, the commander of the steamer, who owns the entire menagerie, was mourning the loss of a royal Bengal tiger when the reporter boarded the freighter on her way up the harbor. The animal, which the captain said was worth $750, died of blood poisoning yesterday morning as a result of cutting its foot on a rusty nail. The head and skin were stripped off and will be presented by Capt. Watson to Columbia university.

The captain opened the cover of a wooden box and drew out a 30-foot python, weighing 200 pounds. With the aid of some of the Chinese sailors the reptile was stretched out. Then it began to get lively and the captain slammed it back in its box.

One of the most valuable animals in the collection is a black panther from the Malay archipelago. Two days ago the panther made a swipe at the Chinese cook who happened to be standing near its cage, and tore the original's trousers and shirt off in a twinkling. It made another huge at the man but the cook escaped by dropping to the deck.

A bird of paradise said to be the only one ever brought to the United States alive, is included in the collection. Man-eating leopards, wild cats and other fierce beasts occupied one entire section of the hold. Most of the animals were bought from animal dealers at Singapore.

The collection includes two big cassowaries and four bears from Borneo; three orang outangs from Sumatra; a strange looking bear cat, believed to be the only one in captivity; half a dozen leopards, including two of the species known as "cloudy leopards," and scores of apes and monkeys. There are 13 pythons and a great variety of birds of bright plumage.

Capt. Watson removed the outside covers from some of the cages to show the animals to the customs officials and reporters, and the roars of the beasts could be heard all over the harbor.

The menagerie will be taken to New York when the steamer goes to that port next week.

The Muncester Castle came from Shanghai, Karatsu, Hongkong, Singapore, Cebu, Calicut, Tellicherry and Mangalore. Besides her valuable collection of animals she brought merchandise worth more than $1,000,000. Hundreds of tons of firecrackers, great quantities of sandalwood, pepper, spices, rattans, human hair, tea curios, Chinese groceries, tapir, jelatang, etc., filled the holds. More than 4000 tons will be landed here, and about the same amount will be taken on to New York.

Capt. Watson said the Muncester Castle had to pay $7500 toll passing through the Suez canal. He said the length of the canal is 86 miles, while the Panama canal will be 50 miles. He thought a vessel like the Muncester Castle would have to pay about $5000 to pass through the Panama canal and he believed that when completed the canal will be a great asset to this country.

Gown For the Sweet Girl Graduate

WHAT SHE'LL WEAR WHEN SHE GETS HER SHEEP-SKIN THIS YEAR.

THE sweet girl graduate is spending every spare minute she can from "exams" and "crams," those nerve racking tests of mentality, to the selection of materials and styles for the gown in which she hopes to look her prettiest on the great occasion when she shall receive her sheepskin. The graduation frock is second only in importance to the coming out and wedding gowns, but it is even harder to select, for the ingenuity of the designer is taxed to the utmost to keep the frock strictly within the limits of the newest there is in the world of modes and yet have it youthful and girlish in appearance. But this season, when styles all favor the ingenu, the choice is comparatively easy. But, my dear girl, beware of deciding upon the two waisted model, as the new skirt tied in closely about the knees by a ribbon sash has been dubbed by a witty member of the male sex. Walking in such a costume is not a thing of grace at any time, and a girl is apt on graduation day to be a bit self-conscious and a trifle awkward, so don't help along the cause by appearing in a skirt that is bound to make you "tumble all over yourself."

The gowns illustrated are French models that make for simplicity and smartness in a graduation costume. They have the required slinky effect about the feet without the suggestion of the tied in appearance that is so unbecoming. The skirts are plaited about the waist, but as all textures used this season are so soft and pliable it is found possible to give an effect of real gathers and shirings without adding perceptibly to the most exaggerated slimness. The first secret of this is the absolutely perfect fit of the under-dress or lining. Since the outer texture is so very soft and often of transparent weave it is the lines of the undershirt, therefore, which show the real silhouette of the dress. In the gown seen in the illustration the slips are of white silk. The more elaborate model has an undershirt of white chiffon, at the bottom of which is a ruffle shirred on cords. The overskirt is of embroidered net, weighted with a hem of soft satin. The full gathered waist is of net cut round above the bust. The puffed cap sleeves are in one with the bodice and are outlined with a narrow line of embroidery. The undersleeves are of shirred chiffon. And, apropos of the drooping shoulder line caused by sleeve and bodice being cut in one, it is well to build up that same shoulder piece by placing a small silk or chiffon ruffle in the lining at the top of the sleeve. But, to come back for a minute to the frock described, a tucker of lace forms the square low neck effect, and the girdle is of folded chiffon.

The other model is of white cotton

voile, than which there is no prettier and less expensive material for the graduation gown. The full skirt is trimmed with a deep band of dotted net, which in turn is run with Valenciennes lace. The bodice has an odd little bolero formed by a ruffle of the voile, and a deep girdle outlines the little jacket effect. A lifted frill of net softens the round neck. The draped sleeves are caught in the center with corded pearl ornaments. Ornaments of pearls also finish the ribbon streamers which hang from the girdle down the front of the skirt.

In all the sheer wash fabrics and in chiffon, voile and the many gauzes it is possible this season to carry out a style of dress that has not been available for some years past—that is, the high girdle bodice with a skirt shirred or gathered over the hips. The bodice that accords with this model is of the the goods gathered at the edge with a three inch corded ruffle. The ends of the bertha are gathered up closely into a 'chou, beginning at the center of the back. The folds then broaden out gradually over the shoulders and round almost to the waist line in front, where

The ribbons cross in such a fashion that the rosettes come a little to the top and bottom of the center front and back waist lines. By the way, the newest girdle shows a pretty waist line, placed exactly in its natural position, not exaggeratedly

BURN WASTE MATERIAL OF HOUSEHOLD

A WOMAN who lives in the country will find she can save a great many pennies by regulating household trash, ashes, etc. Trash, for instance, is an expense in the country, because the householder in a number of cases pays for having it carried away; therefore her economy comes in having inflammable stuff burned on the premises. And as dry trash is easily three-fourths of the refuse she saves just that much on cartage.

To hold trash there should be a barrel and a firm mandate issued by the head of the house that old tins, bottles and everything nonburnable be put into it. In another barrel papers, rags, etc., that usually fill the household scrap basket must be placed.

One particular spot on the place should be reserved for the holocaust. It will be a black and unsightly spot, and for that reason a retired nook should be chosen. If there is none the drive may be used, for after the fire is out the gravel may be raked over, so in a day or two all traces of the fire are obliterated.

As for the ashes, unless they are very coarse they make excellent walks in the country. It is best to have them sifted first, as some may be burned later, thus reducing the coal bill. Those left are cluders that will pack down hard and smooth and save buying gravel for walks and drives. In this way a whole walk may be made of ashes with a thin top layer of gravel. This is a tip for persons building country houses on limited incomes. They, as none others, know that the financial demands of the grounds are endless, and this is one way in which money may be saved. If one does not require ashes for the grounds there are always country roads in need of repair, where they may be put. Selectmen have no objection to this, if the ashes are properly placed, and many a dollar may be saved.

WELL, WHY NOT?

Salad for breakfast? Who ever heard of such a thing? Why not serve oatmeal porridge at dinner or oyster cocktails after the coffee?

Not so fast. One isn't recommending just any kind of salad for breakfast—not those unnatural combinations of fruits and mayonnaise with whipped cream, than which, by the way, there could be nothing more illogical—but simply a crisp little green salad to eat with your toasted graham bread and bacon. Suppose you try it before you pass judgment. When a green salad is served for breakfast the fruit course may be omitted, and this in itself is a solving of the question which is uppermost in the minds of housekeepers at the present moment—reducing the household accounts.

HOW TO FEED AN INVALID

FEW things are more difficult than to get a sick person to take nourishing food, and no task, as a rule, is worse managed. Amateur nurses may be successful in other matters, but they generally make a failure of the food proposition.

The nurse is usually to blame when the patient will not take food. She will bring a huge saucer full of jelly or a large cup of beef tea to him, and he will reject it with disgust, because the sight of so much food is distasteful. If she brings a few spoonfuls at a time and serves them daintily he will be glad to eat.

Give little food at a time and give it often. That which is eaten willingly and with relish is far better than double the amount swallowed with disgust.

If a time is fixed for the invalid's meals always be punctual. If kept waiting most sick people will refuse food when brought to them.

Be careful never to leave food in the sickroom in the hope that the patient may eat it later on. Miss Florence Nightingale, the world's most famous nurse, says this will prevent him from taking food at all. In nine cases out of ten a sick person's appetite is capricious, and because he enjoyed a certain dish one day there is no reason to imagine that he will like it the next; therefore food should be as varied as possible.

Don't rely too much on beef tea. It is a useful stimulant, but not really nourishing, as most people suppose.

Be careful to serve everything in the daintiest style. Glass should be bright, silver burnished, napkins lilly white and saucers free from spots. These little details will make all the difference in the patient's appetite.

Always be sure that the patient is placed in a comfortable position to eat and drink, and be careful that no crumbs are left in the bed.

"OH, WHAT A GOOD IDEA!"

There is often trouble when machining hems or tucks of fine muslin. The flimsy material is apt to cockle, and it is not always easy to regulate tensions exactly to prevent this before mischief is done. The matter is simple enough if you know a little trick. Put your delicate muslin under the needle just as though you were going to begin work in the usual way. Then have ready some narrow strips of paper and slip one of these under the muslin and proceed to machine away. The effect would be like machining a firm piece of cotton instead of puckering gauze. Of course the strips are machined to the garment, but it is perfectly easy to break this away after the work is finished, and instead of doing harm it helps to keep the hems straight and firm.

Another little dodge is useful for those who prefer hand tucked baby clothes and underlinen, but yearn for the accuracy of the tucker on the sewing machine for spacing and straightness. Run the tucks with the machine, but without the thread. Then you have them set and you are ready to run in the hand tucks where the little machine holes have made their mark.

SYSTEM IN THE HOUSEHOLD.

"Seeing is knowing where it is," is the way one woman twists an old motto, and she illustrates it by row upon row of glass jars and bottles in her kitchen closets, in which are all the dry groceries in plain sight. Fruit jars with screw covers in various sizes are the ones employed by her, and the contents are not only visible, but they are safe from the invasions of mice or smaller depredators. Among her sewing necessities the same system prevails—bottles with screw tops for various kinds of buttons, the bottles that come from the druggist with tablets and pills, hooks and eyes, and even tapes and blindings and her small ribbons and pieces of lace, if you would

WHITE AND GREEN LUNCHEON

WHITE and green make an exquisite combination for a spring luncheon. The napery will be pure white linen and the green touches supplied by the floral centerpiece and the decorations of china, glass, etc. A tall glass or vase of Easter lilies is a charming center decoration for the table, and about its base may be arranged bunches of lilies of the valley, to be given later to the guests. From each bunch of the lilies narrow green satin ribbons are placed across the table, ending at the name cards, which cards are hand painted with a butterfly.

As the luncheon decorations are white and green, the viands must follow this idea as closely as possible; and the following may be found an excellent menu:

Little Neck Clams.
Cream Puree.
Chicken Timbales.
Flaked Potatoes.
Tomato Salad.
Cream Cheese.
Wafers.
Spring Pudding.
Bonbons.
Sautéed Almonds.
Coffee.

Arrange the clams on the half shell in a bed of ice surrounded by wreaths of watercress. The cream puree is made as follows: Boil six medium sized potatoes until mealy and press them through a colander. Heat one quart of milk in a double boiler, add the strained potatoes and cook ten minutes, then strain through a sieve and return to the double boiler. Add one-half teaspoonful of butter and season with celery salt to taste. To each plate of soup add a tablespoonful of whipped cream just as it goes to the table, and over the cream sprinkle a very little chopped parsley.

For the chicken timbales boil two chickens until tender; skin, bone and mince the meat very fine, using only the white meat. Beat four yolks of eggs with a tablespoonful of butter to a cream, then add one-half cup of chopped mushrooms, a pinch of salt, white pepper to taste and one-half pint of cream. Mix this well into the chicken and add the stiffly beaten whites of the four eggs.

Use little china timbale molds for the baking and put a single whole mushroom in the bottom of each. Then fill the mold with the mixture, place them in a pan of boiling water, cover with another pan and bake in a moderate oven for three-quarters of an hour. Serve with a sauce made of mushroom liquor thickened with a little flour dissolved in milk, add one tablespoonful of cream and salt and white pepper to taste.

To make the flaked potatoes boil four or five large potatoes in salted water until mealy, drain dry and remove skins. Have the dish in which they are to be served very hot—it is best to put it over a pan of boiling water—and rub the potatoes through a coarse sieve upon it. Do not touch the potatoes until serving them to each guest or the flakes will lose their shape.

The tomato salad consists of tomatoes sliced, heaped in nests of white lettuce leaves covered with mayonnaise sprinkled with nut meat.

The spring pudding is pretty and toothsome. For it grate sufficient fresh coconut to fill a coffee cup, mix with it two rounded cups of powdered sugar, the white of one egg and a tablespoonful of vanilla extract. Last of all stir in lightly one cupful of stiffly whipped cream. Put a slice of angel cake on each plate and heap upon it some of the coconut cream, sprinkling the whole with powdered pistachio nuts.

Serve white and green bonbons and finish the feast with cups of coffee heaped with whipped cream. Tie the handles of the cups with pale green ribbon.

TO CLEAN LAST YEAR'S HAT.

Of course you'll want some new hats, but why not get out last season's left-over and bring it right up to date by a few clever touches?

Don't be discouraged if the straw is soiled, for, if the shape is correct and the straw unbroken, dust can be conquered.

The puttylike substance used for wall paper is good for this cleaning process. Another useful cleaner for light straw is black magnesia. This can be rubbed over the hat in the block or first powdered. The thick paste is kept on overnight and brushed out the next morning. Repeat process if necessary. White cornmeal and gasoline mixed

The New Blouse

THIS waist is one of the newest models and is promised a long run during the summer months. It is cut in one, the body part and the sleeves, and a good many plays on the style are being made. In some choice hand-made models the seams down the backs of the sleeves and in the shoulders are set together with hand beadings. Turn back frills finishing neck and sleeves are the latest whimsy.

HINTS FOR YOUR GARDEN.

Most women who have the opportunity to grow flowers delight in doing so. They love to tend the plants and plan novel effects to be gained by charming color schemes. Here are a few hints given by an expert gardener as to the arrangement of shrubs and flowers in the yard:

Besides the shrubs in the yard we must have flowers. Plant all you can afford to buy if you are prepared to take care of them. Starved, sick, discontented flowers cry out for help to every passerby. Cruelty to flowers should be made a criminal offense. It is almost as bad to abuse a beautiful flowering plant as to beat a horse.

Don't plant in round beds. Plant in long beds in front of the shrubbery where the flowers can have a background of green foliage. Plant the tall, brilliantly colored flowers at the back—the canons, hollyhocks and the like. Take the big ugly canna bed out of the lawn and string the cannas out, two or three plants deep, in the front of the tall shrubbery way back in the yard. Plant the smaller and more delicate ones near the front.

A SMART COACHING PARASOL.

THE day of the parasol will soon be with us, and Dame Fashion demands this season that our shoes, gloves and parasol match in coloring. This is an expensive mandate that few women can live up to, but an attempt at harmony of coloring is within the reach of even a moderate pocketbook. The sunshades themselves are lovelier than ever, and many new ones have found covers made from a piece of the little foulard gown which they will accompany. The economical woman will find no trouble in covering one of her old parasol frames with a piece left over from her frock. Japanese shapes in parasols are the very newest with the ribs curving inward. The handles on all the smart parasols are longer and larger than ever.

Rings are sometimes used to hold the tips together, and white sunshades show charming ivory handles and ribs tipped with the ivory.

RUSSIAN SUIT IN LINEN AND EMBROIDERY.

WHILE the clothes of very young girls are always simple, they are strictly up to date. A clever little touch here and there puts the indelible mark of smartness on them.

As every mother knows, it is a much more difficult matter to make a modest, simple child's dress than it is to make an elaborate costume. The Russian influence is noticeable in all the smart little frocks of the spring. They usually consist of one piece dresses. Many of them are trimmed with the new Russian embroideries in bright rich colorings. These handiworks are particularly effective on linen and serge suits. Patent leather and colored leather belts play a prominent part in these frocks.

The illustration shows a charming dress for a girl of eight or ten in white linen. The Russian overblouse, elaborately embroidered in white, hangs gracefully over the plaited skirt. The gimp of lace and lawn is cut round at the neck and finished with a plaited collar. The ribbon sash goes through slits at the waist line of the blouse. A quaint bonnet made of small pink flowers and a pink silk parasol trimmed with Dresden ribbon complete this very fetching costume.

COMEDY OF ERRORS

New Bedford Defeated Lowell With Ease

Buckles Was Wild and Received Poor Support—First Baseman McCrone Was Struck on Head With Pitched Ball

Tom Dowd and his Whalers made their first appearance at Spalding park yesterday and defeated the home team in a comedy of errors, to which even such reliable fielders as Magee and Jones contributed.

Buckles, the California long boy, was on the slab for the visitors and he was lacking in control although he showed great speed and good curves. In the first inning he struck first baseman McCrone of the visiting team in the head and McCrone was dead to the world for five minutes.

Lowell tried to rally in the fifth and made four runs but couldn't keep the pace with the Whalers.

First Inning

Buckles was slammed pretty hard in the first inning and when the smoke of the battle had cleared away the visitors had sent three men over the plate. Cassett, the first man to bat, hit to Boules and was out at first. Buckles then hit McCrone in the head and the game was delayed until the latter recovered consciousness. McCrone was then given a runner. Rising hit one too hot for Boules to handle and reached first. Cunningham hit Buckles and reached first in safety. Williams hit a grounder to Boules and when the latter threw over Stone's head Wilson, who was running for McCrone, and Rising scored. Williams then stole second and scored on Bauman's single to center field. Wilson fouled to Lemieux.

In the latter half of the inning Fitzpatrick drew a base on balls and went to second on Griffith's sacrifice. Fluharty fled to Rising and Magee hit a grounder to Cunningham and was retired at first.

Score—Lowell 0, New Bedford 3.

Second Inning

There was nothing doing in the second inning. Pratt drew a free pass and went to second on Griffith's sacrifice. Cassett popped a fly to Buckles and Pratt later stole second, but he died there for McCrone hit to Ritz and was out at first.

Lowell got as far as third base in the latter half of the inning but failed to get a man across the plate. Stone singled and went to second on Jones' sacrifice. Campbell hit along the first base line and was second out. Lemieux hit to Bannan and was retired at first.

Score—Lowell 0, New Bedford 3.

Third Inning

Two more goose eggs were registered.

Brooklyn and Fall River played an 11-Inning tie yesterday.

George Primrose was out to the game, likewise Charles S. Demowski.

Poor Buckles became undone in the fifth and for a moment he looked like a candidate for the bench. Buckles lost control of the ball and a choice assortment of curves but he lacks control.

When Buckles hit McCrone in the head in the first inning the fans thought of the Bowdoin case. McCrone was out for five minutes but he gamely continued in the game.

It took just 1 h. 9 m. for the Doves to defeat Brooklyn. One of the quickest games on record.

James Miller, second baseman for Lawrence, is out of the game with a broken rib. He was struck by a pitched ball, by Pitcher Sweeney of Brooklyn.

COHEN ARRESTED

He is Wanted by the Police of Manchester

A man by the name of Cohen, a man from Boston, who has sold handkerchiefs on the street corners in Lowell for two or three years and probably for several years, was arrested at the corner of Central and Jackson streets this afternoon by Officer Peter Cavley. Cohen is wanted by the police of Manchester, N. H., for skipping bail bond, and that's about all the local police know about it.

Inspector Dow of the Manchester police is expected to arrive in this city this afternoon. He it was who requested the arrest of Cohen. While there is no charge in this city against the man who sells handkerchiefs from a big satchel and says, after he has counted a dozen, "Here's another, for your sister, one for your sweetheart, one for Teddy, one for the cat, one for the dog, etc., a small army of those who dealt with him at the corner of Central and Jackson streets, followed him to the police station and charged him with having bounced them. While Cohen didn't acknowledge the corn he settled with his accusers.

The Manchester inspector and W. J. Freeman, a Manchester livery stable keeper, arrived in Lowell about 4 o'clock this afternoon and explained that Cohen sold a phony ring in Manchester, N. H. The ring contained two white stones and one red stone. Cohen, it is alleged, said they were the real thing but they proved otherwise and the fellow who bought them made a holler. Cohen was arrested and Mr. Freeman went his bonds. On the day set for trial Cohen, it is said, failed to put in an appearance and Mr. Freeman had to make good. Cohen was arrested on a warrant taken out by Freeman.

Cohen was not taken back to Manchester. He settled.

THE ARCHBISHOP 1600 QUIT WORK

Will be in Lowell Building Laborers Want More Pay

The eleventh mass meeting of the Middlesex county branch of the American Federation of Catholic Societies will be held in Associate hall, tomorrow afternoon at 8 o'clock. Rev. William O'Brien, permanent rector of St. Patrick's church, will preside. The principal speaker will be Archbishop O'Connell. Among others who will make addresses will be Timothy W. Harty, president of the branch; P. Sarsfield Cumiffe, Charles T. Daly, Hon. James H. Vahay, Rev. Ambrose P. Roche, county chaplain, and Rev. David J. Toomey, D. D., (director of Diocesan Press) of Boston.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 30.—Sixteen hundred building laborers, mostly Italians, members of the building laborers union, ushered in at noon today the first May day celebrations when they left their work, declaring that they will not return to their occupations until they had obtained a substantial increase in wages.

The men went out at the command of their leader, Felice D'Allesandro of Boston, who has been in this city during the past three months perfecting his organization. With the declaring of this strike it is feared that building operations in this city will cease. The men who struck today include building plasterers, bricklayers, cellar and sewer laborers. Other unions of carpenters, painters, plumbers and steamfitters were asked to join the men in the strike, but they refused even to consider the request.

Tomorrow will be a day of celebration with the strikers, who state that two parades and several mass meetings will be held and the authorities fear that disorder will ensue. The police have already taken necessary precautions and arrangements have been made to try and keep the strikers under control.

NEW BEDFORD	2	0	2	0	0	1	0	0	5

There were about 1200 fans at Spalding park this afternoon to witness the second game between Lowell and New Bedford. It was expected that Wolfgang, the Boston National pitcher, would be on the slab for the home team, but he failed to put in an appearance and Tyler was sent in to do the work and the spectators were just as well pleased that the new man did not put in an appearance for Tyler's work during the games he has played this season has been meritorious.

Tyler, however, was unable to play the entire game himself and he and the spectators got rather disgusted with the manner in which the Lowell men played during the first inning.

Manager Gray announced that he had secured the services of Mark Morris, the first baseman of the St. Louis Nationals.

The game was called shortly after three o'clock by Umpire Connolly, the batting order of the teams being as follows:

Lowell
Fitzpatrick 2b
Doultles ss
Fluharty rf
Mages lf
Stone lb
Jones cf
Campbell 3b
Huston c
Tyler p

First Inning
The visitors scored two runs in the first inning while the home team failed to send a man across the plate. Cassett, the first man up, hit to Campbell and was retired at first. McCrone followed with a single to right field. Rising hit to center field and Jones being asleep at the switch, after allowing the ball to go by him, made a bad attempt to pick it off the ground and while McCrone scored Rising got to third base. Cunningham singled and Rising scored. Cunningham tried to steal second and was thrown out. Williams closed the inning on a fly to Jones.

In the latter half of the inning Fitzpatrick hit to Wilson and was out at first. Boutles hit to Syfert and met a similar death. Fluharty got a single to left field but Mages struck out.

Score—Lowell 0, New Bedford 2.

Second Inning
Neither side scored in the second inning. Walsh hit to Fitzpatrick and was retired at first while Wilson and Pratt struck out.

In Lowell's half Stone flied to Wilson and Jones followed with a base on balls. Campbell struck out and Huston hit to Cassett and was thrown out at first.

Score—Lowell 0, New Bedford 2.

Third Inning
More dumb playing in the third inning gave the visitors two more runs. Syfert struck out and Cassett singled. McCrone bunted to Campbell who threw Cassett out at second. Rising then got a single and McCrone went to second on the play. A passed ball advanced both men a base. Cunningham hit an easy foul fly which Stone dropped and then Cunningham got a single to left field. McCrone and Rising scored. Cunningham tried to steal second and was thrown out.

In the latter half of the inning Tyler singled to right field and Fitzpatrick flied to Pratt. Boutles flied to Rising and then Fluharty got a scratch hit. Mages hit to Wilson forcing Tyler at third and the side was retired.

Score—Lowell 0, New Bedford 4.

Fourth Inning
The visitors went out in one, two, three order in the fourth inning. Williams and Walsh struck out and Wilson went out on a grounder to Tyler, the latter sending the ball to first in time to get the runner.

Stone hit to Wilson and was out at first and Jones hit to Cunningham and was retired at first. Campbell singled, and Huston followed with a base on balls but Tyler was third out on strikes.

Score—Lowell 0, New Bedford 4.

Fifth Inning
Pratt flied to Huston. Syfert struck out. Cassett hit to left field for two bases. McCrone flied out to Fitzpatrick.

Fitzpatrick hit to Walsh and was thrown out at first. Boutles hit to Walsh who threw wildly to first. Fluharty flied out to Williams. Mages got first on Wilson's error and Stone flied out to Cassett.

Score—Lowell 0, New Bedford 4.

Sixth Inning
New Bedford scored another run in the sixth inning. Rising got a base on balls and went to second on Cunningham's sacrifice. Williams flied to Boutles and Rising later stole third. As Rising was on his way to third Walsh hit to right field for a single and Rising continuing on his way scored. Wilson singled to left field and stole second, but Pratt hit to Tyler and was retired at first.

In the latter half of the inning Jones and Campbell hit grounders to Syfert and were out at first. Huston singled to right field, but he died before he could get around the bases for Tyler hit to Cunningham forcing him at second.

Score—Lowell 0, New Bedford 5.

Seventh Inning
In the seventh inning Syfert hit to Campbell and was retired at first. Cassett drew a base on balls. As he started to steal second McCrone hit to Fitzpatrick and Fitz threw to first geting McCrone and Jones threw to third for a double play.

It was Lowell's lucky seventh and four men crossed the plate. Fitzpatrick hit to Walsh who fumbled and the runner got on first. Boutles hit to Wilson forcing Fitz at second. Fluharty singled as did Mages and Stone.

On Stone's single Boutles and Fluharty scored. Jones hit the ball down to the Bull Durham sign in center field for what should have been a home run, but Wilson interfered with him and he was nailed at the plate, but prior to that Mages and Stone scored. Campbell was third out on strikes.

Score—Lowell 4, New Bedford 5.

Eighth Inning
There was a decided change in the lineup of the Lowell team in the eighth inning. Tyler was retired from the game. Boutles went from short stop to pitch, Huston went from behind the bat to short stop and Lemieux went to catch.

Rising hit to Campbell and was out at first. Cunningham struck out. Williams hit to Huston who fumbled and the runner was safe. Williams then stole second but he died there for Huston flied to Fluharty.

In the latter half of the inning Huston drew a base on balls and Lemieux after being hit by a pitched ball walked to first. A wild pitch advanced both men. Fitzpatrick drew a base on balls and the bases were filled. Boutles hit to Walsh forcing Huston at the plate. Fluharty struck out. Mages hit to Syfert and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 4, New Bedford 5.

Ninth Inning
In the ninth inning Wilson struck out. Pratt flied out to Fitz. Syfert got a scratch hit. Cassett hit to Campbell forcing Syfert at second.

Stone, the first man up for the home team, hit to left field for a single. Stone went to second on a sacrifice by Jones. Campbell hit to Cunningham and died at first while Jones went to third. Huston flied to Pratt.

Score—Lowell 4, New Bedford 5.

Hits—Lowell 10, New Bedford 7.

Errors—Lowell 3, New Bedford 3.

GERMAN BANKS INVOLVED

BERLIN, April 30.—It now transpires that certain German banks are involved in the insolvent of the Alabama cotton firm of Knight, Yancey & Co. The matter was discussed today on the bourse where shares of the Deutsche National bank of Bremen were sharply depressed because it was assumed that the house has sustained severe losses through forged bills of lading. The bank itself appears to be still in doubt whether bills accepted by it were forged or genuine. In any case the officers of the institution do not expect the losses to exceed $200,000.

FOOTBALL RULES

NEW YORK, April 30.—After a late session last night followed by another which consumed the greater part of the day, the National intercollegiate rules committee in session here announced shortly after noon today that it had completed the main points of the revision and would announce its amendments in full tonight. Secretary E. K. Hall of Dartmouth declined to explain these changes but admitted that they were of very great importance. He said that much of the time of the committee this morning had been taken up in discussing provisions to protect the receiver of the forward pass which means that this play is to be retained. It is also believed that the committee has decided to adopt a compromise on the question of a limited defense.

WARRANTS ISSUED

For Suspects in the "White Slave" Traffic

NEW YORK, April 30.—More warrants were issued today for suspected traffickers in white slaves following the arrest last night of one woman and two men and the declaration of District Attorney Whitman that he had proved that white slavery in New York was a reality. While detectives are searching for the other men and women who have been implicated by Mr. Whitman's investigators, four girls, who, the district attorney says, were purchased ostensibly for immoral purposes by the seekers after evidence, are being held in some secret place by the prosecutor. Each of the girls, none of whom is more than a child, is said to have told Mr. Whitman her own story of abduction, imprisonment and mistreatment. One of them was so young that she cried when her teddy bear was taken away from her.

The war against white slavery was begun early in January shortly after Mr. Whitman took office. John D. Rockefeller, Jr. is foreman of the grand jury which has been investigating the white slave business.

LIVELY RUNAWAY TREES PLANTED

An Exciting Time in Arbor Day Was Observed in Lowell

A horse belonging to Abel R. Campbell, the Middlesex street real estate dealer, became frightened while standing in front of a house in Wiggsville this afternoon and ran away. The animal ran through upper Lawrence street towards the city, but upon reaching the railroad tracks at the Lowell cemetery took to the tracks and pulled the light buggy to which it was attached over the rails and sleepers. Upon reaching Rogers street the horse attempted to go in the direction of Fort Hill park, but John McFadden, an employee of the American Hide & Leather Co., who was driving on one of the company's wagons, jumped from the vehicle and by running the horse into a pole brought it to a standstill.

When the horse was brought to a standstill it was found that the animal had escaped injury, and the wagon was not the worse, the only damage being that which was done to the harness.

BRITISH FLEET SURPRISED

LONDON, April 30.—The fleet of British warships anchored off Sheerness had a novel experience today when an aeroplane from the aero club aviation grounds at East Church suddenly appeared out of the haze and manoeuvred over and above the vessels at varying heights. After making a deliberate reconnaissance the aerial craft disappeared from view.

The aeroplane which startled the naval officers is a Wright model and was piloted by Cecil Grace. After leaving the harbor it flew nearly fifty miles in fifty minutes, rising at one time to a height of 1500 feet.

GONE TO ANNAPOLIS

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Prince Tsai Tso, the distinguished Chinese visitor and his retinue left today for Annapolis to be the guest of Supt. Eoyer of the United States naval academy. Tonight in this city the prince and his entourage will be the guests of the Chinese minister who will give a dinner and reception in their honor.

FRANKLIN SMITH

WAS RESTORED TO LIFE BY THE COURT

PITTSFIELD, April 20.—The power of the courts over life and death was well illustrated here when Franklin Allen Smith of Fort Wayne, Ind., previously pronounced legally dead by the probate court of Central Berkshire, was restored to legal life by that tribunal and declared entitled to receive a bequest of $2,600 from the estate of his father, Hiram A. Smith, late of Williamstown. Frederick A. Smith of Pittsfield, a brother of the legally resurrected man and who was administrator of the Indiana man's estate, appeared in the probate court today and admitted the identity of Franklin A. Smith. Smith left his former home in Williamstown nearly thirty years ago and nothing has been heard from him until within a few weeks when he appeared in Pittsfield and laid claim to his share in his father's estate.

Notice to Advertisers

The publisher of The Sun regrets that owing to the unusually large number of advertisements received for yesterday's editions, it was a mechanical impossibility to get those advertisements arriving late, ready in time for publication. Advertisers who were late in getting in their copy and who find their advertisements omitted will, therefore, understand the reason.

It would be well for advertisers to take notice of this and send in their ads. a day ahead, if possible, especially when a rush may be expected as is usually the case on Thursdays and Fridays.

CITY HALL MAN

Heavy Damages in Connection With Abolition of Grade Crossings—Third Car Sprinkler Will Start Tomorrow

John Downing, an engineer at city hall, has been appointed smoke inspector for Lowell. Mayor Mehan made the appointment today, and Mr. Downing will accept. Mr. Downing looks after the boilers at city hall and is on the city messenger's pay roll. The smoke inspector will serve without pay as the law does not provide for any remuneration.

The Star Theatre

The Star theatre will not open tomorrow, Sunday. Complaints relative to the interruption to services by the concerts in the theatre were lodged with the mayor by members of the First Congregational church, and the mayor decided to allow the theatre to open on trial, last Sunday. The hours that the theatre was allowed to open did not conflict with the hours of church services, but it seems that they did disturb the pastor in his study during the afternoon. Mayor Mehan says he will not allow the theatre to open on Sunday until such action is agreeable to Mr. Willmott and his congregation.

Grade Crossing Matter

It was stated today that there would be heavy damages as a result of the abolition of the grade crossings in Walker, School, Plain and Lincoln streets, and the aldermen at their meeting Tuesday evening will appoint somebody to represent the city in the assessment of damages. City Engineer Powers will be the man, as he has to do with the work and is familiar with it. The city will be called upon to pay ten per cent of the damage.

Sewer Work Started

Work on the East Merrimack street and Plummer avenue sewers was begun a few days ago and work has also been started on the Cumberland road sewer. The work of smooth paving will probably be begun about May 10, says Frank Mallory, the man who will supply the blocks, says he will have them on hand on or before that date. Prescott street will be the first to receive the attention of the smooth pavers.

The Third Sprinkler

The third car sprinkler will appear in the streets tomorrow. The contract reads that the third car shall start on May 1. The car arrived here several days ago.

IMPOSING SERVICE

THE GREEK CHURCH IN LEWIS STREET

Four Thousand Greeks Turned Out in Street Procession in Which Was Borne a Great Floral Catafalque—Arrangements for Easter Service

Tomorrow will be Easter Sunday in the Greek colony and will be solemnly observed at the Greek church and will be the occasion of feasting and entertainment in the houses. All Greeks on Easter morn exchange the kiss of peace, saying: "Christ is Risen." The late pedestrian in the vicinity of the Greek colony last night must have been deeply impressed upon seeing about 11 o'clock a lengthy procession of men in uniform and in civilian attire all bearing lighted candles and escorting a large floral catafalque. The procession was a feature of the service of Epiphany or Burial of Christ, a service incidental to the observance of Good Friday in the Greek church. The Good Friday services took place in the church in Lewis street at 8 o'clock last evening. At the opening of the service the interior of the church was packed while the streets in the vicinity were thronged with men, women and children. Near the sanctuary, and before the altar was placed a huge floral catafalque, over which a floral dais, surmounted in turn by a floral cross and triumphed with candles. On the catafalque lay a sacred icon, the image of the dead Christ, and one of the most beautiful and precious of the many icons owned by the church. At the altar, the pastor, Rev. Fr. Constantinos H. Demetriou, officiated, and at one end of the sanctuary acolytes chanted the hymns of the Greek church. On each side of the floral catafalque, and reaching from the sanctuary to the street door, two lines of soldiers stood, the Greek militia in their khaki uniforms, and bearing arms. There were 125 of them. The services took over two hours. The congregation standing throughout. During the services the bells in the church steeple pealed continuously. At the close of the church service the street procession was formed and there were nearly 4000 Greeks in line. The line was led by George Couzoules, president of the Greek community. Then came the floral catafalque borne by four men, then came the Lowell Military band escorting the guard of honor consisting of 125 members of the Greek militia followed also by the fourteen Greek fraternal organizations and the main body of the congregation. The sidewalks along the line of march were crowded with spectators while red fire was burned, candles illumined the windows of the houses and were carried by those in the parade. It would appear that every one of the 10,000 or more Greeks in Lowell were in the street during the progress of the procession. As the men marched they chanted: "Lord have mercy" in their native tongue. The procession passed through Lewis, Little, Dummer, Market, Adams and Suffolk streets and back into the church where the catafalque was deposited before the altar where it will remain until Easter morn.

A RIOT CALL

POLICEMAN WAS THUMPED BY A CROWD

BOSTON, April 30.—Saugus town hall, situated in the heart of Saugus, last night was the scene of a dance, considerable "crap shooting" and an assault upon an officer which caused the sounding of the riot call and the summoning of two dozen officers.

The hall was engaged for a dance by an organization calling itself the Eranos club. The dancing began early, and so, it is said, did illegal dice play. When Patrolman Morin Hazel discovered that the latter was going on he attempted to interfere, but was mauled and thumped by a crowd of young men. They proved too much for him and he fled down the stairs, screaming for help.

This sudden interruption to the ordinarily placid life of Saugus so alarmed the keeper of the lockup that he sounded the riot call and every available patrolman was rushed to the scene. There they were unable to identify any of their fellow officer's assailants and the dance proceeded with the officers watchfully grouped about the hall.

GRAND WELCOME MAYOR GAYNOR

Was Extended to Ex-Pres. Roosevelt Replies to the Statement of William R. Hearst

THE HAGUE, April 30.—Theodore Roosevelt was welcomed here at midnight with astonishing demonstrations. The masses were waiting at the railway station and when he alighted from the train they swept him along toward his carriage. The police were powerless to check the violent rushes, in which numbers of persons were thrown to the ground.

Foreign Minister Swinderen, whose wife was Miss Bessie Glover, of Washington, D. C., received Col. Roosevelt on the platform in behalf of the government and drove with him in a court equipage through the decorated streets of the city to the Hotel Des Indes, near the American legation. In the party also were Kermit Roosevelt, Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Ethel left Amsterdam on an earlier train and already were here when Col. Roosevelt arrived.

The great, orderly assemblage of townspeople, cheering and waving the Stars and Stripes and handkerchiefs, remained outside long after Col. Roosevelt had entered the hotel. Frequently the crowd burst into song and called for the American ex-president to appear. Finally he came out upon the balcony and bowed to the multitude, then withdrew. The crowd, however, remained some time afterwards, singing patriotic songs, and then dispersed.

Col. Roosevelt and his wife and children will be received today by the Queen Mother. In the afternoon he and his party will visit Delft, where is situated the palace in which William of Orange was assassinated, but now used as a museum, and various other interesting places.

Altogether Col. Roosevelt's visit yesterday to the land of his forefathers was a notable one. From the time that his train reached Roosendaal, on the frontier, until he retired last night, the cordiality of the people toward him was remarkable. The people everywhere cheered him and at Het Loo, Queen Wilhelmina and the Prince Consort and high personages in the realm welcomed him, and her majesty gave a luncheon in his honor.

When Col. Roosevelt arrived at the summer home of the queen at Het Loo, the Prince Consort was standing on the front steps awaiting him. When the automobile containing the American party stopped, Prince Henry, without awaiting an introduction shook the American ex-president's hand warmly and assisted him to alight from the royal automobile which had brought the party from Arnhem. After meeting Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Ethel and Kermit, the prince had them shown to their rooms where they changed their clothes and afterward were received by the queen in a small drawing room. Queen Wilhelmina took Col. Roosevelt's arm when luncheon was announced and the Prince Consort escorted Mrs. Roosevelt. After the luncheon the queen remarked that she was sorry she could not show the little baby princess to the Americans, but that the baby and her husband had been vaccinated in the morning.

Col. Roosevelt and his party spent about two hours at Het Loo and would have lingered longer had they not been compelled to catch an early train for Amsterdam. To do this the party was conveyed in royal equipages to Apeldoorn.

The private saloon car which had been provided for the Americans by royal command, in some manner got lost so that the Roosevelts and Mr. and Mrs. Beaupre took compartments in a first class car at Apeldoorn, whence they departed amid the cheers of hundreds of persons inside and outside the station.

During the trip the other passengers on the train walked in procession through the corridor to see Col. Roosevelt, who was reading a book, outside the pages as he went, until the tumult of the waiting crowds in the Amsterdam station aroused him.

The burgomaster of Amsterdam and a deputation of prominent citizens received Col. Roosevelt and conducted him and his party to their carriage.

The great assemblage in the open square in front of the station uncovered as Col. Roosevelt appeared. The demonstration was entirely without organization. There were only a few policemen there to keep back the crowd. Col. Roosevelt and his party then were driven around the city to see the sights.

The editor of the Amsterdam Handelsblad late yesterday, upon Col. Roosevelt's acceptance by telephone, arranged a public meeting in the Free Church of Wateringssing, and Col. Roosevelt spoke from the pulpit to about 800 persons, who filled the church. Among the figures in the stained glass windows of the edifice were those of Emerson and Carlyle.

"I'm glad to come back to the home of my forefathers," Col. Roosevelt said. "I am proud of the fact that I have good Dutch blood in my veins. My people left here before Rembrandt and Deruyter was known."

"I am sorry that I can't speak the Dutch my grandparents taught me. One cradle song I still remember," Col. Roosevelt recited a lullaby, a quaint old stanza, in which geese figured, to the delight of his hearers. He then spoke on citizenship, praising Holland for the sturdy qualities of the country, which had maintained itself for many centuries and had taught the world that no one could escape from being governed—that either he must govern himself or somebody else must do it for him. Each man, he said, must insist on his rights, but more important he should remember the duties and responsibilities he owed to his neighbors.

Further on in his speech Col. Roosevelt said that if the rich men maintained an arrogant attitude in their relations toward those less well off, they may expect the dreadful day of judgment upon themselves or those who come after them.

He was cheered enthusiastically after his address and the organ burst forth with "The Star Spangled Banner."

Early last evening the municipality of Amsterdam gave a dinner to Col. Roosevelt. Party covers were laid, but the members of the press were not admitted. During the dinner the burgomaster drank a toast to Col. Roosevelt, and the American ex-president responded in a neat speech.

After the dinner Col. Roosevelt left for this city.

WOUND ON HEAD

Man's Body Found on River Bank

NEWBURYPORT, April 30.—The body of John P. Jordan of Fleet street, Haverhill, was found on the Salisbury shore of the Merrimack river at the estate of Prof. Marcus D. Buell of Boston university yesterday afternoon by Wesley J. Bailey, who was rowing a boat upstream. The local police were notified and the body was brought to an undertaker's rooms here.

Medical Examiner R. C. Hurd found a bad wound on the left side of Jordan's head at the temple. It was round in shape and fresh blood was oozing from it. No fracture of the skull was found and Mr. Hurd thought the injury might have been received after death.

Dr. Hurd will communicate with Dist. Atty. Peters of Haverhill in regard to an autopsy.

Jordan wore a naked suit of clothes, gray sweater, laced shoes and black necktie shirt. On his suspenders was a nickel badge, bearing the inscription "Telegraph No. 99389 Mass. Mutual Accident association, Boston Mass., and identify me." Letters in his pocket identified him.

City Marshal McLean notified the Haverhill police and learned that Jordan was last seen in that city about two weeks ago.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Mayor Gaynor and William Randolph Hearst byth issued statements last night on the issue of veracity raised Thursday night at the joint banquet of The Associated Press and the Newspaper Publishers' association, when the mayor said that Mr. Hearst was a forger and falsifier.

Supplementary statements were issued by Comptroller Prendergast, ex-Comptroller Metz and the district attorney's office, following rumors that was a possibility of future legal proceedings, as a result of the mayor's address Thursday night.

"I am not entirely familiar with all the accusations against Mayor Gaynor, or his attempt to divert attention from them by an attack on the American," I have just returned from Mexico.

"It is obvious to anyone, however, that the mayor's defense is false upon its face."

"His attack upon the American is entirely disingenuous and wholly untruthful."

"His only claim, when it is analyzed,

is that the American failed to print clearly the date of a photographic facsimile of one of the documents in the case against him, although the American carried the same date of the same document clearly printed in type in the text of the article.

"What a petty quibble for an important man or rather what a quibble for a petty man who holds an important position."

The statement then goes into details to prove the truth of the article which Mayor Gaynor charged to be false.

"Finally, anybody who can read and think can see clearly that the date in question is not the important date, anyhow, but that the important date of Jan. 4, a date in Mayor Gaynor's administration upon which the payment to Cohalan of $48,000 was finally signed and actually authorized. The January 4th signature was affixed by the assistant chamberlain in the office of Chamberlain Hyde, Mr. Gaynor's law partner."

"Mr. Gaynor says the American does not answer clearly."

THEY WERE MOURNED AS Lost

PORTLAND, Me., April 30.—The Portland fishing schooner Topsall Girl, Capt. John A. Daggett, arrived here yesterday with her flag at half mast. The captain's son, John L. Daggett, and another of the crew, George Hosh, were missing and it was feared had been drowned. They had been rescued, however, and were found at the wharf here, sound and well, by their shipmates.

When the schooner was off the La Have banks a thick fog set in and a storm came up rapidly. All the men out in the dories except Daggett and Hoshy remained. They had been exposed to the full fury of the storm.

After a seemingly hopeless wait, Capt. Daggett sailed for Portland.

The two men were in the dory 48 hours and were exhausted when picked up and carried to Clark harbor, Cape Sable, where was sent to Hon. C. N. Hurd, ex-mayor of Portland, at whose request the men were sent by the U. S. consul to Portland. They arrived here only a few moments before the Topsall Girl and in half an hour were again on board.

STOLE BICYCLE

YOUNG MAN ARRESTED IN BILLERICA

Jos. Martin, aged 19 years, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Police Officers Conway and Livingston on a warrant charging him with the larceny of a bicycle valued at $60 in Wallingford, Conn., last November. The young man was arrested at his father's house in the southeastern part of the town where he has been staying for the past several weeks.

The theft was committed, it is alleged, by Martin, who was working in Wallingford and the owner of the wheel communicated by telephone with the Billerica officers to work the case on this end, as he had reasons to believe that Martin was in Billerica and had it in his possession. Officers Livingston and Conway went to Martin's home yesterday and asked him about the matter, but at first he denied any knowledge of the affair. He later admitted taking the bicycle and also produced it. Martin will be held for the Wallingford police.

WHIST PARTY

A pleasant whist party and concert was held at the rooms of the Pay-tucket Social club in Moody street Thursday night. Mayor John F. McEnany was the guest of honor and spoke in a very interesting manner.

The program consisted of piano solos by Miss Ernestine Alexander; violin solos by Miss Eva Cinq-Mars, accompanied on the piano by Miss Emma Cinq-Mars; piano duet by the Misses Cinq-Mars; a reading by Henri Dalgic; a song by Philippe T. Levesque; piano solos by Misses Blanche Larue and Alix Genest, and comic songs by Elzevir J. Larochelle.

The committee in charge was composed of Josephat Sawyer, president; Albert Hamel secretary; Olive Tardelle, treasurer; Euclide Cinq-Mars, Pierre Ouknon; a sub-committee was composed of Ursula Larue, Henri Gellinas and Wilbrod Sawyer.

1910 Memorial Day on Monday, May 30

Present indications give promise of unusual opportunity for a beautiful Memorial Day observance. The season is at least two weeks in advance of normal. The present indications are that there will be an abundance of flowers.

Lot Owners at Lowell Cemetery are urged by the management to do everything possible to make the cemetery especially attractive, to take every advantage of the unusual season. In making our own lot owners do this, we make a general public interest that each and every burial place for the dead in Lowell shall show evidence that—

"God calls our loved ones, but we lose not wholly
What he hath given;
They live on earth, in thought and deed, as truly
As in His Heaven."

Never Put Off Until To-morrow The Pill You Should Take To-night

Procrastination is the enemy of health—comfort at least should remind you not to forget. Beecham's Pills should be always on hand, so that when not feeling up to the mark, before your light goes out, you have taken your dose. The action of the pills insures good sleep and you wake fit and well. They are mild but vigorous enough to remove obstruction and to restore to normal the affected organs. A clear eye, head and brain fit to cope with all comers, follow the use of

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Men, women and children are not only stronger and brighter, but in every respect better. The mind acts quicker after taking Beecham's Pills—everything becomes more natural—the vigor and vitality are remarkable. If you have never used Beecham's Pills, get a box and try them the next time you have an attack of indigestion, biliousness, sick headache or any ailment arising from stomach, liver or bowels.

It is easier to overcome these troubles before chronic conditions become established so that it is advisable to take the pills as soon as nature asks for assistance. It is important to remember that when the digestive functions have been perverted by disease, the general health undergoes rapid deterioration and a serious breakdown may occur, if proper measures are neglected, but Beecham's Pills if

Man's Body Was Terribly Mangled

ELLSWORTH, Me., April 30.—His clothing catching on a shaft which was revolving at the rate of 30 revolutions a minute in the mill of Whitcomb, Haynes & Co., F. P. Witham, aged about 60, was almost instantly killed today. His body was terribly mangled and the back of his skull was crushed in. Witham was employed in the mill. He leaves a wife and five children.

THE COMING MEMORIAL DAY

In a broad minded way the Lowell cemetery management is making the effort to bestir not only its own cemetery lot owners, but all lot owners in all cemeteries in Lowell and near towns to a general observance of the coming Memorial day. This is commendable. Of all our holidays, Memorial Day is the one most beautiful, partly from sentiment, and largely on account of the beautiful time of season. This year, with a season at least two weeks earlier than usual, there promises to be a wealth of flowers, and it does seem as though the community would take advantage of this fact. Every lot owner is requested to co-operate with his or her cemetery management in seeing to it that premises are put in perfect order. That this be done at once, and in ample season before Memorial Day is essential, and in the interest of all, early orders mean co-operation. With the opportunity, let all make individual effort to make 1910 Memorial Day a memorable day.

CHAS. J. GLIDDEN

Took Blind Man on Balloon Trip

BENNINGTON, Vt., April 30.—The first blind man in the world to undertake such an experience, William J. Heinrichs, a sightless sinner in a Boston church, with Charles J. Glidden yesterday, in the balloon "Massachusetts" made an airline flight of 32 miles from Pittsfield, Mass., to this place, landing here about two hours after ascending. Although Mr. Glidden was the pilot, Mr. Heinrichs made the landing, pulling the valve open when the balloon was 200 feet above the earth.

FOUND GUILTY

ARCHITECT HUSTON WAS CONVICTED OF CONSPIRACY

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 30.—Capitol Architect Joseph M. Huston was convicted yesterday of conspiracy in falsely certifying to a padded bill for desks for the state capitol after a trial of almost four weeks and by a jury which deliberated almost 26 hours.

The verdict was accompanied with a recommendation for mercy "on account of his irreproachable reputation prior to this charge."

A motion for arrest of judgment or suspension of sentence so that reasons might be presented for a new trial was made at once and granted.

THE METROPOLITAN LINE

The Metropolitan Steamship Co. passenger service All-the-Way-by-Water direct between Boston and New York will be inaugurated for the season on Monday, May 23d, when the Harvard and Yale will be placed in commission. This announcement will be welcomed by many in this section who use the Metropolitan Line in travelling from Boston to New York and in connection with trips to points beyond New York City.

The fare via the Metropolitan Line is the same as via the Long Island Sound Lines, and through tickets are on sale at all regular railroad and steamboat ticket offices throughout the country.

SILVER JUBILEE

Beautiful Religious Event at St. Michael's Church

Sr. Alexia, O. S. D., and Sr. Mary Pius O. S. D., Observe 25th Anniversary of Their Profession as Nuns—Jubilee Mass Largely Attended

An unusual and most impressive service took place at 8 o'clock this morning in St. Michael's church when a jubilee mass was celebrated to mark the 25th anniversary of the religious profession of Sister Alexia, O. S. D., superior of St. Michael's convent, and Sister Mary Pius, O. S. D., one of the teachers at St. Michael's school, both of whom took their final vows at the mother house of the order, the convent of St. Catherine of Siena, Springfield, Kentucky, on the feast of St. Catherine of Siena, just 25 years ago today. Sister Alexia has the distinction of being one of the little band of Dominican Nuns who founded St. Michael's convent and opened St. Michael's school over 20 years ago. In 1891 Sister Alexia, broken down in health, returned to the mother house supposedly to die, yet today finds her in fair health and excellent spirits, residing over one of the most successful parochial schools in the archdiocese.

A large congregation gathered at the jubilee mass including many former pupils of the school. There were present also representatives of the convents of the Sisters of Mercy, the Nazareth Sisters, the Sisters of the Assumption, the Sisters of St. Mary and the Franciscans. There were also Dominican nuns from nearly all of the missions in New England. The mass was sung by Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor. Assisting within the sanctuary were Rev. William O'Brien, T. R. of St. Patrick's church, who while pastor of St. Michael's brought the Dominican nuns to Lowell and Rev. D. J. Murphy. The music incidental to the service was given by two choirs of boys and girls directed by Sister Loretta, O. S. D., who also presided at the organ.

The girls' choir of 75 voices sang Battman's convent mass in G. At the offertory Misses Katherine Navin and Winnie Hart rendered the Venetian hymn and after mass the boys' choir of 40 voices gave the hymn of thanksgiving, the solo parts being sustained as follows: Sopranos, Ernest Ready and Eddie McGarry; altos, John Barrett and Thomas McGovern. After the feast of St. Michael's, the choir sang the words of St. Bernardine of Siena, "What shall I render to God for the things He has rendered to me," delivered by a beautiful address on the nature of the

A Number of Minor Licenses Were Granted Today

The board of police met in special session this morning for the purpose of giving a hearing to Patrick H. Barry, who applied for a liquor license at 419 Broadway, corner of Broadway and Mt. Vernon street, as well as transacting considerable routine business which was to come before the board.

After Mr. Barry had applied for his license and the license was published, Supt. Arthur K. Whitcomb, secretary of the board, sent a personal communication to the board of police recommending against the granting of a liquor license to that locality owing to the fact that it was close to the Cross street school.

The communication read to the board of police by Supt. Whitcomb and which was read at this morning's meeting was as follows:

Lowell, Mass., April 22, 1910.

Chairman Police Board.

Dear Sir:—I see by the newspapers that your board has before it a petition for a liquor license at the corner of Mount Vernon street and Broadway and that action is deferred because of remonstrants. Now, I know nothing further of either petition or remonstrance, but on general principles I desire to keep the schools as far from the saloons as is possible, and if I can, personally do anything to protect the Cross street school. The school nearest the location named, I feel bound to do so. Please count me, therefore, as a remonstrant.

The school board has a meeting next Tuesday, and if it is desirable I will bring the matter to the attention of the board at that time and get an official expression of opinion. At present I can speak only for myself.

Very truly yours,

Arthur K. Whitcomb,

Supt. of Schools.

MOTORMAN INJURED

Rear-End Collision of Electric Cars in Tewksbury

Motorman Albert Taylor, residing at 25 Middlesex park, this city, suffered a slight injury to his knee about 9:30 o'clock this morning just beyond Chandler's turnout in Tewksbury on the Lowell and Boston line of the Boston & Northern Street Railway company, when the service car which he was driving crashed into the rear of a regular car which left Merrimack square at 8:15 o'clock.

The accident was caused by the failure of the brakes on the service car to work.

The regular "Medford" car left the square at 8:15 o'clock followed by the service car in charge of Motorman Taylor, and attached to the service car was an open car which was being hauled to the barn of the Boston & Northern in Chelsea.

The service car with its trailer kept at a respectable distance behind the regular car, but after the latter had left the turnout at what is known as Chandler's, it stopped to allow a passenger to alight.

The car stopped at a point on a down grade which was just around a curve and the motorman on the service car following, did not realize that the regular car had stopped until he turned the curve and then despite the fact that he applied the brakes there was a steep down grade and also owing to the fact that the open car rammed into the service car after the brakes had been applied the service car crashed into the regular car.

The impact, however, was slight, though strong enough to smash in the front of the service car and Motorman Taylor was thrown to the platform and crushed between the front dashboard and body of the car.

He was taken to the state infirmary nearby and the regular car followed by the special went on its way.

RAILROAD BILL

Cummins Amendment Defeated by Six Votes

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The final vote on the railroad bill was had in the senate yesterday and resulted in a victory for the administration members.

The Cummins provision was offered as a substitute for an amendment introduced by Senator Crawford, which was favored by the "insurgents" and democrats contended that the purpose of the Crawford provision was to take the railroads out of the Sherman anti-trust law.

NATIONAL HYMN OUT ON STRIKE

Was Played in Honor of Button Hole Operators Quit Work

LYNN, April 30.—For the first time since the button hole operatives of the Lynn shoe factories were organized there was a strike of this branch of the craft here today. Resenting the dismissal of one of their number, the eight buttonhole operatives employed in the factory of the Watson Shoe Co. struck today. The operatives alleged that the employees discharged had incurred the displeasure of the foreman and that the discharge was the result of a personal grievance.

Business Agent Charles T. Murray of the local union offered to submit the matter to the arbitration of the local arbitration bureau. The company insisted that it be arbitrated by the state board of conciliation and arbitration, and as a result Richard P. Barry of this city, a member of the state board, held a conference with the company officials and representatives of the union this afternoon.

MORSE CASE

WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS TO BE FILED

NEW YORK, April 30.—Martin Littleton, counsel for Charles W. Morse, the banker, now serving a sentence in the Atlanta penitentiary for violation of the federal banking law will appear before the supreme court of the United States in Washington next Monday and make a motion for leave to file a petition for a writ of habeas corpus for the banker.

COLEMAN CASE

Has Been Postponed Until Monday

BOSTON, April 30.—The arraignment of William J. Keilher, known as "Big Bill" and of George W. Coleman as accessory and principals respectively in the looting of the National City bank of Cambridge, has been postponed until Monday at request of counsel, who desired an extension of time for the purpose of examining the indictments before the pleading of their clients.

When the indictments were returned on Thursday, it was announced that the arraignment would be held today. As a result of the action of the grand jury, United States Commissioner Hayes will have to release Keilher's surety today as the case is now out of his hands. With the agreement of all parties concerned, however, the surety may hold over until arraignment day, when the surety is given the court.

For the present no other arrests are anticipated in connection with the case. The district attorney, however, has not finished his investigation.

COLONIAL DAMES MEET

Boston, April 30.—Without contest the following officers for the next term at the tenth biennial council now in session here:

President, Mrs. R. W. Cox of Virginia; secretary, Mrs. A. R. Miller of Delaware; treasurer, Mrs. A. J. Cassett of Pennsylvania; registrar, Mrs. N. T. Alice French of Iowa.

An honorary president, Mrs. Howard Townsend of New York was chosen. The question of the society contributing to the fund for the erection of a monument to the signers of the declaration of independence in the national cathedral at St. Peter and Paul in this city will be settled at today's session.

PEOPLE OF BOSTON

May be Obligated to go Without Milk Tomorrow

BOSTON, April 30.—The question whether Boston will be milkless through the farmers' strike is expected to be answered sometime today. Many of the larger consumers have hoped that the controversy between the producers and the contracting handlers in this city over the price for an 8½ quart can might today find a solution before the expiration of the three years agreement tonight.

Every day has shown both sides to be steadfast. The farmers demanding a continuance of the winter scale of 37½ cents a can, while the contractors maintain that 25 cents a can during the summer is a sufficient price. The consumer who pays the bills is in a hard position for it is either higher price per quart or no milk.

The Producers' Association officials claim that unless an agreement is reached today some 30,000 out of the 40,000 cans of milk which Boston consumes daily will be withheld by the farmers after tonight.

The Boston district includes the farms in a radius of about 100 miles and shipments are made morning and night to half a dozen connections in this city, who distribute the milk to the consumers in glass jars and small cans. The farmers have no other means of selling their product, for a system as quick, cold and cleanly handled as required and a recent outbreak of scarlet fever has shown that the utmost care is necessary.

U. S. SENATOR LORIMER

Accused of Securing His Election by Bribery

CHICAGO, April 30.—According to a copyrighted story printed in this morning's issue of a local newspaper, it has in its possession a sworn statement by Charles White, a member of the lower house of the Illinois legislature from the 39th district, charging that William Lorimer was elected to the United States senate last May by bribery and corruption.

White, who is a democrat, in his statement says that he received $1000 for voting for Lorimer. This money, he alleges, was paid him by Leo O'Neil Browne, democratic leader of the last legislature. White also says that he received $900 more from the "jackpot," a term applied to alleged funds distributed at the close of each session of the legislature. The $900, White alleges, was paid him by Robert E. Wilson, also a member of the legislature.

MISSIONARY GIRL HE HAS RESIGNED

Tried to Commit Suicide By Drowning

BOSTON, April 30.—Miss Phyllis DeLong, 36, formerly a missionary to China, tried to commit suicide early last evening by jumping off Harvard bridge.

She was rescued by Drawtender Patrick Buckley and William West, taken unconscious to the Cambridge Relief hospital where she later revived and was found to be suffering from an unbalanced mind.

Miss DeLong told her landlady at the house at 569 Columbus avenue, several days ago, that she was not feeling well. Yesterday she said she thought she would not go out dressing and would take a little rest.

She had a dinner appointment with a friend on Warren avenue last night, and when she failed to appear, the friend started inquiries which resulted in the finding of Miss DeLong at the hospital.

Miss DeLong graduated from the Gordon Training School for Missionaries, connected with the Newton Theological School, in 1899. After a term as local missionary for the Clarendon Street Baptist church she was sent to China, where she remained two years.

During her stay in China Miss DeLong is said to have tried to commit suicide by drowning.

She returned to this country about five years ago, and has been recently employed as a dressmaker. She came originally from the Annapolis valley in Nova Scotia.

MEMBERS OF BAR

Pay Tribute to Justice Brewer

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Members of the bar of the supreme court held a meeting in the court room at the capitol today and paid tribute to the memory of the late Justice Brewer. The justices of the court were present.

Senator Curtis of Kansas, from which state Justice Brewer came to the bench, presided over the meeting. Senator Borah of Idaho was appointed chairman of the committee to draft resolutions expressing regret at the death of the jurist. Several eulogies were pronounced on the life of the deceased justice.

WESTON'S WALK

FISHKILL, N. Y., April 30.—Rising at 4:30 this morning, Edward P. Weston continued his trans-continental tramp at 5 o'clock from Wappinger's Falls, where he spent the night. He did not stop here. At 6 a. m. he was just 70 miles from his ultimate goal, the New York city hall.

THE HYDE TRIAL

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 30.—Dr. Hyde, smiling and cheerful, came into the courtroom from the jail this morning. Discussing the evidence of Dr. Frank L. Hull, a state witness, given yesterday, Dr. Hyde said:

"They never can hang a man on testimony like that."

START CARS AGAIN

COLEMBUS, O., April 30.—The Columbus Railroad & Light Co. at 5:40 a. m. today as a test started the first cars yesterday because of the strike of the motormen and conductors. An automobile filled with policemen accompanied the car on the trip and there was no serious disturbance.

TAFT IN BUFFALO

BUFFALO, April 30.—President Taft arrived here at 7:25 this morning. He was met by a committee of the chamber of commerce and escorted to the residence of Andy Wilcox, whose guest he will be while in Buffalo.

ROBBERS FOILED

They Failed to Get Any Booty

WORCESTER, April 30.—Burglars made two unsuccessful attempts yesterday morning to blow open the large safe in the main office of the Whitins Manufacturing company of Whitinsville. The job was a bungling one, and from the condition in which the place was found the authorities think it the work of some one familiar with the town and the company's office.

PRES. WILSON

AT THE DINNER OF THE DAILY PRINCETONIAN

PRINCETON, N. J., April 30.—President Wilson of Princeton university received a cordial reception at mid-night last night when he rose to speak at the annual dinner of the Daily Princetonian. About 150 undergraduates and Princeton professors-in-chief of the Yale, Cornell and Harvard colleges papers and members of the Princeton faculty were present. Dr. Wilson responded to the toast "Princeton University." Dr. Wilson presided for a democratic human spirit and continued: "Our armor is so bent upon material things that we sometimes are rebuked at the thought that there are nations lying still, caught in a crust of custom hardly to be broken. Oriental people whom we affect to despise, who are their quietude, the more satisfaction in the past and more assurance of the future than we have with our restless and half doubting Christianity. We do not hold our Christianity with a sufficient vitality of belief to make it happy by it. We try to evangelize the world, but the world does not make us happy. We are at fault because it does not set our ambitions on the things which lie at the heart of the world. Our ambitions are too much for material conditions as quoted and upon peace of mind, too little for the faith which is in the final conquest of righteousness."

FOR COLUMBUS DAY

The Bill Signed Making It a Legal Holiday

Gov. Draper yesterday afternoon signed the bill making Columbus day a legal holiday. Gov. Draper is the 13th governor to sign such a bill. This gives to Massachusetts eight holidays, as follows:

Washington's birthday.....February 22
Patriots day.....April 19
Decoration day.....May 30
Independence day.....July 4
Labor day.....First Monday in September
Columbus day.....October 12
Thanksgiving.....Last Thursday in Nov.
Christmas day.....December 25

The other states which keep Columbus day as a holiday are: California, Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Kentucky.

There is no national holiday, even Independence day being a day set apart by the governments of the various states. The presidential proclamation designating a day of thanksgiving makes that day legal only in the District of Columbia.

There are 11 days in the year, however, which are widely observed, as holidays, and in several states the date of its birth into the Union or the date of some special historical happening incidental to that state alone is added to its days of merrymaking. All Saints' day, Nov. 1, in Louisiana, and primary election day in three states are observed as legal holidays.

Holidays in Each State

Even with the addition of Columbus day, Massachusetts still lags behind many of the states in the number of legal holidays provided by the state government.

Following is a list of the states and territories with the number of holidays in each:

Florida, 13; Alabama, 12; Montana, 12; New Jersey, 12; Pennsylvania, 12; Texas, 12; California, 11; Colorado, 11; Georgia, 11; Louisiana, 11; Maryland, 11; North Carolina, 11; Wyoming, 11; Connecticut, 10; Delaware, 10; Michigan, 10; Minnesota, 10; Missouri, 10; Nevada, 10; New York, 10; South Carolina, 10; Tennessee, 10; Utah, 10; Wisconsin, 10; Arizona, 9; Arkansas, 9; Illinois, 9; Indiana, 9; Iowa, 9; Maine, 9; New Mexico, 9; North Dakota, 9; Oklahoma, 9; Rhode Island, 9; South Dakota, 9; Virginia, 9; Washington, 9; West Virginia, 9; Idaho, 8; Kentucky, 8; Massachusetts, 8; Mississippi, 8; Nebraska, 8; New Hampshire, 8; Oregon, 8; Vermont, 8; Alaska, 7; District of Columbia, 7; Ohio, 7; Kansas, 6.

In ten states Good Friday is a legal holiday and Arbor day in 21 states and territories. In some cities of large population Saturday afternoons throughout the year and in other cities Saturday afternoons for three months of the year are half-holidays.

Some of the governors who had already signed bills making Columbus day a holiday are:

Hon. Charles S. Deneen of Illinois, Hon. Frank E. Weeks of Connecticut, Hon. James N. Gillett of California, Hon. Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri, Hon. Henry A. Buchtel of Colorado, Hon. Fred M. Warner of Michigan, Hon. Charles E. Hughes of New York, Hon. John F. Fort of New Jersey, Hon. Edwin S. Stuart of Pennsylvania.

In Massachusetts the Italian Columbus society has observed the Columbus day for 45 years, and at the hearing before the committee the largest committee room at the state house was crowded with Italian citizens and representatives for every organization of Italians in the state and every Knights of Columbus council, as well as by many leading labor men, who were anxious that the bill should be favorably reported.

Senator Toelling conducted the case for the petitioners and opened proceedings by depositing an enormous petition, making a pile more than a foot high, on the desk of the clerk of the committee.

It was said at the time that there were more than 16,000 signatures to this petition, and that in the room in which the hearing was held were representatives of over 120,000 people of the state who were desirous that the bill should become a law.

LONDON WOMAN

Who Will Not Greet Col. Roosevelt

LONDON, April 30.—There is one person in London who will not greet Col. Roosevelt with warmth—that is Mrs. George Cornwallis-West. She is hopping mad, and the former president of the house, Mrs. Cornwallis-West on learning the date of Col. Roosevelt's arrival in London arranged a tremendous formal woman's dinner in his honor and invited many of the great London hostesses, such as Coun-less Crews, Lady Pearson, Mrs. Asquith and others. All gladly agreed to hold open dates for approximately a week until the exact date could be assigned. As an afterthought Mrs. Cornwallis-West went to Paris to get Mr. Roosevelt to agree to a date. To her surprise, he absolutely declined to accept her invitation. Mrs. Cornwallis-West was in a particularly nervous frame of mind anyhow, as the king had just declined to act as sponsor and patron for her Shakespearean theatre. She became really peevish over Roosevelt's refusal and had to return to London and withdraw all her invitations. She is saying the most unkind things about her distinguished countryman.

SERG. MORLEY OF PITTSBURG DECLINED TO BE TAFT'S GUEST

PITTSBURG, April 30.—Why Police Sergeant Thomas J. Morley of the Pittsburgh police force declined to be the guest of President Taft at the banquet given here or attend the ball game with the president is best told in a signed statement. The fact that Sergeant Morley is known as the duplicate of the president in appearance at least is not causing the peace officer any loss of sleep. Here is Morley's statement: "In refusing after careful thought the invitation of my friend to me as President Taft's double to sit beside him at the ball game and banquet to be given in his honor May 2, I desire to inform my friends and the public in general of the motives which influence my decision. 'Tis not that I do not appreciate the good intentions of my friend in tendering the invitation or that I am not a great admirer of William H. Taft as president, as a man of high attainments and great judicial ability, nor is it because I do not appreciate the honor it would be to sit beside the president of a great nation at such auspicious occasions, but it is on account of my retiring disposition and the dislike of too much notoriety. I would deem it a great favor to meet the president under other circumstances, and I trust my refusal in this instance will not be misunderstood by the public in general and President Taft and my friend in particular."

WANT MORE PAY

Carpenters Demand an Increase

The demand of the carpenters' union of this city for a minimum wage of 40 cents per hour, instead of 35 cents per hour, as it is at the present time, was refused at a meeting of the master carpenters held last night, but the latter agreed to compromise by offering 37 1/2 cents an hour as the minimum.

The meeting proved to be a rather lengthy one, and the matter was discussed from various points of view. The master carpenters will immediately notify the carpenters' union through the official channels.

A movement for an increase in wages was started by the carpenters some time ago, and recently the master carpenters were sent a circular letter to the effect that the union would insist on the new wage scale going into effect on Monday, May 2.

Some eight master carpenters, employing large forces in their work, have already agreed to the terms of the union, but the rest, some 25 in number, had up till last night, taken no action in the matter.

The union officials state that they do not desire anything at the time of a strike, and it is probable that when the offer of the majority of master carpenters is made known to them a conference will be held on the matter.

The increase asked for by the union would mean an advance in day wages from $2.80 to $3.20.

The difference now awaiting settlement is not worth fighting over.

RUSSELL CASE WILD ANIMALS

Early Hearing by the Supreme Court Asked

The respondents in the case of Daniel Blake Russell, the Dakota claimant, against the estate of the late Daniel Russell of Melrose, represented by William C. Russell and Ferdinand B. Olney as executors, have determined to push the issue to a final result in the supreme court as quickly as possible, and have, therefore, met the appeal of the petitioner from the decision of the Middlesex court by a motion to have the matter assigned for hearing at the end of the present list on the docket of the higher tribunal now sitting at Cambridge for Middlesex county.

Robert W. Nason and Thomas W. Proctor, attorneys for the respondents, received on Thursday notice of the appeal filed by N. L. Sheldon and Lester A. Simpson, counsel for the petitioner, and at once decided upon action.

In the appeal four issues of grievance at the finding of Judge George F. Lawton are noted: First, an objection to the decree the claimant is not Daniel Blake Russell and not a legatee under the will of Daniel Russell; second, that William C. Russell and Ferdinand B. Olney are not required to furnish bonds with sureties as executors; third, that they are not required to render an accounting as executors; fourth, that the respondents are not by the decree discharged as receivers of the estate of Daniel Blake Russell, absconding.

The motions filed by Messrs. Nason and Proctor are four in number, each referring to one of the issues raised by the appeal, and are in similar language as follows:

Fresno Dan at Hearing

"And now come the appellants in the above entitled case, and move the honorable court to place said cause at the end of the court list for hearing at this term of the court."

The motions came up for hearing before Judge Henry L. Sheldon of the supreme court, sitting in equity at Cambridge, at the close of yesterday's session. There were present Messrs. Nason, Proctor and Eugene C. Upton, counsel for the appellants, and their clients, William C. Russell and Ferdinand B. Olney, and Nelson L. Sheldon, attorney for the appellants.

Close behind all these was the Daniel Blake Russell of Fresno, Cal., accompanied by his Boston lawyers, William Odlin and H. R. Stanley, all carefully watching the proceedings.

Mr. Simpson, who is resting at the suburban home of a friend, while recovering from illness, was absent, as was also his client, Dakota Dan, the original claimant, with his bodyguard.

Mr. Nason called up the matter of his motion, and briefly stated the hope that a hearing might be granted at this term of the court (which will expire by limitation at the close of next week).

Judge Sheldon replied that the case had occupied so much time in the probate court that it was desirable to have it heard as soon as possible. If it would not take too long a period, he added that the court's docket was very full, that the court's cases had already been assigned, one of which would surely be tried, while after that there were several other matters to be heard by the court without a jury.

Hearing Monday by Agreement

Mr. Nason assured the judge that in his opinion the hearing would be very brief, to which the court asked if it would occupy more than a day or two. Atty. Sheldon responded that such time would be wholly inadequate, and that the hearing in the case must occupy at least several days, how many he could not estimate.

Mr. Nason replied that there were elements injected into the case at the probate court trial which would be eliminated at the hearings before the supreme court, mentioning the fact that expert testimony alone had used up 40 days.

Judge Sheldon seemed to indicate in his reply a doubt that the case could be reached at the present term—remarking that "after next week the justices of the supreme court would go into consultation."

He suggested that a hearing upon the motions of Messrs. Nason and Proctor be set down for hearing at 4 or Monday afternoon and in this counsel on both sides acquiesced.

WORTHEN ST. CHURCH

An old fashioned sugar party was held in the vestry of the Worthen street church Thursday night. There was a large attendance and the program carried out showed that particular pains had been taken by the different participants.

The entertainment consisted of piano solos by Miss Lillie Dunn, Carl O'Malley and Henry Johnson, readings by Master Raymond Wilde and George Parley, and a sketch entitled "A Pair of Lunatics" by Henry Lovett and Miss Blanche Kelly.

Refreshments were served by the following committee: Miss Ernestine Carey, chairman; the Misses Mildred Freeman, Mildred McQuiston, Lottie Carey, Lillie Dunn, Lulu Field and Carl O'Malley, Albert Gumb, George Allen and Albert McQuiston.

A Great Collection From Far East

BOSTON, April 30.—The most wonderful collection of wild animals ever brought to Boston from the far east arrived last evening on the Castle line steamship Muncaster Castle, from Japan, China and Strait Settlements. The entire cargo deck was filled with cages and boxes containing the beasts.

Capt. Watson, the commander of the steamer, who owns the entire menagerie, was mourning the loss of a royal Bengal tiger when the reporter boarded the freighter on her way up the harbor. The animal, which the captain said was worth $750, died of blood poisoning yesterday morning as a result of cutting its foot on a rusty nail. The head and skin were stripped off and will be presented by Capt. Watson to Columbia university.

The captain opened the cover of a wooden box and drew out a 50-foot python, weighing 200 pounds. With the aid of some of the Chinese sailors the reptile was stretched out. Then it began to get lively and the captain slammed it back in its box.

One of the most valuable animals in the collection is a black panther from the Malay archipelago. Two days ago the panther made a swipe at the Chinese cook who happened to be standing near its cage, and tore the cook's trousers and shirt off in a twinkling. It made another lunge at the man but the cook escaped by dropping to the deck.

A bird of paradise said to be the only one ever brought to the United States alive, is included in the collection. Man-eating leopards, wild cats and other fierce beasts occupied one entire section of the hold. Most of the animals were bought from animal dealers at Singapore.

The collection includes two big cassowaries and four bears from Borneo; three orang outangs from Sumatra; a strange looking bear cat, believed to be the only one in captivity; half a dozen leopards, including two of the species known as "cloud leopards," and scores of apes and monkeys. There are 12 pythons and a great variety of birds of bright plumage.

Capt. Watson removed the outside covers from some of the cages to show the animals to the customs officials and reporters, and the roars of the beasts could be heard all over the harbor.

The menagerie will be taken to New York when the steamer goes to that port next week.

The Muncaster Castle came from Shanghai, Karatsu, Hongkong, Singapore, Cebu, Calcutta, Tellicherry and Mangalore. Besides her valuable collection of animals she brought merchandise worth more than $1,000,000. Hundreds of tons of freecrackers, great quantities of sandalwood, pepper, spices, rattans, human hair, tea curios, Chinese groceries, topicals, jellatons, etc., filled the holds. More than 4000 tons will be landed here, and about the same amount will be taken around to New York.

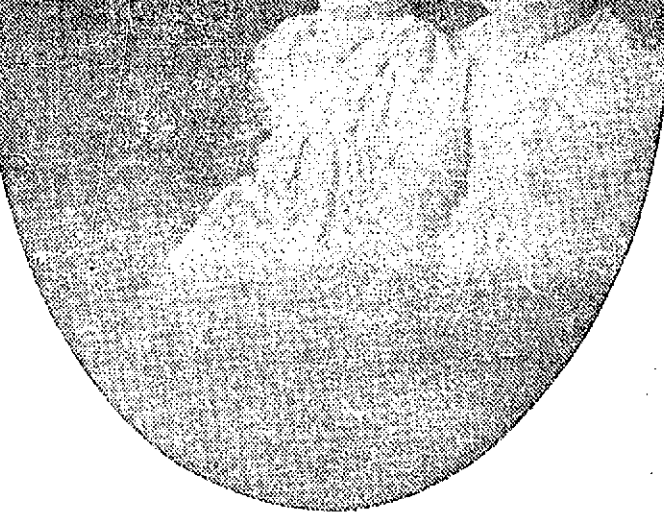

Capt. Watson said the Muncaster Castle had to pay $500 toll passing through the Suez canal. He said the length of the canal is 86 miles, while the Panama canal will be 50 miles. He thought a vessel like the Muncaster Castle would have to pay about $5000 to pass through the Panama canal and he believed that when completed the canal will be a great asset to this country.

INJURIES FATAL

Tom McCarthy Hurt in Boxing Bout

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—A crashing, overhead swing to Tommy McCarthy's jaw, delivered by Owen Moran, the English lightweight pugilist, brought the bout held here last evening to a sudden and fatal end.

McCarthy, who held the title of champion lightweight boxer of the Pacific slope, dropped to the mat as if hit by a driving pile. His head struck the mat near the base of the brain, immediately causing unconsciousness.

Owen Moran and his seconds, Jeff Perry and Jimmy Carroll and the McCarthy brothers, Wm. and John, who acted as his seconds with Bernard Treanor were all placed under arrest.

It is said that McCarthy had some stale during training and that he was in poor shape to meet the Britisher.

What effect this ring fatality will have on the coming Jeffries-Johnson fight is causing speculation among fight enthusiasts today.

Tex Rickard, one of the promoters, does not think it will have any effect. Neither Jeffries nor Johnson, he declared, is likely to seriously hurt the other.

After 16 rounds of clever and hard fighting last night with little to choose between the men the Britisher swung a right with tremendous force that landed squarely on the local fighter's jaw.

McCarthy dropped to the canvas as if hit with a hammer, his head striking the floor. He was quickly carried to his corner, where he lay rigid. Retor-was turned on the mob which had massed in front of the jail with women and babies held in front as shields. The fire hose failed to break the mob entirely and the police drew their clubs and charged. The mob scattered.

The Russians were brought here by the immigration board to work on the sugar plantations but refused to work department to their aid and a stream of atives were administered without effect. Finally Spider Kelly, the chief second, summoned two doctors from the ringside.

Powerful stimulants were applied to the unconscious boxer for twenty minutes but there no symptoms of returning consciousness. A hasty examination was made and Dr. J. Meyers announced that McCarthy was suffering of a fractured skull with possible internal hemorrhage.

Within 25 minutes after the knock-out the injured fighter was hurried into the hospital a few blocks from the rink, where some hours later without recovering consciousness, he died.

BANKRUPTCY PETITION

Was Filed By Mayor Howard of Salem Today

BOSTON, April 30.—Arthur P. Howard, mayor of Salem, whose financial difficulties have been much in the public eye since his election as mayor of the Witch City, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy through his counsel in the United States district court here today. His assets are scheduled as uncertain, while his liabilities amounting to $36,415, are principally for borrowed money and unpaid board bills.

In the list of assets the mayor says that he has wearing apparel worth $100, 688 shares of stock of the Despatch Newspaper Co. of Salem, which publishes his paper, and the market value of which is given as uncertain, and copyrights on a cook book, a collection of animal stories and an article entitled "X. Y. Z. of Wall Street."

There are 66 claims against the mayor, all of which are unsecured. Among them are: Irving Bush of New York, $1500 borrowed by the petitioner in Paris; Sherry's restaurant, New York, $284; Carleton hotel, London, $445; Oxford Realty Co., New York, $300 for board and room; Holland house, New York, $170 for meals. Those who loaned money to Howard include E. A. Levy, J. B. Melville and F. B. Hurd of New York, and A. P. Hutton of Newark, N. J., the amounts ranging from $100 to $400.

The schedule recites that Howard has a life interest in one-twelfth of the estate of his father, the late Joseph P. Howard, of New York, but this is held in trust and is not available for creditors.

STILL WINNING

Lowell High Trimmed Reading Yesterday

The Lowell high school team defeated the Reading high school team by the score of 5 to 2 in a close, snappy game at Reading yesterday afternoon.

The attendance was small, but made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers. Lowell started the ball rolling in the very first inning and landed again in its half of the fourth, again in the fifth and topped off with a couple in the ninth.

The best Reading could do was one in the fourth and one in the eighth. Stephens had the better of the pitchers' argument, striking out seven to Gibbons' six and refusing to pass anybody. Lowell got one more hit than its opponents also, though it exceeded in errors.

Connell, Stephens and Canney put up a good game for Lowell, while Gibbons' three batters for Reading was one of the features of the game.

CREW ESCAPED

Barge Was Lost Off Providence

PROVIDENCE, April 30.—While Captain Young and his crew of three men slept in fancied security, the barge Shore Line with 900 tons of coal on board slowly filled and sank in 15 feet of water at the Eastern Coal Co.'s wharf in this city today. Only the shouting of the crew on another vessel anchored nearby, awakened the men who barely escaped from the barge before she went down. The Scott Wrecking Co. of New London, Conn., has been notified and will try to float her because of the large load of coal it is feared their efforts will prove of no avail.

The Shore Line, which was built in Mystic, Conn., was 177 feet long, 33 feet beam, and had a depth of 12 feet.

ANOTHER $50,000 PRIZE

LONDON, April 30.—Great Britain will be the scene of another aerial competition for a prize of $50,000. This announcement was made today at a luncheon in honor of Louis Paulhan and upon which occasion the French aviator was presented with a check for $10,000, the reward for his epoch-making flight from London to Manchester.

The second prize also is offered by the publishing concern of which Lord Northcliffe is the head. It will be given to the first British aviator flying from London to Edinburgh and back. The distance between the two points by railway is 400 miles.

At the luncheon the guests included Graham White who received a consolation prize in the shape of a $500 silver cup.

VOTED TO STRIKE

SPRINGFIELD, April 30.—The committee representing the trolley men employed by the Springfield & Worcester street railway lines held by the New England Investment & Security Co., the holding company of the New York, New Haven & Hartford R. Co., today telegraphed to the national headquarters of the trolleyman for official endorsement of a strike against the company. It is expected that a general strike of the trolleyman will be declared within a few hours.

"PATSEY" KLINE

Knocked Out McKay in Second Round

OUT IN FIRST ROUND

BROCKTON, April 30.—Bob Lefavor of this city, who formerly fought under the name of Kid Sullivan and who has been boxing for the past three years in the west, knocked out Jack Grant of East Boston in the first round of a scheduled eight-round bout at the Union A. C. last night.

Grant claimed a foul on the ground that the blow was low, but referee Jim Peterson counted him out. The crowd wanted the bout to continue and Grant was willing, but his seconds pulled him out of the ring.

The round was all Lefavor's. He hit the east Boston boxer at will, knocking him down three times in succession.

EXPECTS TO RESUME TRAINING MONDAY

BEN LOMOND, Cal., April 30.—No regular training work, his trainers say, will be done by Jeffries between now and Monday. By that time, it is thought, Jeff will have fully recovered from his skin trouble and will be prepared for the grind of exercises. According to the trainers the enforced rest is doing Jeff much good although the big fighter frets over the delays. John Kelly, a life timer at the penitentiary at Deer Lodge has written Jeff asking his aid in securing a pardon. The convict sent Jeffries a horsehair watch fob made by him in prison and begged that the fighter would raffle off a horsehair bridle for him at the ringside on the day of the big battle.

FIREMAN DEAD

NEW YORK, April 30.—Olaf Olson, boy fireman on the Texas Oil Co.'s steamer Florida, died today after hours of agony, and William Peters, a fireman who tried to rescue Olson as the latter was caught by a sudden fire, is suffering from the terrible burns he received, but may recover. Olson was lighting fires in the rear of the furnaces when the oilblast to blow the great blue flames inward under the boilers was turned on as the Florida at anchor at Shorter Island was preparing to leave for Tampa, Fla., today.

A scream of pain heard above the roar of the furnace as the flames shot inward startled the entire ship's company. The oil and the air currents were instantly turned off, but the cries continued to become more and more clearly from the now faintly sizzling furnace. The firemen peered in and out in the rear what looked like a ragged pillar of flame was seen staggering about. Peters rushed into the furnace toward the lurid figure and in a moment came forth, the blazing form in his arms. His own clothes were all ablaze. Deckhands rolled both in blankets. When the flames were out it was seen that the victim of the unexpected blast was Olson, who must have failed to hear the warning shout given as the flames were turned on. There was no hope from the first of saving the boy. Peters, it is believed, will live.

Does Your Back Ache?

If you are a woman and you have this symptom get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound without delay. Backache seems an invention of the evil one to try woman's souls. Only those who suffer this way can understand the wearing, ceaseless misery.

We ask all such women to read the two following letters for proof that Mrs. Pinkham's medicine cures backache caused by female diseases.

Milwaukee, Wis.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world about it. I suffered from female troubles and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I am ready to tell every one what this medicine has done for me."—Mrs. Emma Imse, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Pittsburg, Pa.—"I had backache for four months steady and tried everything for it, but nothing helped me until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After the first bottle I felt a change. I took five in all and I am cured. I have not had any backache since. I think the Compound is wonderful for women."—Mrs. G. Leiser, 5219 Kintland St., E. E., Pittsburg, Pa.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made thousands of cures of such cases. You notice we say has cured thousands of cases. That means that we are telling you what it has done, not what we think it will do. We are stating facts, not guesses.

We challenge the world to name another remedy for female ills which has been so successful or received so many testimonials as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.
